BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Called to Meet in Special Session

This Evening

The Mayor Has Nominated Three Assistant Fire Department Engineers—Sealer of Weights and Measures Has Moved His Office

The re-appointment of Edward Mealy, Charles Stackpole and George B. Atway as assistant fire department engineers was filed at the city clerk's office by Mayor Meehan this forenoon.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tonight and all of the mayor's appointments including the assistant fire engineers, George C. Evans, for registrar of voters, and John Malwood, smoke inspector, will go to the alderman for confirmation. The law requires that the assistant engineers shall be appointed and confirmed on or before May 1.

Weights and Measures

John W. Stott, sealer of weights and measures, has moved his office from Railroad street to a room in the old Mann school. Mr. Stott went to the school board for permission to use a room, at its last meeting, voted him that permission. Mayor Meehan received official notice of the change this forenoon.

Mayor Meehan has made a number of complaints to the effect that the office of the sealer of weights and measures was too far out of the way in Railroad street.

Hon. John F. Meehan, Mayor and City Government of Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sirs—The recent celebration in your city in honor of the Old Sixth Regiment is to me a day long remembered, and I most cordially thank you and your associates for the great time you gave "us dear old boys." Certainly, Lowell in patriotism and men competent to produce and handle such a celebration, was in evidence on that day. My wish is, Mr. Mayor, that the 100th anniversary of the regiment's passing through Baltimore, may be witnessed by you and your colleagues who had a hand in making the one just passed the success it was.

Yours truly,

William P. Gilmore,

D company, Old Sixth Mass. Regt. and L company, Third Mass. Cavalry.

NEWPORT, April 25.—The case of former State Senator Frank Littlefield, charged with the murder of his mother at Block Island, was continued today until next Tuesday when a trial date will be assigned.

LARCENY CHARGED

Two Young Men Arraigned in Police Court Today

Frank Johnson and Archibald Campbell, two young men, were arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of $12 in money from George Piper of Carlisle. The defendants, through their counsel, Stuart Murphy, entered pleas of not guilty. Frederick A. Fisher appeared for the government.

It was alleged by the government that while Piper was under the influence of liquor he was driven to a point in the vicinity of Robbins Hill in Chelmsford, where he was relieved of his money. The defendants made their escapes and were later arrested in Bedford.

George Piper, the complainant, testified that he worked for the town of Carlisle, and on April 18th the town treasurer paid him $24. On the following day, Patriots day, he paid his board bill, which amounted to $10, and paid a bill of $1.67 at the town store. He then took the electric car and came to Lowell. Upon arriving in this city he visited several places and had a number of drinks and purchased two quarts of liquor in four pint bottles.

"After getting what I wanted to drink and purchasing the liquor to take home," said Piper, "I took the electric car for Chelmsford Centre. After getting off the car I started to walk towards South Chelmsford. I met Johnson and Campbell. They were in a carriage. I didn't know Johnson, but I knew Campbell and always called him 'Jack.' Jack is a nice boy and when he asked me if I had any whiskey I said 'Sure.' He said he was willing to pay for it, but I told him he could have all he wanted and anything I had.

"The three of us then sat down and drank the whiskey. Johnson said he would like to get some more whiskey, and I told him I knew where I could get some. We got into the wagon and drove to the Centre, where I bought a quart of whiskey.

"We then went up the road towards Robbins Hill, and had some more drinks. I had about $3.00 at that time. I forgot the exact amount, but I remember, Johnson had me by the throat and nose. I thought it was pretty tough on his part after the way I had treated him, but Jack is innocent. My throat is sore now so that I can hardly get the words. When I recovered my senses I found that with the exception of two cents, I had been robbed of all my money."

On cross-examination witness got badly mixed up in the number of bottles of whiskey he had in his possession. He admitted that he had displayed his money to the two young men.

Fred W. Park, a Chelmsford officer, said he happened to be passing through the road in the vicinity of Robbins Hill and saw Piper, Johnson and Campbell. Piper was drunk, he said, and from what witness could observe, Johnson was going through Piper's pockets. Campbell was sitting in the buggy. Fifteen minutes later Park returned to where he had seen the trio and found Piper lying on the ground. Piper's face was covered with bruises and he complained of having been robbed. Mr. Park communicated with the police authorities of several of the adjoining towns and as a result Johnson and Campbell were arrested in Bedford.

Charles Korbusch, highway surveyor of Carlisle, testified that Piper paid him $10 on the morning of the 19th of April. Witness said that Piper was a good man when he did not have any whiskey.

Edward P. Kelly, police officer of Bedford, testified to arresting Campbell and Johnson on the night of the 20th. He found them near the Bedford depot shortly after 6.30 o'clock. Witness said that Campbell said that he and Johnson hired a horse and carriage in Bedford and drove to Chelmsford where they met Piper. He said that they had some liquor to drink and thought that he and Johnson drank more than Piper. Campbell said while he was feeding the horse he heard loud talking and saw Piper and Johnson struggling. Campbell testified that he took any money from Piper, but did not know what Johnson had done. After leaving Chelmsford, Campbell said that they went to Lowell, then went to Bedford where they put up the horse and subsequently they went to Boston where they stopped over night in a hotel.

Witness testified that Campbell said Johnson had killed all the bills in the city which he had with Johnson, said that the latter said he belonged in Providence, but was wanted by the police of that city for a little trouble he got into a short time ago. Johnson said he had a struggle with Piper, but denied robbing him. Witness searched Johnson and he said he found $1.50 in money and three gold rings in his pockets.

The Defence

Archibald J. Campbell, one of the defendants, testified that he was 19 years of age, resides in North Cambridge, but has been working as a farm hand in Carlisle. He met Johnson who invited him to ride. They were riding towards Chelmsford Centre when they met Piper. Piper had some liquor and they drank it, he said. The three then went to Chelmsford Centre and here Piper purchased some liquor from a woman. Afterwards they drove up the road and tied and fed his horse and started to drink the contents of the bottle. Witness said that Piper boasted of having money, but he did not see any of it.

Campbell testified that Piper and Johnson started discussing the recent Johnson-Jeffries fight and each one told of his ability to take care of himself, with the result that Piper made a pass at Johnson and the latter turned on Piper and punched him. Witness said that he did not see Johnson put his hand in Piper's pocket.

He said after leaving Piper they came to Lowell and then went to Bedford by way of Carlisle, where the horse and carriage were put up at a stable. Campbell and Johnson then went to Boston by train, witness said and visited a moving picture house in Boston. Johnson returned the following day in a store and in the evening took a train for Bedford, according to witness's story.

A recess of one hour was taken at this time.

Six Months in Jail
William L. Roberts, an elderly man, who was recently found guilty of being drunk, came into court this morning for sentence, and Judge Hadley after considering the matter sentenced Roberts to six months in jail. An appeal was entered.

Case Continued

The case of Ernest Poulin, charged with failing to provide proper support for his wife, was continued till Friday at the request of counsel.

Violated Milk Laws

James B. Arthur pleaded guilty to selling cream without a license and the minimum fine of $10 was imposed.

Sent to State Farm

Alphonse Landry pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. Patrolman Lamoureux said he arrested Landry at the corner of Moody and Hanover streets about 2.30 o'clock last Friday morning; that the latter was in a drunken condition and that it was found necessary to send him to the city farm for treatment. Judge Hadley after offering advice to Landry, sentenced him to the state farm.

Suspended Sentence

Alfred Morse was charged with being drunk and did not deny the allegation. His wife said she could not stand him any longer and did not wish to live with him. He was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Idle and Disorderly

William A. Maher admitted that he was drunk yesterday but denied that he was an idle and disorderly person. Patrolman Bennett testified that Maher spent his time in liquor saloons and did not work. Witness also added that the defendant's sister complained of his going home drunk. Maher after being found guilty was sentenced to the state farm.

Arrested On Capias

Thos. Berube was to have appeared in police court yesterday morning to answer to a complaint charging him with being drunk but he failed to put in an appearance and yesterday afternoon was arrested on a capias. This morning when questioned relative to his failure to appear in court yesterday morning, Berube said he was sick and unable to appear. He was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Drunken Offenders

Daniel Shields, charged with being drunk, was placed on probation on condition that he would go to Lawrence where he has a home.

Patrolman Ganley testified that Robert A. Wheeler, whom he arrested yesterday, was badly intoxicated and was profane and disorderly on the street in the presence of women and children. Wheeler will spend the next month in jail.

Ernest Vallier and Joseph A. Friel were fined $5, one first offender was fined $2, and five simple drunks were released.

TO RESUME WORK

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 25.—Another factory has reached an agreement with the striking furniture workers and will resume operations tomorrow. It is the Velt Manufacturing Co., which employs from 20 to 30 men. The concern is not a member of the Furniture Manufacturers' Association, which stands solidly.

A ROUGH GUESS

The annual cost of coal consumed is all the factory books formerly could tell.

Was light, heat or power principally responsible for that cost?

Modern business will not tolerate a rough guess on this point.

EDITOR LANGTRY

Nominated for Secretary of State by Republicans

The Democrats Name Frank H. Donohue, a Boston Newspaperman, for Position — Election Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon

Rep. Albert Langtry, editor of the Springfield republican, was nominated today by the republicans for secretary of state by a vote of 78 to 62 for Capt. Denny of Worcester. The election will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The democrats in caucus nominated Frank H. Donohue, a Boston newspaperman, and the state house representative of a weekly political paper.

It is expected that the democratic minority led by Rep. Martin Lomasney of Boston will make a strenuous fight against this method in hope of obtaining the secret support of a few republican insurgents.

TRADING STAMPS

Held Legal by the Supreme Court

Bill to Prohibit is Unconstitutional

BOSTON, April 17.—The justices of the supreme judicial court sent to the house this afternoon this opinion deciding that the bill to prohibit the giving of trading stamps is unconstitutional.

With respect to the trading stamp bill, the court says: "The bill is drawn in broad terms, and it purports to forbid transactions that are not different in principle from contracts of sale which always have been held to be within the constitutional right of persons in every state to possess and acquire property, to transact legitimate business and to buy and sell and get gain—(U. S. constitutional amendment, article 14; declaration of rights, article 1.) We cannot doubt that this bill is intended only to include cases such as this court held not to be included in statutes 188, chapter 77, as amended by statutes 188, chapter 576, now revised laws, chapter 28. See commonwealth vs. Sisson, 178 Massachusetts, 472. The reasons for the decision in the case cited would not apply to a decision as to the meaning of this bill.

"There is nothing in the conduct proposed to be prohibited that necessarily appeals to the gambling instinct or involves any element of chance. Such statutes and ordinances have been held unconstitutional by the highest courts in a large number of states."

MRS. W. LEEDS

IS SAID TO HAVE HER EYES ON A CORONET

NEW YORK, April 25.—From an intimate friend of Mrs. William B. Leeds, her real reason for selling the Leeds mansion on Fifth avenue, and thereby cutting all permanent ties on this side of the water is that she likes the English better than she does her own country people. It is said to be her ambition to marry a duke and bring up her little son as an Englishman.

Lady Sarah Wilson came over a few months ago and was the guest of Mrs. Leeds here and at Palm Beach. Mrs. Leeds wanted to get thoroughly in touch with the social situation in London. On the advice of Lady Sarah, who will be her social sponsor during the coming season, Mrs. Leeds has leased the beautiful home of Mrs. Kappeler in Portman square and is planning to give some wonderful entertainments during the coronation season.

Mrs. Leeds, the informant said, is as great a financier as was her late husband, and is increasing rather than diminishing her great fortune through clever investments. Her little son is the apple of her eye and is almost a prodigy. He speaks three languages already and has a wit remarkable for his years.

Mrs. Leeds said during her last visit here that she had become disgusted with the "commonness" of Americans. "They are so rude, and the clothes are impossible," said she. "One is treated so badly that I like to get over to England, where one meets with kindness and courtesy from those about one."

KNOWS WHAT CURED HER

This Maine Woman Does Not Hesitate to Recommend the Remedy She Used

A high endorsement is given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by Mrs. Albert Bennett, of No. 124 Palm street, Bangor, Maine. She says:

"For fully eight months I was in a general run-down condition, which I think may have been due to my age. The doctor said my sickness was caused by the condition of my blood. My appetite was poor and I would feel faint at my stomach. I was so short of breath that I couldn't walk much. I lost several pounds in weight and could not do my housework. It was a burden for me to get around and many people would have given up and gone to bed. My blood was in a poor condition and a rash broke out all over my body."

"I was treated by two doctors but their help was so slow that I gave up taking their medicine and used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In two weeks I felt better and as I continued using the pills I improved until I was cured. I took no other medicine while using the pills and give them the credit for the cure. A great many people, who know how badly off I was, have asked me what cured me and I am constantly recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

To avoid ill health and suffering at the critical time, a woman should make every effort to keep her general health in the best possible condition. "If you are approaching the fortieth year or already passing through the change and your system is not strong enough to bear the strain, you can get no more certain or quick relief than through a thorough trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They quickly build up and purify the blood, which, in turn, tones and strengthens the nerves and every other part of the body until robust health is enjoyed."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They do not act on the bowels but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. If you want good health you must have good blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

LABOR QUESTION

Discussed in Kitson Hall

Last Night

Statement Made That Foreign Labor is Being Employed on New Y. M. C. A. Building to the Exclusion of Local Labor—Matter to be Investigated

At a meeting of the Federation of Churches, held last night in Kitson hall, Mr. C. E. Anderson representing the Swedish Congregational church and the Trades and Labor council, called the attention of the Federation to certain alleged conditions having to do with work on the new Y. M. C. A. building.

The statement has been made that men have been brought to Lowell to work on the building while Lowell laborers were looking for work. He asked for a committee from the Federation to cooperate with a similar committee from the Trades and Labor council, to investigate the matter.

Mr. Anderson was asked if any reason had been given for the importing of laborers. The only reason he knew was that the labor imported is cheaper than Lowell labor.

The meeting thought that the matter should be investigated. The building is being erected by money given by the people of Lowell and the work ought to be done by Lowell men who need work.

Mr. F. A. Bowen, who is a member of the Y. M. C. A. building committee, pointed out the fact that the question of employment of labor has passed out of the hands of that committee. In the hands of the contractor, to whom the contract was awarded as the lowest bidder.

After several suggestions had been made, and a motion to leave the matter to the five fraternal delegates, with power to act in conjunction with a committee of five from the council had been discussed, Mr. John J. Rogers offered a substitute motion, which finally prevailed and the question was left to the fraternal delegates, with full power, to confer with the Trades and Labor council committee, and act or decline to act, according to their discretion in the matter.

The Federation re-elected the entire list of officers for the coming year.

Mrs. W. B. Jackson was elected a member of the executive committee to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation of a member of that committee.

The legislative bill prohibiting the employment of boys under 21 years of age in night messenger service was endorsed by the Federation, and it was voted to urge the Lowell representatives to work against the movement to reduce the age limit to 18 years.

Rev. Donald H. Gerrish of Lynn was introduced, as representing the Inter-Church union of Lynn, and spoke briefly of the methods of work, the various committees and what they have accomplished in his city.

JUMPED FROM WINDOW

Girl Escaped From Burning Building at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., April 25.—Miss Marie Oullette, a young woman of 19, made a dive from a second-story window of the old Amos Fletcher home, escaped from the burning building, and escaped serious injury. One of her hands was, however, badly cut when she broke the glass in the window. Joseph Mooney and Henry F. Lezotte, neighbors, were bringing a ladder to her when Miss Oullette became excited, smashed the glass in the window with her hands and leaped from the ladder which had been raised to the window. She was attended by Dr. Benjamin B. Moran.

The fire caught probably from a defective chimney in the rear of the main building. It was seen by the neighbors and Mrs. Joseph Mooney rushed across the road and notified the Oullette family. Mrs. Oullette remembered that her daughter was upstairs and went to tell her, when the women found they were cut off by the flames. They ran to the window and the men got a ladder to rescue them. Mrs. Oullette was brought down the ladder in safety.

The Oullette family had just moved into the house and a family named Cote, which moved out Saturday, had some goods on the premises which were destroyed.

An alarm was sent to the city, two miles away by telephone and the central station chemical started for the scene. The blaze loomed up big and a call from box 72 at 7:45 o'clock sent the engines to the scene. Lines of hose 2000 feet long were laid from Littlefield machine shop. The barn was saved but the house is in ruins. Mr. Oullette who is a railroad employee purchased the place, which was one of the finest farms in the neighborhood, recently for $2700. He estimates his loss $2000 with $1500 insurance. The live stock was rescued, but the only furniture saved was a piano, a chiffonier, two chairs and a table.

BIG SHAKE-UP

On Trolley Line Is Postponed

The big shakeup on the Boston & Northern cars which was scheduled for yesterday did not take place as anticipated, but had to be postponed for another couple of weeks.

A couple of weeks ago every job on the road was put on a bid, the oldest men in the service having first pick. The changes were to take place last Sunday, but there was a little misunderstanding in the beginning and the results were that the bidding had to be started over again. It is expected however that everything will be settled within two weeks, and that each man will be assigned his proper car. The men are anxiously awaiting the assignments.

IRONMASTER CARNEGIE TO BE WITNESS BEFORE GRAND JURY

ANDREW CARNEGIE FROM HIS LATEST PHOTOGRAPH. COPYRIGHT BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, April 25.—District Attorney Whitman has had a consultation with Andrew Carnegie to ascertain what, if any, assurance the ironmaster gave officers of the Carnegie Trust company or of the state banking department that he would stand behind the trust company if it was allowed to remain open. The district attorney will arrange for Mr. Carnegie's appearance before the grand jury, which this week is going deeper into the causes that led the banking department to permit the Carnegie company to do business when its shaky condition was known generally among financiers. The angle of City Chamberlain Hyde's responsibility in the matter of depositing city cash in institutions that accommodated William J. Cummings and his friends with large loans has been taken up again by the grand jury, and Cummings and Joseph B. Reichmann were subpoenaed to appear again. Besides Mr. Carnegie, it is understood, his confidential man,

NEW DEVELOPMENTS AND ARRESTS IN LOS ANGELES TIMES DYNAMITE PLOT PROMISED

CHICAGO, April 25.—New developments of a sensational nature are promised in the Los Angeles Times dynamite plot laid bare by the alleged confession of Orville E. McManigal. William J. Burns, the former government detective, who arrested John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, in Indianapolis, declares that "the surface has only been scratched" and does not attempt to conceal the fact that he expects several more arrests to be made. The alleged confession covered ninety pages, closely typewritten. It is said to have been made by McManigal, who was arrested in Detroit on Saturday with J. W. McNamara, a brother of J. J. McNamara, on the night of April 18th as he sat in a bedroom of City Detective William H. Reed in South Chicago. He began the details at midnight, it is said, and it was breakfast time before he was through. Present were Burns, several city detectives and members of his agency and an official stenographer of the police department. In the accompanying illustration are reproduced, the marking on a box of dynamite like that found in Los Angeles immediately after the blowing up of the newspaper office and the facsimile of the receipt given by a mysterious trio which started the police on their search. The confession, it is said, declares that James W. McNamara destroyed the Los Angeles Times building, killing twenty-one. Afterward when McManigal was sent to repeat the deed at the temporary plant of the Times, he found it too well guarded and turned his attention to the Lowell Iron works there. He told in detail, it is claimed, of the long laid and carefully perfected plans made for the destruction of the Times building, but insisted that he was not there, the guilty men, according to his confession, being his partners, McNamara, Kaplan and Schmidt. He freely admitted, it is alleged, that he and McNamara had "pulled off" the recent explosion in South Chicago, Milwaukee and Indianapolis.

IS NOT IN LOWELL

No Trace of Missing Marlboro Man Found Here

MARLBORO, April 25.—Councilman William A. Lynch offered an order at the meeting of the common council last night appropriating $100 from the contingent fund to be used in the search for William D. Hanley who disappeared last Thursday. This order was passed unanimously and will probably be confirmed by the board of aldermen at their meeting.

A number of clues were investigated yesterday, but unavailing, yet the residents of the city are still hopeful that Mr. Hanley will be found. The foresters of America, of which Mr. Hanley was a member, sent notices to the firemen and the posse of citizens in the vicinity of the Whites Corner station of the Boston & Worcester street railway yesterday, has led to the belief that he is alive and uninjured.

City Marshal John S. Mitchell worked hard on the case yesterday and sent requests broadcast for information in the matter. Thousands of cards bearing Mr. Hanley's picture and an adequate description were sent out by the police department. Chief Ranger Francis Dalton of Court Marlboro, that Mr. Hanley will be found. The foresters of America, of which Mr. Hanley was a member, sent notices to the firemen and the posse of citizens in the vicinity of the Whites Corner station of the Boston & Worcester street railway yesterday, has led to the belief that he is alive and uninjured.

THE PHILIPPINES MAN WAS KILLED

To be Made Issue by A Trench in Somerville Democrats Caved In

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Representative Cox of Ohio is at the head of a movement of democratic congressmen to make the Philippines and their independence a party measure at this session of congress. At the next meeting of the majority caucus he will ask that a resolution calling on the war department for a statement showing what the islands have cost the United States since the American occupation be made a part of the majority program.

This resolution, Mr. Cox regards as an entering wedge toward naturalization of the islands.

"The Philippine situation," said Mr. Cox today, "is the most menacing before us. Wars of the future will be over lands of the Orient. If people could see what the Philippines have cost I am positive that the islands and their future would be accorded serious and immediate consideration. Neutrality of the islands could be arranged for by treaty."

A pretty wedding was celebrated yesterday when Mr. Timothy Vigeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vigeant, and Miss Cecile A. Dozola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilario Dozola, were united in marriage. The young couple were attended by their respective fathers.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Vigeant left on a short bridal tour to Boston and several cities of New York state. They were the recipients of many rich gifts and they will make their home in Moody street, Pawtucketville.

FRENCH TROOPS

Preparing to Save Fez From Capture

PARIS, April 25.—The French forces in Morocco are concentrating to effect the relief of Fez, which brigands and rebels have surrounded and threaten to capture. Captain Brenon, who is in command of both the French division and the forces of the sultan, is attempting to reach Fez. He has been heard from as late as April 18. He reports his troops as being in good condition and the weather improving, permitting an early resumption of his march to Fez, which had been interrupted by floods. Meanwhile General Moinier, at Casablanca, has completed the preparations for mobilizing a mixed force of tribesmen. French troops and artillery, under Major Simon, which will start soon for Fez. Premier Monis, M. Bertheaux, minister of war, M. Crippel, minister of foreign affairs, and the military chiefs had a long consultation, and it was decided to take further measures to hurry relief to the imperiled people at Fez and to save the sultan's palace at Fez from destruction.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANET ZIKI, 2663 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of these distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

AT MADERO'S CAMP RAILROADS LOSE DIVISION 8, A. O. H.

Choice of Peace Commissioners Awaited With Interest

EL PASO, Texas, April 25.—Interest in the peace situation at General Madero's camp today is centered in the hope that word may come from the Mexican government of the appointment of its commissioners for the conference at which it seems almost certain terms of peace in Mexico will be agreed upon. The insurrecto commander, it is understood, is ready to announce his appointments as soon as the government representatives are named. The Madero family, it is generally understood, regard El Paso as the convenient meeting place for the peace commissioners. The meeting place, however, will probably be announced simultaneously with the names of the commissioners.

Peace negotiations, it is said, will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the situation both in the insurrecto camp and in Juarez. Even General Navarro, of martial mien and ferocious whiskers, is gentle as a lamb nowadays, according to tips from the Mexican city. The federal commander, it is said, has a smile and a cheery word for everyone, including the once-hated reporters. His cane swings jauntily as he makes his inspections and there is a coin for each beggar who besets his path. At odd moments he opens the prison gates to free some unfortunate—generally a harmless individual whose "viva," misdirected from the federal viewpoint, aroused official ire only a few days ago.

Apparently the only ones disturbed by the present situation in this part of Mexico—so lately the storm center—are the Mormons at Colonia Dublan. According to advices from Casas Grandes most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point when the insurrectos advanced on Juarez and in their search for pasture many Mormon farms have suffered. At least a thousand horses are grazing in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, it is declared. All public gatherings in the evenings have been discontinued in Colonia Dublan and Colonia Juarez.

SHOT IN THE ARM

Young Man Was Loading a Gun

RUTLAND, Vt., April 25.—Walter B. Kelley, aged 18, manager of the Rex mercantile agency, with offices in the Quinn building, was accidentally shot through the left arm last night just before 5 o'clock.

Mr. Kelley was in his room at the Elmore hotel, where he had lived since last fall, and according to his story, he was trying to fit into a gun some new cartridges which he purchased a short time ago. One of these he had in the gun and the butt of the rifle was resting on the edge of the bureau when it was suddenly discharged. He fell to the floor and called for help. He was able to stand and walk to the head of the stairs.

Other guests of the hotel rushed to his room and they claimed that Kelley said he had attempted to commit suicide, but this he denied. After the physicians arrived the boy was removed to the hospital.

Land Forfeited to the Government Celebrated Its 20th Anniversary

PORTLAND, Ore., April 25.—Federal Judge Charles F. Wolverton decided yesterday that the Southern Pacific and the Oregon & California railroad companies must forfeit to the U. S. government about 200,000 acres of land which is valued at $40,000,000 to $75,000,000. The case will probably be appealed.

Interpreting the act of congress granting the land as an aid to railway construction the court held that congress intended that this land should be sold to bona fide settlers in tracts of not more than 150 acres to one individual and at a price not exceeding $250 an acre.

Although he decided in favor of the government, Judge Wolverton decided against the 5000 individual interveners in the case. He held that they had acquired no right whatever, either by settling on the land or by tendering the maximum sums specified by the law.

The effect of this portion of the decision is that the lands cannot be procured by an individual until the president or congress again opens them to entry. The 67 entrymen who had gone upon the land as settlers before the suits of the government began also lose their claims and gained no advantage whatever by their period of settlement.

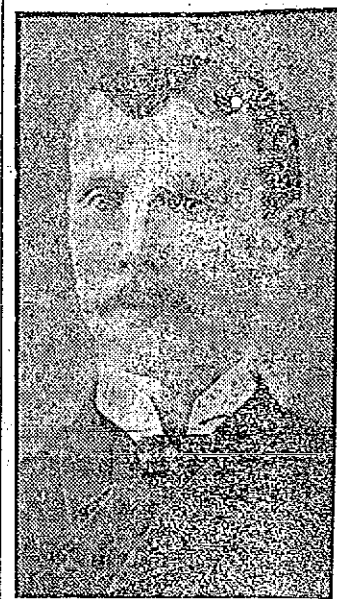

In brief, the question raised by the Southern Pacific company was whether congress had the power to make a subsequent act precedent to the rights conferred in an original grant. The suit was instituted in 1905 by Atty. Gen. Bonaparte on receipt of a memorial by the Oregon legislature to congress that the Southern Pacific company, successor to the Oregon & California railway company, had forfeited its rights to a grant of land in Oregon and Washington. The company was said to have refused to sell the land as provided in the grant.

GREATER CITY

Boston Bill Reported to Legislature

BOSTON, April 25.—The legislative committee on metropolitan affairs, with only one dissenter, Representative Newton of Boston, yesterday reported a bill to create a metropolitan Boston to the senate.

The measure is a compromise between the advocates of federation and its opponents. It seeks to give Boston the commercial advantage of an official statistical rating of the metropolitan district, but leaves out the provision for federation with a metropolitan council.

The bill, which was reported for the committee by Senator Stearns of Middlesex on the petitions of March G. Bennett and George E. Lothrop follows:

"Section 1. The cities and towns which are included within the metropolitan park district or the metropolitan water district, or in all of them, and such other cities and towns as may hereafter be joined to either or all of said districts, shall constitute Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 2. The bureau of statistics shall compile and publish every fifth year, or oftener if the head of said bureau shall deem it advisable, the combined statistical rating of population, valuation, commerce, manufactures and all other accessible statistics, whether from the national or state census, of said metropolitan Boston, under the title of Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; and in all of the publications of the bureau in which the separate statistics of the cities and towns constituting Metropolitan Boston appear, the totals of all such statistics shall also appear as the Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; provided, however, that the publication of these statistics shall not interfere in any way with the publication of the statistics of any of the individual communities constituting said Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage. The special committee, of which Mayor E. A. Walker of Waltham is dry-goods shops. But if you buy only one yard of a 37 1/2 cent muslin, you must pay 38 cents. If you buy a half-a-yard of 35 cent muslin you must pay, not 17 1/2 cents, but 18 cents. So, the use of the half-cent is urged, as a measure of economy.

Shoes at Cost Plus 5 Per Cent.

More About the Regal Shoe Co.'s Plan of Scientific and Economical Shoe-Selling

There is a bill before Congress to authorize the coinage of the half-cent

If it is wise to split a cent, how much wiser to split half dollars?

because there was no coin of less value than the half-dollar recognized in shoe stores?

Think a moment and you will see that this is a fact. Have you ever seen a fine shoe of standard make regularly sold at any other price than full dollars or half dollars—$3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, and so on?

Standard shoes have always been made to fit these arbitrary prices, fixed in advance. Why? We don't know—except that it is a trade custom, which is no reason at all.

Anyhow, the Regal Shoe Co. have abolished that custom of most other necessities of life, and which ought to govern all of them.

Regal Shoes will hereafter be priced at cost of making, plus five per cent. commission and the cost of selling.

Regals will be made in several general price-classes, but the actual price of every model will be figured as above by certified public accountants, AND STAMPED ON THE SHOES AT THE FACTORY.

The price will be stamped just as it figures out (except that there will be no splitting nickels). It may be an "odd" price, like $3.85, $4.35, etc.—or it may be an "even" price, like $4.00, $4.50, etc. Whatever it really figures, you will pay. There will be no "juggling" either of the shoes or the prices to make the latter conform to tradition.

This is the Stamp

This stamp is your guarantee of full Regal quality at the lowest price for which such quality can be bought. It takes all the uncertainty, all the unknown profits, all the unnecessary expense out of shoe buying.

It is your guarantee that the LARGEST POSSIBLE PROPORTION of the price you pay is returned in leather and workmanship.

In Regal Shoes MORE OF YOUR MONEY WILL GO FOR SHOE SATISFACTION AND LESS FOR SOME ONE'S PROFIT than in any other make you can buy.

In Regal Shoes you get what you want, and pay only for what you get

If a heavier sole, worth 20 cents more, is put into a Regal Shoe that would otherwise sell for $4.00, the price of that shoe will be $4.20. Under the old system further and unnecessary expense had to be added also, to bring the retail price up to $4.50.

If leather goes up, you will pay us only the exact amount of the advance. If leather goes down, you now automatically save 95 per cent. of whatever the Regal Factories save. Heretofore, small economies in factory cost could seldom save you anything.

If a new Regal model is designed that can be sold at, say, $4.35, it will be sold at $4.35. Under the old system, either the shoe had to be trimmed down to make it cost $4.00, or unnecessary expense added to make it cost $4.50.

Regal Prices Are Now $3.35 to $5.85

chairman, sent out the following statement regarding the measure:

"The metropolitan affairs committee yesterday reported to the legislature a new 'real Boston' bill. This is the result of a compromise between the 'real Boston' committee of the Boston chamber of commerce and the special committee representing the cities and towns in opposition.

"The chamber of commerce has abandoned the metropolitan council idea entirely, and the communities in opposition for their part have assented to the application of the title 'metropolitan Boston' to the cities and towns in the district for statistical purposes. "The new bill provides that the state bureau of statistics shall tabulate the statistics of the district once in five years. It is understood that the federal census bureau at Washington will note this new condition in its census tabulations. There is no provision for any governmental function of any sort,

all of which brings harmony among all parties interested.

BOARD OF CENSORS

A committee of six Lawrence citizens has been constituted a board of censors to watch and commend or criticize the action of the city council. They are to attend every meeting and pass judgment upon the action taken. Why is not that a good method of training for public office? The board of censors or some of them may become candidates later on and if elected they will have an illustration of the difference there is between acting on public matters as responsible public officials and passing judgment as outside and irresponsible parties upon the acts of such officials. The irresponsible censor board can dish out hot air and nobody cares except the officials criticized, whether the opinions expressed are right or wrong.

TO KEEP OUT FOREIGN CRIMINALS

There are several bills before congress, the object of which is to restrict or regulate immigration. There is a pretty general desire to adopt some sifting process by which the criminally inclined will be kept out. We have had far too many Black Hand artists, too many men who use the stick and the revolver without cause, too many highwaymen who commit desperate deeds, rob banks and hold up railroad trains. How these can be singled out and excluded is a difficult problem to solve. England has adopted the plan of admitting men of suspicious type only under bonds that they will observe the law. Such a law in this country would be almost prohibitive and would moreover be impossible of enforcement. There are other schemes under consideration, and it is likely that some plan will be adopted that will lessen the number of the classes that have proved most troublesome in the past.

MEXICAN PEACE PROBABLE

Let us hope the armistice between the belligerents in Mexico will result in permanent peace. That the insurgents have had some cause for raising the standard of revolt against the Diaz administration is generally admitted. The fighting that has taken place has been sufficient to impress upon President Diaz and his cabinet that he cannot continue to carry things with the high hand that he has done in the past. He has a chance now to make an honorable peace, and if he does not embrace the opportunity, he may have to enter a new conflict in which the chances will be strongly against him. Uncle Sam has satisfied his warlike curiosity in the matter by demonstrating to the world how quickly he can mobilize a considerable army at a given point. He, too, we presume, should be ready to quit although when soldiers are mobilized in great haste at a point where fighting is in progress they do hate to hang around for several weeks and even months without permission to fire a shot. They will return disappointed, but nations are not allowing their armies to fight for fun these days. Thus far there has been no breach of neutrality or of the laws of "civilized warfare" that would justify the United States in intervention. American interests along the border in the region of hostilities have been pretty well safeguarded, and that alone will vindicate the mobilization of our troops. If a satisfactory peace be concluded during the armistice arranged for, there will be good reason for rejoicing on all sides, for while the rebellion did not entirely succeed it has so shaken up things in Mexico that the desired reforms must come, no matter who shall remain in power.

THE OILING OF STREETS

The question of laying the dust on many of our public streets with some process of oiling is one that may well receive careful study from the superintendent of streets. It is remembered what a nuisance the dust on the newly paved streets has been during the past two years. Frequent use of the watering cart does not seem to lay the dust very long at a time. The action of vehicles of all kinds on the surface dressing of the smooth paved streets sets free a considerable quantity of dust. Being over a hard surface, this dust dries readily when wet and is soon lifted into the air by the slightest breeze or even by the wheels of an automobile.

There are various problems to be solved in connection with the oiling of streets. For macadamized streets it is usually the most effective and most permanent method of laying the dust. Whether it can be successfully used on a surface so hard as that of the new smooth paving laid in Lowell remains to be determined. We have had some trouble over the damage to ladies' dresses caused by the splashing of oil by the wheels of autos skidding on the hard oily surface. That is one of the dangers that must be provided against in the case of oiled streets. The oiling process is successful only where the street surface absorbs the oil. For this reason the hard surface is usually treated with thin or light oils.

Various cities not any bigger than our own have oiling apparatus so that they can choose between oil and water for any particular street. The oil, of course, is more expensive and the cost must be provided for in a proper manner. In some cities it is paid for by the abutters and is far more satisfactory than a poor sprinkler service for which there is an unreasonable charge. There are so many oiling companies and so many different kinds of oiling machines that this street oiling problem is one that will stand considerable investigation; yet a city like Lowell will find all the information it needs within a radius of fifty miles. Boston, Providence, Worcester and other New England cities have done enough in this line to enlighten others in regard to material, methods and expense of oiling streets. It is a real pleasure to ride on some of the metropolitan and state highways when so thoroughly oiled that the surface is saturated, and there is no indication either of dust or of superfluous oil. It is possible that by judicious selection of machines and oil with skill in application, some streets can be oiled almost as cheaply as watered by the present system against which there are many complaints.

It is found that when oiled, macadamized streets last much longer than if watered by sprinklers. The oil causes the surface to remain intact and to cohere rather than disintegrate under the wheels of vehicles. In fine the oil treatment of streets is one of such importance that we cannot much longer afford to let it go by default.

SEEN AND HEARD

"If the stream had no quiet eddying place, could we so admire its cascade over the rocks? Were there no clouds, could we so hail the sky shining through them in its still calm purity?"

When a feller goes a-huntin' for a roge He shouldn't be a-thinkin' of the thorn; He must woo it, he must win it— Where his heart beats he must pin it. An' breathe the breath that's in it. When a feller goes a-huntin' for a rose He shouldn't see the thorn beneath its breast. But for all its thorny face, Red and reckless, one poor rose Is sweet enough, God knows, For the best. Frank L. Stanton.

A New York physician told me this story of a precocious little girl of ten. She is the daughter of an attractive lady of society whom the family doctor—a young man was attending for influenza. He felt her pulse gravely and tenderly, holding her wrist after the orthodox manner of a ladies' doctor. As he sat beside her in the drawing room, as he did so he became aware that the child had her great grey eyes, full of inquiry, fixed upon him. "You don't know what I am doing, my little lady?" said the medical man lightly to the interested little miss. "Yes—I do," was the prompt and positive reply. "And what may that be, pray?" continued the doctor. "Well, if you want me to tell you, you are making love to mamma."—Metropolitan Magazine.

NO, HE CAN NOT

A man can grow forests, both deep and wide. Luxuriant birches and pines; He can grow oak trees with the greatest of ease, And acres of shrubs and vines. He can grow choice fruits on the topmost boughs, On which the nations are fed; But he can't grow a thatch on the little bald patch On the top of his all-bone head.

"FOOTSTEPS ON THE STAIRS" I miss them now—those little feet. That used to come so oft; The little voice that used to speak So sweet, so silvery soft. And now, when I am all alone, And I miss in daily care, I listen, but 'tis all in vain, For "footsteps on the stairs."

For when I read, or sing, or play, Or join in pleasures sweet, I seem to see her glad and gay, And I miss those little feet. O, it is hard to think she's gone, With all her winning air; To think I never more shall hear Her "footsteps on the stairs."

The golden curls still cluster round That brow so white and clear; And on her face now pale and cold, I've shed full many a tear. The lids have drooped over those blue eyes. Death's icy seal is there; 'Tis he that has forever hushed These "footsteps on the stairs."

I know her feet are walking now. The blinding streets of heaven, I know that to that dear one's brow. A golden crown is given; I thank God that she is at rest. Safe from earth's sinful snares; Yet still I weep and pause to hear The "footsteps on the stairs."

Good time tonight, Y. M. C. Hall, 15.

STOPS BABY'S CHAFING

No matter how careful a mother or nurse may be, it's impossible to prevent baby's tender skin from getting chafed unless she dusts all the folds and surfaces that rub together, with a healing talcum powder.

Common talcums are not suitable as their perfume is irritating. Trained nurses use Comfort Powder because it both heals and soothes, making baby comfortable at once. It even cures rashes, eczema, and torturing skin humors, yet is harmless and delightful. See that signature of E. S. Sykes is on the box you buy.

FREE LIST BILL

Will Cause Long Debate, According to Leaders in Congress

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The tariff again holds the attention of congress. It made its appearance today in the shape of the free list bill, which was called up just before adjournment yesterday and which threatens to lead to almost endless debate before it finally is passed along to the senate. Leaders on both sides of the house foresee long days of talk ahead. That the measure will pass is generally conceded, but it will not command the heavy toll of republican votes given to the Canadian

A good game is expected, as both teams are practicing for the game faithfully. The Cadet team will be strengthened considerably by the annexing of Dorathy, a second baseman and Curtin, a pitcher.

The Cadets, after Saturday's victory over the South Ends, feel confident of winning and assure a good game. Curry will be the pitcher for the Cadets while Dorathy will be the first baseman. The old stand-by, who on first with Dorathy on second, sheels will cover the shortstop territory, while Mahoney, the star of last week's game, will be on third. EVERY WOMAN TRY THIS

Every woman at some time or other needs a reliable, antiseptic, sanative wash and here is a physician's formula for making the very best one at home: Obtain at the drug store 2 ounces anti-septic, 1 ounce salicylic acid, 1 ounce castile soap, 1 ounce glycerine, 1 ounce warm water, use a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water, as a douche or injection. A PUBLIC PARK AT ST. ANTHONY'S

Is Wanted in West 40 Hours' Devotion

Centralville Brought to Close

The following petition was filed in the city clerk's office this morning by ex-Alderman John H. Beaulieu:

"To His Honor, the Mayor, and to the City Council:

We, the undersigned citizens and residents of Centralville, respectfully petition your honorable body that land be purchased for the purpose of creating a public park in that rapidly growing section of Lowell.

The petition is headed with the signature of Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis parish, and bears about 300 names including all the business men of that district and a large number of the voters.

The movement for a park in West Centralville was started at the Centralville Social club some time ago and the following committee was appointed to look over the possibilities of a public park in that part of the city: President, John H. Beaulieu; Calliste Lequin and Joseph Ell.

The members of the committee had an interview with the park commissioners and after being advised by the latter, a petition was circulated among the citizens of West Centralville. The spot which seemed to be favored by the petitioners is that tract of land extending from the Alken street bridge to Beaver brook. The council may be asked to act upon the petition tonight.

The devotion of the 40 hours was brought to a close this morning. Solenn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Mesquita of Fall River, assisted by Rev. J. V. Rosa, deacon; Rev. Fr. Toledo of Fall River, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father Terra of Provincetown, master of ceremonies. St. Cecilia's mass was sung by the choir. At the offertory "Ave Verum" was sung by Mrs. Hugh Walker. After the chanting of the litany of the saints, a procession of the blessed sacrament was held, preceded by altar boys, sanctuary choir boys and the members of the Blessed Sacrament sodality. Solemn benediction closed the service. Miss Leah Ginty presided at the organ.

Minor League Battles Divide Interest With Major

By TOMMY CLARK.

WHILE the prospects of the teams in the major leagues is a subject of interest to baseball fans all over the country, the possibilities of the season of 1911 cannot be reviewed without the minor league situation being sized up.

In the smaller organizations managers of the teams have a harder task than those in the big circuits. The manager of a club in the major leagues can stand pat on his team if he chooses to, but such is not the case within the minors. Every year big roads are made in every club, and the stars are gobbled up by the big leagues. The majority are returned, but generally not to the same club with which they were before.

When the time comes for the manager to make up his team for the season he has to do some great scouting before he can get together a winning combination. Every year intense interest is displayed in the fights for the much coveted position in the different leagues. In the some thirty odd minor leagues in organized baseball there is represented an invested capital of $20,000,000, and last season over 24,000,000 people attended the games.

Eastern League.

The outlook for the season in the Eastern league is fully as promising as it was this time last year. Although many of last year's stars will be missing, there is plenty of good material on hand.

A number of critics have expressed the opinion that John Ganzel's Rochester team will capture the pennant for the third straight time. At the end of the 1910 campaign the Bronchos lost by purchase or draft, Ed Lafitte and Don Carlos Patrick Ragon, pitchers; Bert Tooley, shortstop, and Walter Blair, catcher, but Ganzel has been able to get Tommy McMillan from Brooklyn, Eddie Foster, Fred Mitchell and Tom Hughes from the New York Americans and Fred Jacklitsch from the Phillies, so that his team looks quite as strong as last season.

While some may concede the championship to Rochester, the managers of the other seven teams laugh at the suggestion. Joe McGinnity has had his Newark Indians right on the heels of the Rochester team on two occasions, and only a series of accidents kept the Iron Men's charges from finishing in front last season. This year the Indians appear stronger than ever.

Joe Kelley of Toronto, if all his veteran players hit at their top-notch speed, may be the boss of the championship team of 1911. Joe will have with him Tim Jordan, once of Brooklyn, the renowned home run maker; Bill Bradley, formerly of Cleveland, who used to make a habit of pooling circuit drives, and "Wee Willie" Keeler, for years one of the greatest place hitters.

George T. Stallings, a wonder as a reconstructionist and manager of the New York Americans last year, will pilot Buffalo this season. The Buffalo outfit made a poor showing last season under Billy Smith. The "big chief" has been able to acquire several players from the major league clubs, which should put the Bisons in the hunt this season. If the Baltimore club should happen to win the pennant Connie Mack would be entitled to as much praise as Jack Dunn, for the handler of the world's champions has been kind to the Orioles leader by contributing a pair of clever pitchers in Tommy Atkins and Jimmy Dygert and a few more valuable players. The club will star performer in the box last year, but the $12,000 which Connie Mack is said to have paid for him helped in getting new players of recognized skill.

Edward Barrow, the new president of the Eastern league, is wide awake to the affairs of the organization. Under the circumstances it will be run in a major league style, and the outlook is bright for a most successful season and a hard, bitter fight for the pennant. American Association.

Minneapolis looks every bit as strong as last season, and the general opinion among the critics is that the Millers will repeat. Many of last year's team are left, and several good youngsters have been added. The twirling staff is about the best in the of the first division. But the former Chicago player is optimistic and says he will whip up things this season. Kansas City could be improved on, but Manager Danny Shay landed some good major league discards and with the young material on hand the team should put up a good fight. Columbus will be right there at the finish. Manager Bill Friel has some fine talent to select a formidable aggregation from.

Three I League.

While the magnates of the Three I league have been wrestling with inflection suits, baseball politics and circuit problems growing out of the embarrassing to the managers, as they had no means of knowing when the regular season would open. It will be some time in May before one can get a good line on the teams.

Tri-state League.

The outlook for the season in the Tri-state is very bright. One of the surprising things in connection with the league this season is that more of last year's players did not hold out for more salary. When the league directors fixed the limit at $1,900 and retained the individual maximum of $175 many persons thought that last year's stars would refuse to sign. However, the work of Bill Coughlin, the new manager of the Reading club.

New York State League.

Experts predict that the fight in the New York State league this year will be one of the most evenly contested ever held in the history of the organization. Wilkesbarre, Syracuse, Elmira and Scranton all have a look in at the pennant. The second division teams of last season have also been bolstered since the close of last campaign. Harry Lumley, manager of the Binghamton team, the tall ender in last year's race, looks for a big improvement over 1910.

Western League.

A hot fight is looked for in the Western league. Sioux City, Denver, Lincoln, Wichita and Omaha clubs appear evenly matched. Des Moines has landed some new blood, and so has St. Joseph. Topeka will have more than her hands full in trying to get out of last place. Much interest is being taken in the work of Bob Unglaub, the former first baseman of the Washington Americans, who is now manager of the Lincoln team. The former big leaguer is expected to shine as a leader of a team in a powerful Class A minor league organization.

Southern Association.

Another stirring fight is expected in the Southern association. The weak clubs of last season seem to have been strengthened with the talent landed from the major organizations. New Orleans looks strongest on paper and on the games with the big leaguers this spring. The Pelicans have but one weak spot this season—namely, in the outfield. Mobile is weak on pitchers. Atlanta's infield needs considerable strengthening. Birmingham looks good in all departments. Manager Schwartz says Nashville will surely be in the hunt this season. "The material is here, and all we need is the development," says Schwartz. Chattanooga appears stronger than last season, but Memphis and Montgomery look to be out of it.

Central League.

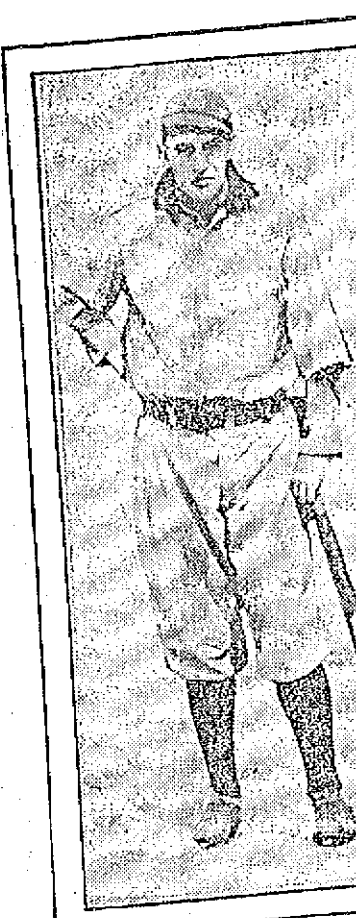

South Bend, Terre Haute and Fort Wayne fans are discussing the Central league season as if it is foreordained to be a race of the three clubs of those cities for the pennant. The peculiar situation arises from the closeness of the race between Fort Wayne and South Bend last year, when Wheeler was manager in the latter city. His going to Terre Haute this year, with a dispute over his release from South Bend, but with his prestige as a successful manager, brings the Coal Miners into the race.

In other ways the feeling is strong, and the rivalry is such as to make sure of big crowds for the three clubs. Wheeler unquestionably is the drawing card of the league. His personality, for he is the Beau Brummel of the circuit, and his startling shakups in the team all tend to advertise his club. If the three clubs should drop into the second division and the eastern division of the circuit—Dayton, Zanesville and Wheeling—take the lead there would be a lot of stupefied fans.

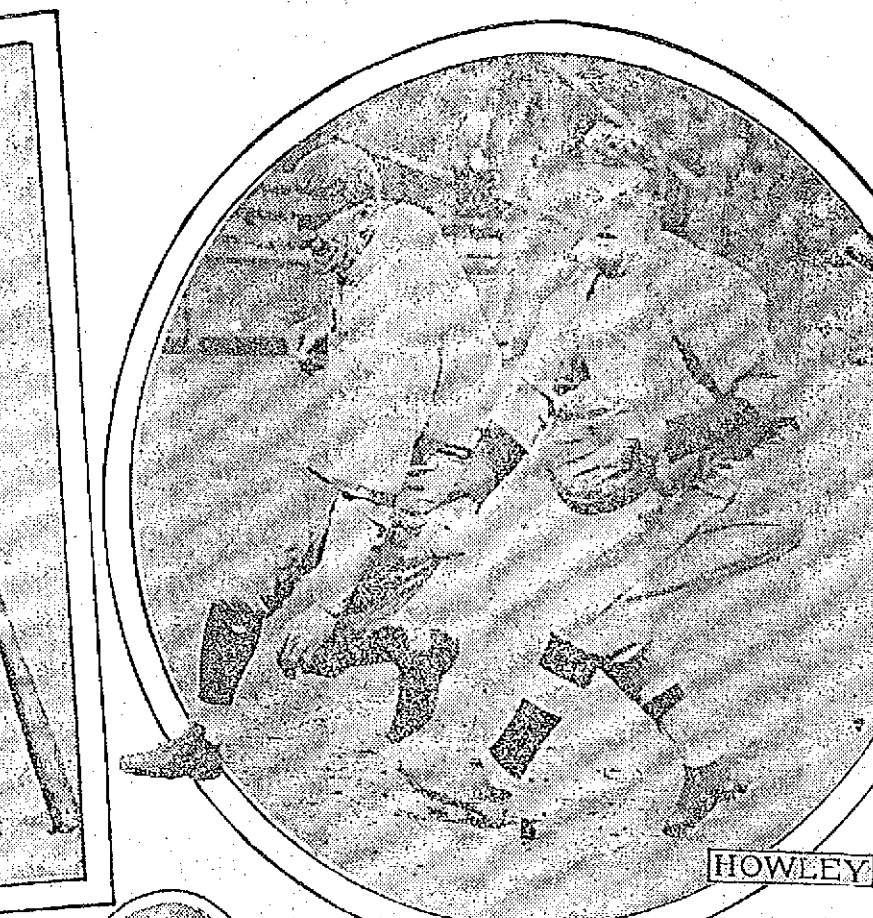

PIGEON RACING SPORT GROWING AGAIN.

Homing pigeon fanciers in this country are glad to see that the sport is growing again in England and hope to arrange an international correspondence match on the basis of miles traveled. This sport has had a foothold in America for years. The birds are trained by taking them from their mates, who are left at home, to gradually increased distances, and then liberated, which experience, coupled with their homing instinct, enables them to get back at marvelous speed, and they often fly continuously at a high rate for almost the entire number of hours of summer daylight.

The winning birds bring large prices, and by proper mating of the speedy specimens, together with training, better records are made each year. Valuable prizes are now given both here and in England for the periodical races. The sport is a hobby with George C. Boldt, and he often sentimentally sends hurry messages by this antique homing pigeon method between the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, and the Bellevue-Stratford, in Philadelphia.

league, and the catching department looks formidable too. The infield is powerful, and the outfield classes with the best on the circuit. Manager Joe Cantillon says Rube Waddell will add great strength to the twirling staff. St. Paul fans are pleased with the work of Manager Kelley. The pilot of the Solons has spared no effort to pilot of the Indianapolis team, has a large task cut out for him, but from the material on hand the club should figure in the fight for the pennant. The catching staff with Howley in good shape is one of the strongest in the league. Manager Del Howard will have some time trying to get his team to the top

Waterloo controversy, the managers and players for most of the clubs have been in training and playing exhibition games. The uncertainty that has marked the future of the league as a result of the warfare between the southern and northern factions, preventing the adoption of a schedule, has been somewhat there was not one serious case of dissatisfaction. In talking about the coming race recently President Carpenter said: "We have a great lot of lively youngsters, and I look for a tight race this coming season. A number of youngsters have been sent to us by the majors, and the men will play good ball." Much interest is being taken in

Hedlund Looks Like Coming Champion At One Mile

Those who follow athletics closely would not be hugely surprised if the next one mile champion of America hails from Boston. Neither will they be surprised if his name is Oscar Hedlund. The Bostonian has licked some of the best young milers in the race for the junior indoor championship in New York recently in 4 minutes 19 4-8 seconds. Since that time he has run some grand races. Only recently he lost the scratch mile race to the Hunter and Baxter cups to Abel Kiviat, the great I. A. A. C. middle distance, by very short margins. In both of these races he forced Kiviat to "run his block off" to win by less than five feet, and in both Hedlund did not use the very best judgment in going after the New York wonder.

Though it is only lately that Hedlund has shown the stuff that is in him he did some crackerjack miles in New England as early as last summer. On July 1st Hedlund turned a mile from scratch at the B. A. A. outdoor meet on Tech. Field, in the smashing time of 4 minutes 21 2-8 seconds. Six weeks later he lowered the New England mile record to 4 minutes 22 1-8 seconds at Medford Mass., running the entire distance on a track that was very heavy. Another remarkable mile by Hedlund was his winning of the New England championship at Norwood, Mass., on Sept. 10. He eased up at the three-quarter point and trotted home in 4 minutes 27 3-8 seconds. The man who beats Hedlund in the championship this summer will very likely have to get well under the coveted 4 minutes 20 seconds.

VETERAN JOE SUGDEN HAS HANDLED A MILLION BALLS IN SEVENTEEN YEARS.

During the seventeen years that Joe Sugden, the Tigers' battery tutor, has crouched behind the plate it is estimated that he has caught more than 1,000,000 pitched balls. His hands are gnarled where the fast ones have tipped him, but he is still able to handle the big mitt with all the old dexterity that made him one of the best backstops in his day.

Figuring on 100 games a season, which is a fair record for a catcher, and 125 pitched balls a game, Sugden caught at least 12,500 pitched balls in regular games. Then there is the immense amount of receiving the catcher is obliged to do in practice.

There was only one Ruby Fitzsimmons, only one big, gawky blacksmith who, at the age of thirty-five, went out and won a world's championship and for five years successfully defended it. Old Hob set a record that will probably stand for all time in the archives of fistiana.

Fitz was the Mike Bernhardt of fightdom. Ago did not leave any defects upon him, and he was fighting great battles when other men were past the moribund of their years. The freckled "kangaroo" established a goal that fighters of the present day will never be able to touch.

There are few old glove ramblers in the ring today. The rusty arms of antiquity have evidently been consigned to their proper place—the junkman's back yard. Ago cuts small figure with the exponents of the many art of pummeling. Youth is king, and a man's proficiency is not gauged by his years because all of the children of the god of fistiana are pretty equitably watched in this regard.

In the hit and get away game of today a man past thirty is rated as being on the decline of his powers. He is looked upon in ring circles the same as an octogenarian. Such a man has not a chance of ever ascending to a title, although one does hold one now—Jack Johnson. But Jack is an exception.

Only five fighters who are now making their living by sticking gloves into an opponent's features are over thirty. They are Jack Johnson, Cyclone John Thompson, Mike and Jack (Twin) Sullivan and Jim Flynn. Two are just thirty—Jem Driscoll and Rudolph Unholtz.

Of those past the acknowledged period of decadence Cyclone Johnny Thompson is the eldest. Sycamore, Ill., was the first training quarters of the has come the closest to Fitz's record. He was thirty-two when he won the title from Tommy Burns.

The two antiquated baldheaded twins, Mike and Jack (Twin) Sullivan rank next in order in the list. Jack has been stopping cross counters and moving his hands in faultless rhythm for nearly thirteen years. Mike is the junior twin of the ring sport. He only took up the game in earnest in 1901, when the fame of his brother began to permeate his being.

Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fronster, is thirty-two years of age. The fight game has known him for nine years. Flynn is the last of millers over the one score and ten.

Following are the ages of the other oldest ring celebrities of today, showing positively that youth is dominant: Owen Moran, twenty-seven; Tommy Murphy, twenty-six; Harry Lewis, twenty-five; Willie Lewis, twenty-seven; Abbe Attoll, twenty-seven; Tony Capone, twenty-nine; Hugo Kelly, twenty-eight; Fighting Dick Nelson, twenty-eight; Jack Redmond, twenty-seven; Battling Nelson, twenty-nine; Jem Driscoll, thirty, and Rudolph Unholtz, thirty.

SUGDEN COULDN'T THROW TO WALLACE.

Joe Sugden, coach of the Detroit battery artists, says that Bobby Wallace is one man whom he could never throw to.

"I don't know what caused it, but I never gave Wallace a good peg in my life. I'd throw over him, in front of him or to one side. I couldn't peg him even in practice. But how he would leap, reach or dig into the dirt for them! He was the best ever. There never was a man who could tag a runner better."

CRITICISES OUR SWIMMING

Dick Cavill's Comment Unwarranted According to American View of It

THE wholesale criticism of American swimming strokes and methods by Richard Cavill, former champion of Australia and now instructor at the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago, has aroused coaches throughout the country and brought to light some interesting facts concerning the development of the crawl since its introduction here seven years ago. Any discussion on the relative merits of the Australian and American varieties of this stroke must, of course, prove an idle one, both because there is no definite type in either country and because widely differing conditions make impossible a fair comparison. And it may be added that Cavill cannot be counted a competent judge of the question owing to his having studied American methods only in the middle west. Considering that New York holds the championships at all distances in straight swimming his views are not at all conclusive.

After reading some of the replies to the Australian's comments one is apt to wonder what constitutes the true American crawl. There appear to be conflicting opinions on the subject, and certainly the descriptions given by Sullivan, Moffett, Mackenzie, Kistler, Wahle, Cady and some other of our leading authorities differ greatly.

One thing stands out irrefragably, however. Cavill bases his criticism on our supposed use of a straight arm stroke, and yet every one of the coaches above mentioned teaches his pupils to catch with elbow raised, which makes a straight arm drive impossible. If some insist on the arms being brought down at right angles to the body it is because they know that this is the best way to prevent the beginner from getting an exaggerated inward hook that minimizes the effectiveness of the drive.

It is made evident by the published arguments that in the past few years students of swimming have given particular attention to the obtaining of a set of movements that would insure the propelling forward of the body from start to finish of the arm drive. In the old side stroke, where the hand was carried into the chest and then out, there was considerable loss of power, and later when the trudgeon came into existence and a straight arm was preached both the early part and the finish of the stroke were useless, because the pressure was applied downward at first and upward at last. To obviate this the raised elbow catch was introduced, and it gave immediate results, because it enabled the swimmer to begin to draw his body forward the minute the hand dug into the water. The latter part of the sweep was still unsatisfactory, though, and it is only quite recently that coaches seem to have hit on the way to draw benefit from it. In fact, few seem to know of the discovery even now.

In the new method the hands plunge into the water with force on either side of the head and above it. The elbows are held high and the wrists bent slightly downward. As the arm sweeps down in this position the shoulder is made to do most of the work until the hand reaches the height of the chest, when the upper arm slackens speed (the elbow is still high) and the forearm comes strongly into play, pressing backward hard until it reaches the thigh, and when it is lifted out of water and carried forward for another stroke. As can be seen, this action entails no loss of power or cessation of forward propulsion at any part of the drive. Curiously, Cavill makes no mention of this stroke. No claims that the arm should be carried down along the center of the body and close to it, but any one with even slight knowledge of applied mechanics will understand why such a method is inferior to the other, as the leverage is at no time as good.

Of the leg drive very little was said in the recent controversy, but Coach Richards of Yale expressed the opinion that an improvement in the present thrash was being tried out at New Haven, and another step forward was anticipated through it. He has been studying the "swordfish kick" of Instructor Sundstrom of the New York Athletic club, and he believes that it has wonderful speed in it. This kick greatly resembles the crawl thrash, but instead of the legs moving simply up and down they perform a rotary motion very like the action of a bicyclist in peddling fast. Great difficulty has been experienced in teaching these complicated movements and results have not proved very satisfactory, but there is no doubt that Sundstrom can by the aid of his kick only go almost as fast as the average swimmer can using arms and legs, so Richards' contention is not unwarranted.

HUGE TROTTER TRACK INVESTMENT.

About 1,200 trotting tracks are members of the National and American Trotting association, and it is estimated that 300 tracks in the United States and Canada are not represented. A conservative estimate of the cost of the various properties devoted to the harness racing game is $20,000,000.

CANADA HAS DOG CRAZE

The craze for importing dogs more or less known to English fame is again being felt in and around Toronto. Bulldogs are the most popular breeds inquired after, and their prices range from $50 to $125.

PAINTERS STRIKE

Others Did Not Report for Work This Morning—Master
Painters Met to Discuss the Situation

Over 100 members of the Painters' union No. 20, went out on strike this morning after being refused an increase in wages by their employers, the Master Painters.

The men out on strike claim that on April 18th, of the present year, they presented a petition to the Master Painters, asking them for a conference to be held on or before April 24th.

This conference was for the purpose of asking an increase in wages of 33 cents per hour. The painters claim they were ignored entirely.

Last night a largely attended meeting was held in Labor hall, 33 Middle street, President Lindsay Bennett on the subject of the strike.

It was unanimously decided that the members of the union should go out on strike this morning with the exception of a number of them who have already received the increase asked for. The men did not go to work this morning as voted last night, and this afternoon they held another meeting at their meeting place.

The vice president of the Master Painters' union, when interviewed by a reporter of The Sun, this afternoon, stated that the members of his organization knew nothing of the proposed increase, and were not aware of the trouble until this morning when the men did not show up at the working time. They also deny any knowledge of the April 24th conference. A meeting of the Master Painters was called at 3 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the situation.

Purchasing Agent Foye will call for bids for coal for public buildings, summer delivery, just as soon as he hears from the school department. Mr. Foye has been waiting several days to hear from that department on the coal question.

The committee on supplies, Edmund T. Shumson, chairman, met yesterday and the coal supply for the schools was among the subjects presented for discussion.

The school board will meet tonight and it is understood that the chairman of the committee on supplies has been authorized to confer with the purchasing agent relative to the coal supply. Up to within a year or two ago the school board did not have anything to do or say about the coal supply, but the system of buying on the basis of chemical analysis has given the board a finger in the pie, and while the board is not in a position to dictate

Fayette St. School

The matter of closing the Fayette street school will come before the school board tonight on notice of reconsideration made at the last meeting. The board voted on the question at its last meeting and the board stood five in favor and four against the closing of the school. One of the four gave notice of reconsideration at the next meeting which will be tonight. The scheme is to close the Fayette street school and transfer the two teachers and pupils to the Cabot street school. It is argued that this would save the pay of two teachers and one janitor and that the pupils would not suffer in any way because of the transfer. The members opposing the proposition to close the school declare that parents of children attending the Fayette street school do not want their children transferred to the Cabot street school because of the distance and the inconvenience that would result. The question will be settled either one way or the other tonight.

Use of School Plants

When it was first suggested that the office of the sealer of weights and measures be located in the Mann school it was thought that the school board would object, but when the proposition was advanced the board members did not hesitate to give it their sanction.

Speaking along this line today, Supt. Whitcomb said that he believed in using the school houses for other than school purposes providing that such use did not interfere in any way with the school work. Mr. Whitcomb said that the schools in many places are made social centers and a great deal has been written relative to wider use of school plants. The school house has a lot of spare time on its hands, so to speak. For school purposes it is used but five hours a day, five days a week for forty weeks, and those who advocate a wider use of school plants have good material for argument.

A committee of the Citizens Americans club is to appear before the members of the school board tonight to oppose the closing of the Cheever street school. This committee was appointed at the last meeting of the club.

CONSUL EDWARDS

Thinks Mexican War is Ended

WASHINGTON, April 25.—It is the general belief that the war is ended, declared American Consul Edwards at Juarez in a report to the state department today.

FOR MOTH WORK

MAYOR'S VETO TONIGHT

The mayor's veto of the $5000 loan order for moth work will go to the city council tonight as will also the $75,000 loan order recommended by the committee on streets for street improvements.

The mayor does not mean, he says, to stand in the way of an appropriation for moth extermination but he does not like the form of loan suggested for the work. It is understood that if the order is not passed over the mayor's veto tonight a new order will be introduced.

POSTMASTERS

To Be Subjected to a Rigid Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Postmasters of the country are to be subjected to a rigid investigation by congress. The house committee on expenditures in the post office department has decided to act in response to a resolution introduced by Rep. Saunders of Virginia providing for such an inquiry. The committee is to report as to how much actual time postmasters devote to the service of the department, their outside business affiliations and political activity, especially with reference to the collection of political assessments.

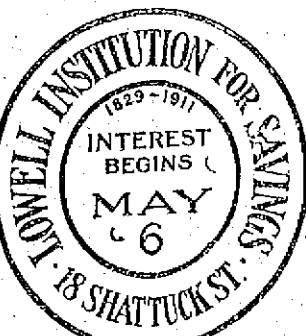

The committee will report the resolution to the house tomorrow and will be called up for passage immediately.

VANDERBILT'S HORSE SECOND

PARIS, April 25.—In the Prix de Capcyron for three year olds, 1,000, distance, one mile and seven furlongs, run at Maisons-Laffitte today, W. K. Vanderbilt's Golden was second. The same owner's Negrol ran second in the Prix de Nemours le Pin, distance seven furlongs.

Messrs. Pierre A. Brousseau and Joseph P. Montminy of this city, were present at the organization of District council, No. 14, U. S. J. Bldg. at Manchester, N. H., Sunday. Both addressed the gathering and were well received.

Three many friends of ex-Mayor Charles E. Howe are sorry to learn that he has been confined to his home almost constantly since December with a severe attack of rheumatism and is still unable to be out.

JUDGE MORTON SUIT FOR SERVICES

Enjoins Big Mill Corporation From Holding Special Meeting
Against Estate of the Late Prof.
J. Schneider

BOSTON, April 25.—On complaint of certain minority stockholders of the Whittemore Manufacturing Co., a million dollar cotton mill corporation of Taunton, Judge Morton of the supreme court of the commonwealth today enjoined that corporation, its president, Arthur T. Lyman, Arthur Lyman, a director, and Ronald Lyman, the treasurer, of Waltham, from holding a special meeting which had been called for today. The meeting was called for the purpose of reducing the number of shares of the preferred stock and increasing the number of shares of the common stock. The company's capital of $1,000,000 is divided into 2,000 shares of preferred and 8,000 of common stock, each of the value of $100.

The Whittemore company was formerly controlled by the late Congressman Lovering of Taunton.

Arthur T. Lyman is head of the Bigelow Carpet Co. of Lowell and is also connected with the Massachusetts and Merrimack mills of Lowell.

In the superior court this noon the case of the Standard Bed company vs. Patrick N. Fitzgerald of Somerville, an action of contract, went to the jury.

The next case in order, which went to trial this afternoon was that of Caroline Buita vs. Walsh, executrix, an action of contract in which the plaintiff sues to recover for services as nurse and companion for the late

Prof. Jerome Schneider formerly professor of Greek at Tufts college. John J. O'Connor of Boston appears for the plaintiff and R. E. Joseph for the defendant.

Following the present case that of City Iron Foundry vs. the City of Lowell is in order. Albert S. Howard for the plaintiff and the city solicitor for the defendant.

SPREAD OF DIPHTHERIA

Said to Have Been Caused by Tom Cat

BUFFALO, April 25.—The whole machinery of the health and police departments of this city was required to bring about the official execution of an eight pound tom cat which is believed to have been the cause of a serious epidemic of diphtheria among the children of the Front avenue section. The cat was killed at the city pound today.

Two children in a Front avenue home were the first to develop the disease. When the children became ill and before their cases had been diagnosed the cat was sent to the home of a friend. The disease also broke out there and several other children who had been in contact with the cat began to show signs of throat trouble.

An inspector from the health department arrested the cat, with the assistance of the police and a culture was taken from Tommy's throat. Yesterday City Bacteriologist Bissel reported that the animal had diphtheria and the health inspectors were ordered to kill the cat.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Haverhill Woman Was Murdered
by a Former SoldierThe Latter Then Committed Suicide by Taking Poison—
The Woman, Who Was Divorced From Her First Husband, Had Refused to Marry
Shangler

HAVERHILL, April 25.—Simultaneously with the arrival here today of the body of Miss Flora M. Rogers, formerly of this city it became known that she had been murdered in Shoshone, Idaho, by Merion H. Shangler, formerly a sergeant in the First United States cavalry, who afterward committed suicide. Miss Rogers, while living in Boise City, Idaho, a month or more ago refused to marry Shangler. She went to Shoshone, only to be followed by the man. Shangler located Miss Rogers in a hotel and demanded that she marry him immediately. She refused. Thereupon he shot and killed her and then committed suicide by taking poison.

Miss Rogers, who was 31 years old, married Charles Tewksbury of this city in 1902. Four years ago she went to Boise City, where she divorced Tewksbury and resumed her maiden name.

While living in Boise City, Miss Rogers met Shangler. After the tragedy Miss Rogers' mother, Mrs. Mary Rogers of this city, was notified and wired for the body to be shipped east, but she did not learn until today that her daughter had been murdered.

JOHN DONOVAN

ELECTION CASE

CORK, Ireland, April 25.—John Donovan, a Californian, who was active in the last election campaign here, was a witness at today's hearing of the petition against the election of Captain Donelan, the Nationalist whip who defeated William O'Brien. Donovan declared that he had enough of electioneering in Ireland and intended to return to California. He admitted having promised to distribute money among the poor of Youghal if Donelan was elected.

NEW YORK, April 25.—An insurance policy for $115,000 upon the life of Morris H. TRADING STAMPS

Held Legal by the Supreme Court

Bill to Prohibit is Unconstitutional

BOSTON, April 17.—The justices of the supreme judicial court sent to the house this afternoon this opinion deciding that the bill to prohibit the giving of trading stamps is unconstitutional.

With respect to the trading stamp bill, the court says: "The bill is drawn in broad terms, and it purports to forbid transactions that are not different in principle from contracts of sale which always have been held to be within the constitutional right of persons in every state to possess and acquire property, to transact legitimate business and to buy and sell and get gain. (U. S. constitutional amendment, article 14; declaration of rights, article 1.) We cannot doubt that the bill is intended only to include cases such as this court held not to be included in statutes 1884, chapter 77, as amended by statutes 1885, chapter 576, now revised laws, chapter 29: See commonwealth vs. Slason, 178 Massachusetts, 575. The reasons for the decision in the case cited would not apply to a decision as to the meaning of this bill.

"There is nothing in the conduct proposed to be prohibited that necessarily appeals to the gambling instinct or involves any element of chance. Such statutes and ordinances have been held unconstitutional by the highest courts in a large number of states."

Mr. Gowing was employed by A. D. Boynton, and Saturday morning, while driving his team down Fletcher street, the horses became frightened at an automobile driven by Dr. Foster H. Smith. In the course of the mad run Gowing was thrown to the ground and was pinned against an iron post by one of the horses. Deceased lived at 9 Whiting street. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Mary A. Gowing, and one child.

DRAMATIC PLAY

TO BE GIVEN BY GRADUATES OF
GREENHALL SCHOOL

The Greenhall graduates, '09, held an important monthly meeting at the home of one of their members, Miss Alice Handley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Handley, 52 Littlefield street. The meeting was presided over by President Herbert Howard and considerable routine business was transacted.

The feature of the evening was an elaborate musical program, rendered by the members of the organization. Miss Handley, who is a talented singer, entertained her guests delightfully with several beautiful vocal selections, while Miss Beatrice Delaronde, presided at the piano. Refreshments were served and at home games were enjoyed till a late hour.

The members of this social organization are now formulating plans to organize a dramatic play to be given in the near future for the benefit of their fund.

MRS. W. LEEDS

IS SAID TO HAVE HER EYES ON A CORONET

NEW YORK, April 26.—From an intimate friend of Mrs. William B. Leeds, her real reason for selling the Leeds mansion on Fifth avenue, and thereby cutting all permanent ties on this side of the water is that she likes the English better than she does her own country people. It is said to be her ambition to marry a duke, and bring up her little son as an Englishman.

Lady Sarah Wilson came over a few months ago and was the guest of Mrs. Leeds here and at Palm Beach. Mrs. Leeds wanted to get thoroughly in touch with the social situation in London. On the advice of Lady Sarah, who will be her social sponsor during the coming season, Mrs. Leeds has leased the beautiful home of Mrs. Keppel in Portman square and is planning to give some wonderful entertainments during the coronation season.

Mrs. Leeds, the informant said, is as great a financier as was her late husband, and is increasing rather than diminishing her great fortune through clever investments. Her little son is the apple of her eye and is almost a prodigy. He speaks three languages already and has a wit remarkable for his years.

Mrs. Leeds said during her last visit here that she had become disgusted with the "commonness" of Americans. "They are so rude, and the stores are impossible," said she. "One is treated so badly that I like to get over to England, where one meets with kindness and courtesy from those about one."

KNOWS WHAT
CURED HERThis Maternal Woman Does Not Hesitate to Recommend the Remedy She Used.

A high endorsement is given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by Mrs. Albert Bennett, of No. 124 Palm street, Bangor, Maine. She says:

"For fully eight months I was in a general run-down condition, which I think may have been due to my age. The doctor said my sickness was caused by the condition of my blood. My appetite was poor and I would feel faint at my stomach. I was so short of breath that I couldn't walk much. I lost several pounds in weight and could not do my housework. It was a burden for me to get around and many people would have given up and gone to bed. My blood was in a poor condition and a rash broke out all over my body."

"I was treated by two doctors, but their help was so slow that I gave up taking their medicine and used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In two weeks I felt better and as I continued using the pills I improved until I was cured. I took no other medicine while using the pills and give them the credit for the cure. A great many people, who knew how badly off I was, have asked me what cured me and I am constantly recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"To avoid ill health and suffering at the critical time, a woman should make every effort to keep her general health in the best possible condition. If you are approaching the fortieth year or already passing through the change and your system is not strong enough to bear strain, you will get no more certain or quick relief than through a thorough trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They quickly build up and purify the blood, which, in turn, tones and strengthens the nerves and every other part of the body until robust health is enjoyed."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They do not act on the bowels but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. If you want good health you must have good blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

CLOTHING ON FIRE

Lynn Shoe Worker is Not Expected to Live

LYNN, April 26.—A can containing several gallons of naphtha exploded in Brophy Bros. shoe shop at 467 Union street yesterday afternoon and Peter Nicholas, 26 years old, of 41 Pleasant street was probably fatally burned. Gregory Donopoulos, of 60 Pleasant street, was also burned, and several girls fled from the building badly scared.

It was not until flames had answered an automatic alarm that any effort was made to extinguish the flames, which had practically consumed Nicholas' apparel. Before the firemen had beaten out flames he had been burned about the legs, back and arms. He was taken to the Lynn hospital and last night it was reported that the burns would prove fatal.

Donopoulos was burned on the arm, and after treatment at the hospital was sent home.

Although Nicholas said somebody tossed a lighted match into the can of naphtha, the firemen believe that an electric stove was responsible for the explosion. About 30 men and girls are employed in the room repairing shoes and packing shoes, using much naphtha. Beside the can was an electric stove, and Nicholas worked on the other side of the can.

Without any warning the naphtha exploded and the burning liquid was scattered about Nicholas' clothing. The sight of the flames so frightened him that he began to run madly about the room and the girls, and other operatives fearing for their own safety, dashed for the exit.

There were a dozen or more girls on the sidewalk when the firemen reached the building. When they entered the room they found Donopoulos trying to extinguish the flames which were consuming Nicholas' clothing.

In an instant several firemen threw him upon the floor, and it took them only a few seconds to smother the flames.

Many pairs of shoes were destroyed and several holes burned in the floor where pieces of burning clothing had dropped off Nicholas as he ran about. The damage by fire to the building was very small, but shoes worth several hundreds of dollars were destroyed.

The burning naphtha was pretty close to the door leading to the stairway, and while it did not cut off the exit, the operatives felt the heat as they ran for the stairs. The firemen found only the two men who had been burned, but two or three of the girls reported that their coats had been damaged by the flames.

IN THE CHURCHES

The Christian Endeavor union held a well attended meeting at the Pawtucket church last night. Supper was served in the school hall at 7.15. A speech of welcome was delivered by the pastor, Rev. F. P. Allen, which was responded to by the president of the local union, Frank J. Spooner. An excellent report of the county convention, held at Newton on the 19th of April, was read by Paul Jones. Following this came the speaker of the evening, Rev. John M. Kyle. He gave a very interesting lecture on Brazil, having spent 25 years in mission work there. He spoke of the large ground for missionaries, not only in Brazil, but in all South America. He proved himself to be a very interesting speaker. Reports from all the committees were then in order, and each and every one of them was very favorable.

The committee which has charge of the coming local convention to be held on May 30 is hard at work and expects to have some very interesting speakers for the occasion.

Calvary Baptist
Some three months ago the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Calvary Baptist church divided into two teams, known as the Reds and the Blues; their object being to see which of the two could bring in the larger number of new members in a given time. The enthusiasm developed to such an extent that it was decided the team to be declared the winner should be the guests of the losers at a supper and social. The contest closed recently and the Blues won out, and last night the members gathered in the vestry of the church and enjoyed themselves at the expense of the Reds. In all 46 new members were taken, which about doubles the membership of the organization.

The evening's program consisted of an address by Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., who spoke on the Christian Endeavor work, what it had done in the past and what was planned for it for the future. The musical program provided consisted of a violin duet by Harold Dows and Clifton Harrison, with Edward Dills as accompanist; song, Miss Ruth Bowen; song, Miss Sarah Clement; piano selections, Mrs. Trull, assisted by Louis Browning.

FOR ST. MARGARET'S BAZAAR

A very fine program has been prepared for tomorrow evening, at the Matthews hall on Dutton street by the M. T. I. table of the St. Margaret's parish bazaar. The committee seems to have secured some very fine musical and dramatic talent for the minstrel venture. The talent includes John X. Payne as director, and that is sufficient to guarantee a production of real musical and dramatic merit. The Children of Mary of the Immaculate Conception church, are to give a musical comedy in one act, and among the other vocalists are the Misses Margaret Cawley, Mollie Downey, Sadie Quinlan, Marie Cahill, Mary Curtin, Margaret Knowles, Kittle, McCartin, Anna Murphy and Mr. John M. Callrey.

ONE JUROR ILL

Trial of the Camorristi
Postponed

VITERBO, Italy, April 25.—The trial of the camorristi has been adjourned until Monday because of the illness of a juror who failed to appear when the session was to have been resumed today. The man is said to be suffering from influenza.

It is reported that the trial may be transferred to some other city because of dissatisfaction on the part of the jury.

Early in the proceedings the members petitioned the court for an increase in the fees allowed them but no response to their request has been made. Accordingly, it is said, that they are inclined to use obstructive measures. If one after the other is taken sick no further progress can be made under the present circumstances.

LABOR QUESTION

Discussed in Kitson Hall
Last Night

AT MEETING OF FEDERATION OF CHURCHES

Statement Made That Foreign Labor is Being Employed on New Y. M. C. A. Building to the Exclusion of Lowell Labor—Matter to be Investigated.

At a meeting of the Federation of Churches held last night in Kitson hall, Mr. C. E. Anderson representing the Swedish Congregational church and the Trades and Labor council, called the attention of the Federation to certain alleged conditions having to do with work on the new Y. M. C. A. building.

The statement has been made that men have been brought to Lowell to work on the building while Lowell laborers were looking for work. He asked for a committee from the Federation to cooperate with a similar committee from the Trades and Labor council, to investigate the matter.

Mr. Anderson was asked if any reason had been given for the importing of laborers. The only reason he knew was that the labor imported is cheaper than Lowell labor.

The meeting thought that the matter should be investigated. The building is being erected by money given by the people of Lowell and the work ought to be done by Lowell men who need work.

Mr. F. A. Bowen, who is a member of the Y. M. C. A. building committee, pointed out the fact that the question of employment of labor has passed out of the hands of that committee. Into the hands of the contractor, to whom the contract was awarded as the lowest bidder.

After several suggestions had been made, and a motion to leave the matter to the five fraternal delegates, with power to act in conjunction with a committee of five from the council, had been discussed, Mr. John J. Rogers of the Y. M. C. A. proposed a resolution to reduce the age limit to 18 years.

Rev. Donald H. Gerrish of Lynn was introduced, as representing the Inter-Church union of Lynn, and spoke briefly of the methods of work, the various committees and what they have accomplished in his city.

FIFTEEN BODIES

Have Been Taken From Coal Mine

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., April 25.—Fifteen bodies had been taken out of the Ott mine number 20 of the Davis Coal company at 10 o'clock today, victims of the disastrous explosion yesterday. Eight other bodies are supposed to be in the mine and the rescuers are trying to recover them. The bodies of 14 were found about one-half mile from the entrance. The bodies are badly mangled and identification will be difficult. This morning John Laing, chief of the West Virginia department of mines, stated an investigation into the cause of the accident. A special train arrived this morning, bringing Assistant Engineer T. L. Jones of the government bureau of mines station at Pittsburg, accompanied by First Aid Men Ryan and Davis.

Girl Escaped From Burning Building at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., April 25.—Miss Marie Oullette, a young woman of 18, made a dive from a second-story window of the old Amos Fletcher home, instead of the old Dunstable road after the house caught fire last evening and escaped serious injury. One of her hands was, however, badly cut when she broke the glass in the window. Joseph Mooney and Henry F. Luzzette, neighbors, were bringing a ladder to her when Miss Oullette became excited, smashed the glass in the window with her hands and leaped from the ladder which had been raised to the window. She was attended by Dr. Benjamin B. Moran.

The fire caught probably from a defective chimney in the rear of the main building. It was seen by the neighbors and Mrs. Joseph Mooney rushed across the road and notified the Oullette family. Mrs. Oullette remembered that her daughter was upstairs and went to tell her when the women found they were cut off by the flames. They ran to the window and the men got a ladder to rescue them. Mrs. Oullette was brought down the ladder in safety.

The Oullette family had just moved into the house and a family named Cole, which moved out Saturday, had some goods on the premises which were destroyed.

An alarm was sent to the city, two miles away by telephone and the central station chemical started for the scene. The blaze loomed up big and a call from box 72 at 7:45 o'clock sent the engines to the scene. Lines of hose 2000 feet long were laid from Littlefield machine shop. The barn was saved but the house is in ruins.

Mr. Oullette who is a railroad employee purchased the place, which was one of the finest farms in the neighborhood, recently for $2500. He estimates his loss $2000 with $1500 insurance. The live stock was rescued, but the only furniture saved was a piano, a chiffonier, two chairs and a table.

BIG SHAKE-UP

On Trolley Line is Postponed

The big shakeup on the Boston & Northern cars which was scheduled for yesterday did not take place as anticipated, but had to be postponed for another couple of weeks.

A couple of weeks ago every job on the road was put on a bid, the oldest men in the service having first pick. The changes were to take place last Sunday, but there was a little misunderstanding in the beginning and the results were that the bidding had to be started over again. It is expected, however, that everything will be settled within two weeks, and that each man will be assigned his proper car. The men are anxiously awaiting the assignments.

ANDREW CARNEGIE FROM HIS LATEST PHOTOGRAPH. COPYRIGHT BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, April 25.—District Attorney Whitman has had a consultation with Andrew Carnegie to ascertain what, if any, assurance the ironmaster gave officers of the Carnegie Trust company or of the state banking department that he would stand behind the trust company if it was allowed to remain open. The district attorney will arrange for Mr. Carnegie's appearance before the grand jury, which this week is going deeper into the causes that led the banking department to permit the Carnegie company to do business when its shaky condition was known generally among financiers. The angle of City Chamberlain Hyde's responsibility in the matter of depositing city cash in institutions that accommodated William J. Cummins and his friends with large loans has been taken up again by the grand jury, and Cummins and Joseph B. Reichmann were subpoenaed to appear again. Besides Mr. Carnegie, it is understood, his confidential man,

NEW DEVELOPMENTS AND ARRESTS IN LOS ANGELES TIMES DYNAMITE PLOT PROMISED

CHICAGO, April 25.—New developments of a sensational nature are promised in the Los Angeles Times dynamite plot laid bare by the alleged confession of Orville E. McManigal. William J. Burns, the former government detective, who arrested John J. McManama, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron workers, in Indianapolis, declares that "the surface has only been scratched" and does not attempt to conceal the fact that he expects several more arrests to be made. The alleged confession covered ninety pages, closely typewritten. It is said to have been made by McManigal, who was arrested in Detroit on Saturday their search. The confession, it is said, declares that James W. McNamara destroyed the Los Angeles Times building, killing twenty-one. Afterward when McManigal was sent to repeat the deed at the temporary plant of the Times, he found it too well guarded and turned his attention to the Llewellyn Iron works there. He told in detail, it is claimed, of the long laid and carefully perfected plans made for the destruction of the Times building, but insisted that he was not there, the guilty men, according to his confession, being his partners, McNamara, Kaplan and Schmidt. He freely admitted, it is alleged, that he and McNamara had "pulled off" the recent explosions in South Chicago, Milwaukee and Indianapolis.

IS NOT IN LOWELL

No Trace of Missing Marlboro Man Found Here

MARLBORO, April 25.—Councilman William A. Lynch offered an order at the meeting of the common council last night appropriating $100 from the contingent fund to be used in the search for William D. Hanley who disappeared last Thursday. The order was passed unanimously and will probably be confirmed by the board of aldermen at their meeting.

A number of clues were investigated yesterday, but unavailing, yet the residents of the city are still hopeful that Mr. Hanley will be found. The Foresters of America, of which Mr. Hanley was a member, sent notices to the firemen and the posse of citizens in the vicinity of the Whites Corner station of the Boston & Worcester street railway yesterday, has led to the belief that he is alive and uninjured.

City Marshal John S. Mitchell worked hard on the case yesterday, and sent requests broadcast for information in the matter. Thousands of cards bearing Mr. Hanley's picture and an adequate description were sent out by the police department. Chief Ranger Francis Dalton of Court Marlboro, Foresters of America, of which Mr. Hanley was a member, sent notices to 200 courts in the state, and Thomas F. Williams, Knights of Columbus, asked the council of Massachusetts to help in the search, and in addition made several visits out of the city to look up possible clues.

The police investigated information regarding Mr. Hanley's disappearance, which led to Fitchburg from two sources, and to Lowell.

Conductor Curtis of the New Haven railroad and H. P. Needham, former superintendent of streets in Clinton, now a traveling salesman, told the police that they saw a man in Fitchburg Saturday who answered the description of Mr. Hanley. Both saw the man near the American house at four o'clock. This clue is regarded as very valuable by John J. Hanley, a brother of the missing man.

Patrolman Hugh McNiff went to Fitchburg yesterday and spent several hours in that city, but he was unsuccessful. A number of residents of Marlboro continued the search yesterday and every effort will be made to solve the mysterious disappearance.

No Trace in Lowell

William D. Hanley, who is missing from Marlboro, has a brother Edward, and a sister living in Forge Village or Westford. They have found no trace of the missing brother. When a telephone message was received by Edward Hanley last night that a man resembling his brother had been seen in Lowell last Saturday, Mr. Hanley came to Lowell last night, but found that Representative Kilpatrick, who saw the stranger Saturday, was in Boston.

Miss Hanley says there is no place in this section where she thought her missing brother has gone.

Inquiry at the state infirmary in Tewksbury, the Lowell, St. John's and Lowell General hospitals here shows that no one giving the name of William D. Hanley or answering his description has applied for shelter or assistance since his reported disappearance.

THE PHILIPPINES MAN WAS KILLED

To be Made Issue by A Trench in Somerville Caved In WASHINGTON, April 25.—Representative Cox of Ohio is at the head of a movement of democratic congressmen to make the Philippines and their independence a party measure at this session of congress. At the next meeting of the majority caucus he will ask that a resolution calling on the war department for a statement showing what the islands have cost the United States since the American occupation be made a part of the majority program.

This resolution, Mr. Cox regards as an entering wedge toward naturalization of the islands.

"The Philippine situation," said Mr. Cox today, "is the most menacing before us. Wars of the future will be over lands of the Orient. If people could see what the Philippines have cost I am positive that the islands and their future would be accorded serious and immediate consideration. Naturalization of the islands could be arranged for by treaty."

FRENCH TROOPS

Preparing to Save Fez From Capture

PARIS, April 25.—The French forces in Morocco are concentrating to effect the relief of Fez, which brigands and rebels have surrounded and threaten to capture. Captain Brenond, who is in command of both the French division and the forces of the sultan, is attempting to reach Fez. He has been heard from as late as April 13. He reports his troops as being in good condition and the weather improving, permitting an early resumption of his march to Fez, which had been interrupted by floods. Meanwhile General Moliner, at Casablanca, has completed the preparations for mobilizing a mixed force of tribesmen. French troops and artillery, under Major Simon, which will start soon for Fez. Premier Monis, M. Bertheaux, minister of war; M. Cruppi, minister of foreign affairs, and the military chiefs had a long consultation, and it was decided to take further measures to hurry relief to the imperiled people at Fez and to save the sultan's palace at Fez from destruction.

BOSTON, April 25.—Buried beneath a ton of embankment, James F. Blute, 40 years of age, was so badly crushed while at work relaying a drain in a trench in an alley off Fitchburg street, Somerville, yesterday afternoon, that he died five minutes after his arrival at the Somerville hospital. Blute was dug out from the debris by his 17-year-old son, John J. Blute, and Coleman Norton, a laborer, of 7 Dix place, Somerville.

Blute was at work in the trench, which was about six feet deep, shortly before 4 o'clock, when, without warning, a tone of solid earth caved in on him. His cries attracted the attention of his son and a Norton, who were working a short distance behind him in the trench. They hurried to his aid.

Medical Examiner Durell viewed the body at the hospital and pronounced death due to a fracture of the ribs and the crushing of his son and Norton, who resided at 1 Chestnut street and leaves a widow and seven children.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me."

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANEZKI, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

AT MADERO'S CAMP

Choice of Peace Commissioners Awaited With Interest

EL PASO, Texas, April 25.—Interest in the peace situation at General Madero's camp today is centered in the hope that word may come from the Mexican government of the appointment of its commissioners for the conference at which it seems almost certain terms of peace in Mexico will be agreed upon. The insurrection commander, it is understood, is ready to announce his appointees as soon as the government representatives are named.

The Madero family, it is generally understood, regard El Paso as the convenient meeting place for the peace commissioners. The meeting place, however, will probably be announced simultaneously with the names of the commissioners.

Peace negotiations, it is said, will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the situation both in the insurrection camp and in Juarez. Even General Navarro, of martial mien and ferocious whiskers, is gentle as a lamb nowadays, according to tips from the Mexican city. The federal commander, it is said, has a smile and a cheery word for everyone, including the once-hated reporters. His cane swings jauntily as he makes his inspections and there is a coin for each beggar who besets his path. At odd moments he opens the prison gates to free some unfortunate—generally a harmless individual whose "viva" misdirected from the federal viewpoint, aroused official ire only a few days ago.

Apparently the only ones disturbed by the present situation in this part of Mexico—so lately the storm center—are the Mormons at Colonia Dublan. According to advices from Casas Grandes most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point when the insurrection advanced on Juarez and in their search for pasture many Mormon farms have suffered. At least a thousand horses are grazing in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, it is declared.

All public gatherings in the evenings have been discontinued in Colonia Dublan and Colonia Juarez.

DIAZ EXPECTS PEACE

NEW YORK, April 25.—President Diaz of Mexico has addressed the following cable dispatch to the Associated Press:

"Mexico City, April 25, 1911. 'I reply to your message in which you ask me concerning the actual situation in this country. I am convinced that conditions of peace, interrupted for the moment, will return to Mexico and that all Mexicans will unite with the single purpose of furthering the development and progress of the country. (Signed) 'Porfirio Diaz.'"

SHOT IN THE ARM

Young Man Was Loading a Gun

RUTLAND, Vt., April 25.—Walter B. Kelley, aged 18, manager of the Rex mercantile agency, with offices in the Quinn building, was accidentally shot through the left arm last night just before 6 o'clock.

Mr. Kelley was in his room at the Elmore hotel, where he has lived since last fall, and according to his story, he was trying to fit into a gun some new cartridges which he purchased a short time ago. One of these he had in the gun and the butt of the rifle was resting on the edge of the bureau when it was suddenly discharged. He fell to the floor and called for help. He was able to stand and walk to the head of the stairs.

Other guests of the hotel rushed to his room and they claimed that Kelley said he had attempted to commit suicide, but this he denied. After the physicians arrived the boy was removed to the hospital.

RAILROADS LOSE DIVISION 8, A. O. H.

Land Forfeited to the Government

Celebrated Its 20th Anniversary

PORTLAND, Ore., April 25.—Federal Judge Charles F. Wolverton decided yesterday that the Southern Pacific and the Oregon & California railroad companies must forfeit to the U. S. government about 200,000 acres of land which is valued at $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. The case will probably be appealed.

Interpreting the act of congress granting the land as an aid to railway construction the court held that congress intended that this land should be sold to bona fide settlers in tracts of not more than 160 acres to one individual and at a price not exceeding $2.50 an acre.

Although he decided in favor of the government, Judge Wolverton decided against the 5000 individual interveners in the case. He held that they had acquired no right whatever, either by settling on the land or by tendering the maximum sums specified by the law.

The effect of this portion of the decision is that the lands cannot be procured by an individual until the president or congress again opens them to entry. The 67 entrymen who had gone upon the land as settlers before the suits of the government began also lose their claims and gained no advantage whatever by their period of settlement.

In brief, the question raised by the Southern Pacific company was whether congress had the power to make a subsequent act precedent to the rights conferred in an original grant. The suit was instituted in 1908 by Atty. Gen. Bonaparte on receipt of a memorial by the Oregon legislature to congress that the Southern Pacific company, successor to the Oregon & California railway company, had forfeited its rights to a grant of land in Oregon and Washington. The company was said to have refused to sell the land as provided in the grant.

Division 8, A. O. H., observed its 20th anniversary in Hibernian hall, last evening with an attendance of over 400 members and guests.

Among the guests of honor present were County President James J. Har- old, of Waltham; Rev. William

DANIEL F. REILLY, President Division 8, A. O. H.

O'Brien, P. R., chaplain of the five local divisions of the order, Mayor John F. Meahan and others.

The exercises were opened by President David F. Reilly of Division 8 who after a speech of welcome introduced John W. McEvoy as toastmaster of the evening. The following interesting program was then carried out:

Piano selection, Elzear Bissonnette; song, James McNulty; remarks, Rev. William O'Brien, of St. Patrick's church; remarks, County President James J. Harold of Waltham; remarks, Hon. John F. Meahan; recitation, Frank J. Higgins; song, James E. Donnelly; remarks, Rev. John F. Flynn, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. Fr. Herbert, one of the Passionist fathers who are conducting a two weeks' mission at St. Patrick's church; remarks, Superintendent Redmond Welch; recitation, Dennis Brazil and others. During the evening refreshments were served and cigars passed around.

The committee in charge of the evening's affair consisted of President Daniel F. Reilly, Michael J. Rogers, Thomas Dorsey, Patrick Mahoney, John Barrett, John McGarry and John Murray.

The officers of Division 8 at the present time are: President, Daniel F. Reilly; vice president, Michael Rogers; recording secretary, Charles F. McGowan; financial secretary, Thomas Dorsey; treasurer, Nicholas Soraghan.

There are about 450 members in the division at the present time and conditions generally are most encouraging.

Boston Bill Reported to Legislature

BOSTON, April 25.—The legislative committee on metropolitan affairs, with only one dissenter, Representative Newton of Boston, yesterday reported a bill to create a metropolitan Boston to the senate.

The measure is a compromise between the advocates of federation and its opponents. It seeks to give Boston the commercial advantage of an official statistical rating of the metropolitan district, but leaves out the provision for federation with a metropolitan council.

The bill, which was reported for the committee by Senator Stearns of Middlesex on the petitions of March G. Bennett and George E. Lothrop follows:

"Section 1. The cities and towns which are included within the metropolitan park district, or the metropolitan water district, or in all of them, and such other cities and towns as may hereafter be joined to either or all of said districts, shall constitute Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 2. The bureau of statistics shall compile and publish every fifth year, or oftener if the head of said bureau shall deem it advisable, the combined statistics of population, valuation, commerce, manufactures and all other accessible statistics, whether from the national or state census, of said metropolitan Boston, under the title of Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; and in all of the publications of the bureau in which the separate statistics of the cities and towns constituting Metropolitan Boston appear, the totals of all such statistics shall also appear as the Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; provided, however, that the publication of these statistics shall not interfere in any way with the publication of the statistics of any of the individual communities constituting said Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Shoes at Cost Plus 5 Per Cent.

More About the Regal Shoe Co.'s Plan of Scientific and Economical Shoe-Selling

There is a bill before Congress to authorize the coinage of the half-cent

The advocates of this bill say that a half-cent coin would save the public hundreds of dollars a year. Prices like 6½ cents, 12½ cents, 37½ cents, are common in the dry-goods shops. But if you buy only one yard of a 37½ cent muslin, you must pay 38 cents. If you buy a half-a-yard of 35 cent muslin you must pay, not 17½ cents, but 18 cents. So, the use of the half-cent is urged as a measure of economy.

If it is wise to split a cent, how much wiser to split half dollars?

If the public has lost thousands through the lack of a half-cent, how many millions has the public lost because there was no coin of less value than the half-dollar recognized in shoe stores?

Think a moment and you will see that this is a fact. Have you ever seen a fine shoe of standard make regularly sold at any other price than full dollars or half dollars—$3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, and so on?

Standard shoes have always been made to fit these arbitrary prices, fixed in advance. Why? We don't know—except that it is a trade custom, which is no reason at all.

Anyhow, the Regal Shoe Co. have abolished that custom

They have put the selling of shoes on to the same exact, scientific, economical basis that governs the pricing of most other necessities of life, and which ought to govern all of them.

Regal Shoes will hereafter be priced at cost of making, plus five per cent. commission and the cost of selling.

Regals will be made in several general price-classes, but the actual price of every model will be figured as above by certified public accountants. AND STAMPED ON THE SHOES AT THE FACTORY.

The price will be stamped just as it figures out (except that there will be no splitting nickels). It may be an "odd" price, like $3.85, $4.35, etc.—or it may be an "even" price, like $4.00, $4.50, etc. Whatever it really figures, you will pay. There will be no "juggling" either of the shoes or the prices to make the latter conform to tradition.

This is the Stamp

This stamp is your guarantee or full Regal quality at the lowest price for which such quality can be bought. It takes all the uncertainty, all the unknown profits, all the unnecessary expense out of shoe buying.

It is your guarantee that the LARGEST POSSIBLE PROPORTION of the price you pay is returned in leather and workmanship.

In Regal Shoes MORE OF YOUR MONEY WILL GO FOR SHOE SATISFACTION and LESS FOR SOME ONE'S PROFIT than in any other make you can buy.

In Regal Shoes you get what you want, and pay only for what you get

If a heavier sole, worth 20 cents more, is put into a Regal Shoe that would otherwise sell for $4.00, the price of that shoe will be $4.20. Under the old system further and unnecessary expense had to be added also, to bring the retail price up to $4.50.

If leather goes up, you will pay us only the exact amount of the advance. If leather goes down, you now automatically save 95 per cent. of whatever the Regal factories save. Heretofore, small economies in factory cost could seldom save you anything.

If a new Regal model is designed that can be sold at, say, $4.35, it will be sold at $4.35. Under the old system, either the shoe had to be trimmed down to make it cost $4.00, or unnecessary expense added to make it cost $4.50.

Regal Prices Are Now $3.35 to $5.85

chairman, sent out the following statement regarding the measure:

"The metropolitan affairs committee yesterday reported to the legislature a new 'real Boston' bill. This is the result of a compromise between the 'real Boston' committee of the Boston chamber of commerce and the special committee representing the cities and town in opposition.

"The chamber of commerce has abandoned the metropolitan council idea entirely, and the communities in opposition for their part have assented to the application of the title 'metropolitan Boston' to the cities and towns in the district for statistical purposes.

"The new bill provides that the state bureau of statistics shall tabulate the statistics of the district once in five years. It is understood that the federal census bureau at Washington will note this new condition in its census tabulations. There is no provision for any governmental function of any sort, all of which brings harmony among all parties interested.

BOARD OF CENSORS

A committee of six Lawrence citizens has been constituted a board of censors to watch and commend or criticize the action of the city council. They are to attend every meeting and pass judgment upon the action taken. Why is not that a good method of training for public office? The board of censors or some of them may become candidates later on and if elected they will have an illustration of the difference there is between acting on public matters as responsible public officials and passing judgment as outside and irresponsible parties upon the acts of such officials. The irresponsible censor board can dish out hot air and nobody cares except the officials criticized, whether the opinions expressed are right or wrong.

TO KEEP OUT FOREIGN CRIMINALS

There are several bills before congress, the object of which is to restrict or regulate immigration. There is a pretty general desire to adopt some sifting process by which the criminally inclined will be kept out. We have had far too many Black Hand artists, too many men who use the dip and the revolver without cause, too many highwaymen who commit desperate deeds, rob banks and hold up railroad trains. How these can be singled out and excluded is a difficult problem to solve. England has adopted the plan of admitting men of suspicious type only under bonds that they will observe the law. Such a law in this country would be almost prohibitive and would moreover be impossible of enforcement. There are other schemes under consideration, and it is likely that some plan will be adopted that will lessen the number of the classes that have proved most troublesome in the past.

MEXICAN PEACE PROBABLE

Let us hope the armistice between the belligerents in Mexico will result in permanent peace. That the insurgents have had some cause for raising the standard of revolt against the Diaz administration is generally admitted. The fighting that has taken place has been sufficient to impress upon President Diaz and his cabinet that he cannot continue to carry things with the high hand that he has done in the past. He has a chance now to make an honorable peace, and if he does not embrace the opportunity, he may have to enter a new conflict in which the chances will be strongly against him. Uncle Sam has satisfied his warlike curiosity in the matter by demonstrating to the world how quickly he can mobilize a considerable army at a given point. He, too, we presume, should be ready to quit although when soldiers are mobilized in great haste at a point where fighting is in progress they do hate to hang around for several weeks and even months without permission to fire a shot. They will return disappointed, but nations are not allowing their armies to fight for fun these days. Thus far there has been no breach of neutrality or of the laws of "civilized warfare" that would justify the United States in intervention. American interests along the border in the region of hostilities have been pretty well safeguarded, and that alone will vindicate the mobilization of our troops. If a satisfactory peace be concluded during the armistice arranged for, there will be good reason for rejoicing on all sides, for while the rebellion did not entirely succeed it has so shaken up things in Mexico that the desired reforms must come, no matter who shall remain in power.

THE OILING OF STREETS

The question of laying the dust on many of our public streets with some process of oiling is one that may well receive careful study from the superintendent of streets. It is remembered what a nuisance the dust on the newly paved streets has been during the past two years. Frequent use of the watering cart does not seem to lay the dust very long at a time. The action of vehicles of all kinds on the surface dressing of the smooth paved streets sets free a considerable quantity of dust. Being over a hard surface, this dust dries readily, when wet and is soon lifted into the air by the slightest breeze or even by the wheels of an automobile.

There are various problems to be solved in connection with the oiling of streets. For macadamized streets it is usually the most effective and most permanent method of laying the dust. Whether it can be successfully used on a surface so hard as that of the new smooth paving laid in Lowell, remains to be determined. We have had some trouble over the damage to ladies' dresses caused by the splashing of oil by the wheels of autos skidding on the hard oily surface. That is one of the dangers that must be provided against in the case of oiled streets. The oiling process is successful only where the street surface absorbs the oil. For this reason the hard surface is usually treated with thin or light oils.

Various cities not any bigger than our own have oiling apparatus so that they can choose between oil and water for any particular street. The oil, of course, is more expensive and the cost must be provided for in a proper manner. In some cities it is paid for by the abutters and is far more satisfactory than a poor sprinkler service for which there is an unreasonable charge. There are so many oiling companies and so many different kinds of oiling machines that this street oiling problem is one that will stand considerable investigation; yet a city like Lowell will find all the information it needs within a radius of fifty miles. Boston, Providence, Worcester and other New England cities have done enough in this line to enlighten others in regard to material, methods and expense of oiling streets. It is a real pleasure to ride on some of the metropolitan and state highways when so thoroughly oiled that the surface is saturated, and there is no indication either of dust or of superfluous oil. It is possible that by judicious selection of machines and oil with skill in application, some streets can be oiled almost as cheaply as watered by the present system against which there are many complaints.

It is found that when oiled, macadamized streets last much longer than if watered by sprinklers. The oil causes the surface to remain intact and to cohere rather than disintegrate under the wheels of vehicles. In fine the oil treatment of streets is one of such importance that we cannot much longer afford to let it go by default.

SEEN AND HEARD

"If the stream had no quiet eddying place, could we so admire its cascade over the rocks? Were there no clouds, could we so hail the sky shining through them in its still calm purity?"

When a feller goes a-huntin' for a rose
He shouldn't be a-thinkin' of the thorn;
He must woo it, he must win it—
Where his heart beats he must pin it—
An' breathe the breath that's in it
When a feller goes a-huntin' for a rose
He shouldn't see the thorn beneath its breast,
But for all its thorny foes,
Red and reckless—one poor rose
Is sweet enough, God knows,
For the best,
Frank L. Stanton.

A New York physician told me this story of a precocious little girl of ten. She is the daughter of an attractive lady of society whom the family doctor—a young man—was attending, for influenza. He felt her pulse gravely and tenderly, holding her wrist after the orthodox manner of a doctor. As he sat beside her in the drawing room, as he did so he became aware that the child had her great gray eyes full of inquiry, fixed upon him.

"You don't know what I am doing, my little lady?" said the medical man lightly to the interested little miss.

"Yes, I do," was the prompt and positive reply.

"And what may that be, pray?" continued the doctor.

"Well, if you want me to tell you, you are making love to mamma!"

NO, HE CAN NOT

A man can grow forests, both deep and wide.
Luxurious birches and pines;
He can grow oak trees with the greatest of ease,
And acres of shrubs and vines.
He can grow choice fruits on the topmost boughs,
On which the nations are fed;
But he can't grow a thorn on the little bald patch
On the top of his all-bone head.

"FOOTSTEPS ON THE STAIRS"
I miss them now—those little feet,
That used to come so oft;
The little voice that used to speak
So sweet, so soft, so oft.
And now, when I am all alone,
Engrossed in daily cares,
I listen, but 'tis all in vain,
For 'footsteps on the stairs.'"

For when I read, or sing, or play,
Or join in pleasures sweet,
I seem to see her glad and gay,
And I miss those little feet.
It is hard to think she's gone,
With all her winking eyes,
To think I never more shall hear
Her 'footsteps on the stairs.'"

The golden curls still cluster round
That brow so white and clear;
And on her face now pale and cold,
I've shed too many a tear.
The lids have dropped o'er those blue eyes.

Death's icy seal is there;
"Tis he that has forever hushed
Those 'footsteps on the stairs.'"

I know her feet are walking now,
The shining, gleaming of heaven;
I know that the dear dear one's brow
A golden crown is given.
I'm thankful that she is at rest,
Safe from earth's sinful snares;
Yet still I weep and pause to hear
The 'footsteps on the stairs.'"

FREE LIST BILL

Will Cause Long Debate, According to Leaders in Congress

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The tariff again holds the attention of congress. It made its appearance today in the shape of the free list bill, which was called up just before adjournment yesterday and which threatens to lead to almost endless debate before it finally is passed along to the senate. Leaders on both sides of the house foresee long days of talk ahead. That the measure will pass is generally conceded, but it will not command the heavy toll of republican votes given to the Canadian reciprocity measure. Amendments already are beginning to pour in and efforts are being made by free trade democrats to enlarge the scope of the measure. While the senate was not in session today, interest centered in the executive session of the republican committee on committees which is striving to heal the differences over committee assignments between the regular and progressive members of the party in that body. Chairman Callinger today hoped he could report the assignments Thursday.

COLLEGE WOMEN

Not Many Plan to Marry

CHICAGO, April 25.—Two per cent. or less of the younger women students in the junior classes of the university of Chicago are planning to marry according to a canvass made by Miss Marian Talbot, dean, in the annual report of President Henry P. Judson, submitted yesterday. The canvass included 96 women in the freshman and sophomore classes chosen from the beginning of the alphabetical lists. Fifteen of these interviewed refused, to tell what they were going to do when they graduated.

More than half declared that they were going to teach. President Judson, in concluding his own report said that it would not be surprising if some "quite startling changes in the organization of the American college came to pass."

"The history of the American college," he said, "has shown an interesting and peculiar development resulting from social conditions in our country. The great development of the physical sciences and the social sciences, the introduction of the elective system, the growth of large colleges and the organization of technical work, all have tended to create totally different conditions from those in the earlier years of the colleges."

"In the meantime the form of the old organization is being continued without being adapted to new requirements. The American college problem as it exists in the opening decades of the 20th century has not yet been solved and needs a careful and intelligent study."

A PUBLIC PARK AT ST. ANTHONY'S

Centralville Brought to Close

The following petition was filed in the city clerk's office this morning by ex-Alderman John H. Beaulieu:

"To His Honor, the Mayor, and to the City Council:

We, the undersigned citizens and residents of Centralville, respectfully petition your honorable body that land be purchased to provide a public park and playground for that rapidly growing section of Lowell."

The petition is headed with the signature of Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis parish, and bears about 500 names including all the business men of that district and a large number of the voters.

The movement for a park in West Centralville was started at the Centralville Social club some time ago and the following committee was appointed to look over the possibilities of a public park in that part of the city: President, John H. Beaulieu; Calliste Lequin and Joseph Ely.

The members of the committee had an interview with the park commissioners and after being advised by the latter, a petition was circulated among the citizens of West Centralville. The spot which seemed to be favored by the petitioners is that tract of land extending from the Allen street bridge to Beaver brook. The council may be asked to act upon the petition tonight.

The devotion of the 40 hours was brought to a close this morning. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Mesquita of Fall River, assisted by Rev. J. V. Rosa, deacon; Rev. Fr. Toledo of Fall River, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father Terra of Provincetown, master of ceremonies. St. Cecilia's mass was sung by the choir. At the offertory "Ave Verum" was sung by Mrs. Hugh Walker. After the chanting of the litany of the saints, a procession of the blessed sacrament was held, preceded by altar boys, sanctuary choir boys and the members of the Blessed Sacrament sodality. Solemn benediction closed the service. Miss Lulu Glynn presided at the organ.

BRILLIANT GAME

Marked Opening of Season at Spalding Park

Pitcher Yount Wins His Own Game Against Worcester — Street Parade, Flag Raising and Presentation Preceded the Game

The N. E. league baseball season of 1911 opened auspiciously yesterday afternoon and everybody whether he was a fan or not felt better after hearing the band and seeing the ball players, for it convinced them that notwithstanding the fact that old winter appears to be glued to the lap of spring, better days are coming and the opening of the baseball season is the surest evidence of their approach.

Everybody was on his mettle in the team and among the management today, for it is a fact that the Lowell team never started a season with brighter prospects. The fans are red hot and the team that will open the season is the best looking from a baseball standpoint that Lowell has seen in many seasons. Then again up to today the weather has been most discouraging, but the sun came out today and spread warmth over the land and into the hearts of the management, while the wind went hence, leaving a most delightful calm. Shortly after noon the ball players and the Lowell Cadet band, John J. Giblin, leader, assembled in front of the Hildreth building in which the office of the Lowell team is located and at 12:30, the crowd took autos and started away, headed by the band. In the first auto were Secretary O'Donnell of the Worcester Baseball Assn., the Old War Horse Jesse Burkett in uniform, Andrew Roche and James J. Kennedy, owners of the team, and Manager Gray. The next auto, a brand new Overland, contained the local baseball critics, and then came the players of both teams.

The line of march was up Central to Middlesex, counter march at South through Central to Merrimack, to Moody, to Worthen, to Merrimack and back to Merrimack square. At the square the ball players were the guests of the management at dinner in Putnam's restaurant, after which they returned to the grounds with the band.

Upon arriving at the grounds the two teams indulged in half an hour's practice, while the crowd continued to pour in. At 2:45 o'clock the band and both teams formed in line and marched to the flagpole in center field, where a large new American flag was raised. As the flag was pulled to the top of the pole by Manager James J. Gray, the band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and everyone present uncovered.

When the teams marched back to the grandstand Umpire Jack Stafford announced that Mayor Meehan of this city would pitch the first ball and Mayor O'Connell of Fitchburg would catch it.

Five minutes later the members of both teams gathered in front of the grandstand and Michael J. Markham, exalted ruler of Lowell lodge of Elks, presented Manager Gray with a handsome traveling bag and a bouquet as a gift of his friends in Lowell lodge of Elks. During the presentation the band played "Auld Lang Syne."

Present at the game were a number of out-of-town people, including Mayor O'Connell and a number of members of the city council of Fitchburg, the royal rooster, Michael Regan of Boston, Patrick Dowd, sporting writer of the Worcester Telegram, and a large collection of old time fans. There were about 2000 in attendance when the game started.

Game in Detail

Worcester scored one run in the first inning while Lowell went out in one, two, three order. Noblett was the first man up for the visitors and he singled between first and second. Russell bunted to Boultles who threw him out at first. Page, who was out at first, bunted for third and when Marsh threw had to third Noblett scored. Crum got a free pass. Page hit to Boultles who threw to Moulton getting Crum at second. In an attempt to make a double play Moulton threw ball to first and Page went to second. Bunting hit to Yount and was out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton struck out. Barrows drew a base on balls and tried to steal second, but was nailed by O'Neill. Cooney was third on a fly to Russell.

Score 0, Worcester 1.

Second Inning

In the second inning Groh hit one to Boultles who made a one hand stop and threw the runner out at first. Haas hit to Yount and Cooney fielded the ball to first in time to get the runner. O'Neill hit to Moulton and was out at first.

For Lowell Magee singled to center and took second on Fluharty's sacrifice. Marsh struck out and Boultles hit to Groh and was thrown out at first.

Score, Lowell 0, Worcester 1.

Third Inning

Ridgeway died out to Moulton. Noblett sent a grounder to Moulton and was thrown out at first, and Russell sent an easy one to Yount and was retired at first.

The fans had a chance to cheer when Loust got a base on balls and went to second on Yount's sacrifice. Moulton hit to Noblett and was out at first, but Huston took third. Barrows drove out a pretty single and Huston scored. Cooney struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Worcester 1.

Fourth Inning

DIAMOND NOTES

Worcester today.

A brilliant opening.

The weather couldn't have been better if it made to order.

The ladies turned out in goodly numbers.

Secretary Jake Morse arrived late but was in at the finish. Royal Rooter Mike Regan came up from Boston with Umpire Stafford and was present for the entire proceedings. He was the guest of Jack Healey, "Mitchell the Tailor."

Mayor O'Connell and a party of 10 from the city council of Fitchburg laid aside their official cares and autored to Lowell to see the fun. They were entertained by Mayor Meehan and Sec. Blordan.

"Daddy-Long-Legs" Yount certainly won his own game yesterday. He allowed only five hits and three bases on balls, accepted nine fielding chances without an error, made a two-bagger in the 11th, and scored the winning run, which is going some for a pitcher.

Marsh, who played first, came here with Yount on the latter's recommendation. His two-baggers were evidence that he can handle the stick. His errors were due, one to the sun and the other to his anxiety to make a quick play.

Exalted Ruler Mike Markham appears to have lost his eloquence since he got out of politics. No one could hear him when he presented the gifts to Manager Gray. Some years ago in the common council when there was a severe loan or a street department appropriation under fire Mike's eloquence fairly burned up the air.

The appearance of Jake Boultles on third surprised many of the fans as they expected to see Gates on the bag. Jake fielded beautifully but he wasn't very strong at the bat.

After Moulton settles down and overcomes his anxiety to make double plays he'll fit finely. He has the goods but was a bit nervous yesterday.

Little Billy Page made two kicks when he struck out twice but neither was justified for Yount sent them up finely to him and he missed them.

Little Jack Stafford, with the strenuous voice, was a welcome figure to the fans. Jack is a good umpire and there's no mistaking what he says for he's on them all for voice and articulation.

Steve O'Neill, the likely-looking catcher of the Worcester team, was bought by Burkett from Connie Mack and only arrived with the team yesterday. He showed up finely. One guarantee that Mack made on him was that he'd throw with any cat in the New England league. He did get them down to second nicely yesterday.

Old Jess Burkett appears to be changing his disposition. He carried a smiling countenance throughout the game and didn't say a cross word throughout. Some of the fans failed to recognize him, he behaved so nicely.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The City league baseball schedule of games for next Saturday is as follows: Pawtucket Greys vs. Y. M. C. A. 3d team; Shawlights vs. Echols; Pawtucket Whites vs. Riversides, Beavers vs. Alerts.

In the second division the games were: Crusaders vs. Buffaloes; Prospects vs. Nationals A. C.; Rocklands vs. Rangers; Bellevues vs. Chipewags; Heatlers vs. Belle Groves. Five of these teams have not yet turned in their lists of players.

BOXING GOSSIP

Champion Wolgast, who meets "Ono-Round" Hogan in New York Wednesday night, feels pretty certain that he will gain the popular decision over the Californian. Should Hogan and that Caracanian, who is his dangerous punch, he might upset the prediction of the sports. It is good betting that the champion will not let Hogan put it on him, however. If Wolgast goes out to give Hogan a lacing he should be able to do so.

Tommy Quill of Brockton makes another appearance in Syracuse, Wednesday night, when he boxes Hugh Ross, who the sports of that city figure as a coming champion.

Blink McCloskey and Young Loughrey of Philadelphia, who are well known in this section, as they have boxed in Boston many times, are booked for a bout in Paris, Wednesday night. Both boxers and their managers are close friends.

Young Jasper, the promising Italian lightweight, is to meet Johnny Gallant at Adams, Thursday night. It should be a good bout.

The Armory A. A. Boston, holds its monthly amateur boxing show, Friday night. The three open classes will be 115, 135 and 145 pounds. As there are a number of good boys at those weights, a big entry list is expected.

In one of the specialties, John Serrino, amateur heavyweight champion, will probably meet one of the crack amateur heavyweights of New York, and in another of the specialties, John Fisher of New York, who won the 145-pound amateur championship this year, will most likely meet Pasquale DeLuca of this city.

Matty Baldwin is billed to meet Leach Cross in New York, Friday night. They met last May and Baldwin lost a well-earned victory by being disqualified by the referee. The referee was discharged by the club. Cross is boxing well now and Baldwin will have a hard battle.

How good Cyclone Thompson has become since he went to Australia will be shown Friday night, when he meets Hugo Kelly in Racine. When Thompson got an award over Papke in Australia, he at once laid claim to the title of middleweight champion. None of the Americans can figure Thompson in the same class with Papke and whether er their opinion is correct will be known after he meets Kelly. The latter has recovered from the sickness he had when he was here and is boxing as good as the night he defeated Klaus.

Jimmy Gardner meets Bob Moha of Milwaukee in that city, Friday night. While Moha is a hard proposition, still the cleverness of Gardner should offset the ruggedness of his opponent.

Jack Lester, the "Hope" that Tommy Burns unearthed in Seattle, is booked to meet Bill Lang in Sydney, Australia, Saturday.

Sam Langford, who went to his old home in Weymouth, N. S., last week to see his father, returned to Boston yesterday. He expects to meet his manager, Joe Woodman, who is due back from England today.

But Masterston, the well-known New York sporting man and writer, declares that the recent bout between Packey McFarland and Tommy Murphy in New York was a "frame-up."

The election of Carter Harrison as mayor of Chicago has not helped the boxing game in that city as the sports figured it would. The mayor says that the lid on the game will not be taken off until the legislature votes to do so.

Although Packey McFarland has accepted the terms of the National sporting club of London to meet Matt Wells, champion of England, May 29, he failed to meet the club's representative in New York to sign the articles. He is given till today to do so. If he again fails to appear, he will not only lose the chance to meet Wells, but will never get another chance to box at the London club.

20TH SEASON ON

Good Weather Greeted Opening of N. E. League

BOSTON, April 25.—Spring weather favored the 20th opening of the New England Baseball league season in four Massachusetts cities yesterday. Automobile parades, music and the presence of high city officials featured the opening exercises, but from the standpoint of the "fans" the best thing was the sharp and close play that characterized the first games. Two of the home teams came off victorious. Lowell fought 11 hard innings to down Jesse Burkett's Worcester team, 3 to 2, while the New Bedford champions nosed out Lynn, 7 to 6. Haverhill and Fall River were the losers at home, Brockton beating Haverhill 5 to 2, and Lawrence defeating Fall River, 4 to 1.

COMPANY G WON

DEFEATED COMPANY M'S TEAM AT BASKETBALL

The Company G basketball team trounced the team representing Company M by a score of 30 to 5 at the state armory in Westford street last night. There was no doubt as to the result of the game five minutes after the whistle blew; for it could be seen at a glance that G's men were playing a faster and snappier game than their opponents. This being their last league game leaves them undisputed champions of the Armory A. A. as they have not lost a single one of the league games played.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Called to Meet in Special Session
This EveningThe Mayor Has Nominated Three Assistant Fire Department Engineers—Sealer of Weights and Measures Has Moved His Office

The re-appointment of Edward M. Alway as assistant fire department engineer was held at the city clerk's office by Mayor Meehan this forenoon.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tonight and all of the mayor's appointments including the assistant fire engineers, George C. Evans, for registrar of voters, and John Hallowood, smoke inspector, will go to the alderman for confirmation. The law requires that the assistant engineers shall be appointed and confirmed on or before May 1.

Weights and Measures
John W. Stott, sealer of weights and measures, has moved his office from Railroad street to a room in the old Mann school. Mr. Stott went to the school board for permission to use a room in the Mann school and the board, at its last meeting, voted him that permission. Mayor Meehan received official notice of the change this forenoon. Mayor Meehan was anxious that the change should be made as he had received a number of complaints to the effect that the office of the sealer of weights and measures was too far out of the way in Railroad street.

He Enjoyed It
The following letter from an old veteran who joined in the celebration in Lowell on Patriots day is self-explanatory:

Salem Depot, N. H., April 24, 1911.
Hon. John P. Meehan, Mayor and City Government of Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sirs—The recent celebration in your city in honor of the Old Sixth regiment is to me a day long remembered, and I most cordially thank you and your associates for the great time you gave "us dear old boys." Certainly, Lowell in patriotism and men competent to produce and handle such a celebration, was in evidence on that day. My wish is, Mr. Mayor, that the 100th anniversary of the regiment's passing through Baltimore, may be witnessed by you and your colleagues who had a hand in making the one just passed the success it was.

Yours truly,
William P. Gilmore,
D company, Old Sixth Mass. Regt. and
L company, Third Mass. Cavalry.

Building Permits
Building permits and permits for additions and alterations are in great demand at the office of the inspector of buildings at city hall and an unusual number of permits for minor improvements, additions, alterations, etc., have been issued within the last week or ten days. Towhey has been granted a permit to build a house 27 by 56 feet, in Stevens street between D and E streets. The house will be two and one-half stories and the estimated cost is $3500.

LARCENY CHARGED

Two Young Men Arraigned in Police Court Today

Frank Johnson and Archibald Campbell, two young men, were arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of $12 in money from George Piper of Carlisle. The defendants, through their counsel, J. Stuart Murphy, entered pleas of not guilty. Frederick A. Fisher appeared for the government.

It was alleged by the government that while Piper was under the influence of liquor he was driven to a point in the vicinity of Robbins Hill in Chelmsford, where he was relieved of his money. The defendants made their escape and were later arrested in Bedford. Johnson admitted that he drank more of the whiskey than Campbell did. Johnson's testimony, with a few exceptions, was practically the same as that offered by Campbell. Johnson testified that after he and Piper had drunk about half of the contents of the bottle purchased in Chelmsford, they got into an argument relative to their fighting qualities. The result of the fight was that Piper struck Johnson. Johnson said he did not pay any attention to that blow, but when he followed up with another, Johnson felt that it was time to protect himself and accordingly he mixed it up with Piper. Johnson denied that he saw or took any money belonging to Piper. Witness said he had $23 in his pockets when he left his employer's house on the morning of the 19th.

Frank J. Beal of Carlisle said that Johnson had been in his employ since the first of November and he always found him to be an honest and industrious young man. Warren C. Durham, of Carlisle, for whom Campbell worked, testified to the latter's habits. Counsel in the case argued and Mr. Fisher in concluding his argument stated that he felt probable cause should be found in the case of Johnson, but would recommend the discharge of Campbell.

The court, after considering the evidence in the case, said he did not think that either of the defendants had any intent of robbing the complainant when they met on the road, and declining jurisdiction, found probable cause in the case of Johnson and held him under $400 bonds for the next court. In the case of Campbell the court failed to find probable cause and was discharged.

Six Months in Jail
William L. Roberts, an elderly man, who was recently found guilty of being drunk, came into court this morning for sentence, and Judge Hadley after considering the matter sentenced Roberts to six months in jail. An appeal was entered.

Case Continued
The case of Ernest Poulin, charged with failing to provide proper support for his wife, was continued till Friday at the request of counsel.

Violated Milk Laws
James B. Arthur pleaded guilty to selling cream without a license and the minimum fine of $10 was imposed.

Sent to State Farm
Alphonse Landry pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with being drunk. Patrolman Lamoureux said he arrested Landry at the corner of Moody and Hanover streets about 2:30 o'clock last Friday morning; that the latter was in a drunken condition and that it was found necessary to send him to the city farm for treatment. Judge Hadley after offering advice to Landry, sentenced him to the state farm.

Suspended Sentence
Alfred Morse was charged with being drunk and did not deny the allegation. His wife said she could not stand him any longer and did not wish to live with him. He was given a suspended sentence of two months in jail and placed on probation for one year.

Idle and Disorderly
William A. Maher admitted that he was drunk yesterday but denied that he was an idle and disorderly person. Patrolman Demott testified that Maher spent his time in liquor saloons and did not work. Witness also added that the defendant's sister complained of his going home drunk. Maher after being found guilty was sentenced to the state farm.

Arrested on Capias
Thomas Berube was to have appeared in police court yesterday morning to answer to a complaint charging him with being drunk, but he failed to put in an appearance and yesterday afternoon was arrested on a capias. This morning when questioned relative to his failure to appear in court yesterday morning, Berube said he was sick and unable to appear. He was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

Drunken Offenders
Daniel Shields, charged with being drunk, was placed on probation on condition that he would go to Lawrence where he had a home.

Patrolman Ganley testified that Robert A. Wheeler, whom he arrested yesterday, was badly intoxicated and was profane and disorderly on the street in the presence of women and children. Wheeler will spend the next month in jail.

Ernest Vallier and Joseph A. Friel were fined $5, one first offender was fined $2, and five simple drunks were released.

TO RESUME WORK
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 25.—Another factory has reached an agreement with the striking furniture workers and will resume operations tomorrow. It is the Velt Manufacturing Co. which employs from 20 to 40 men. The concern is not a member of the Furniture Manufacturers' Association, which stands solidly.

BUBONIC PLAGUE
LONDON, April 25.—The official figures of the ravages of the bubonic plague in the central provinces of India show the appalling total of 95,884 deaths from the disease in one month. The fatalities during February were 43,685.

WARRANT ISSUED
HANGED HIMSELF

Man Found Dead in Prison Cell
PROVIDENCE, April 25.—Hanging by his suspenders to his cell door, the body of Julius Lagerquist, 47 years old, was found today when an officer went to take the prisoner before the police court. Lagerquist had not been living with his wife and children for some time and on March 11th, last, attempted suicide by stabbing. Last night he was seen loitering around a house on Chestnut street and Police Captain Merrill asked him to go home which he refused to do and he was locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

On cross-examination witness got badly mixed up in the number of bottles of whiskey he had in his possession. He admitted that he had displayed his money to the two young men.

Fred W. Park, a Chelmsford officer, said he happened to be passing through Robbins Hill and saw Piper, Johnson and Campbell. Piper was drunk, he said, and from what witness could observe, Johnson was going through Piper's pockets. Campbell was sitting in the luggy. Fifteen minutes later Park returned to where he had seen the trio and found Piper lying on the ground. Piper's face was covered with bruises and he complained of having been robbed. Mr. Park communicated with the police authorities of several of the adjoining towns and as a result Johnson and Campbell were arrested in Bedford.

Charles Forbush, highway surveyor of Carlisle, testified that Piper paid him $10 on the morning of the 19th of April. Witness said that Piper was a good man when he did not have any whiskey.

Edward P. Kelly, police officer of Bedford, testified to arresting Campbell and Johnson on the night of the 19th. He found them near the Bedford depot shortly after 6:30 o'clock. Witness said that Campbell said that he and Johnson hired a horse and carriage in Bedford and drove to Chelmsford where they met Piper. He said that they had some liquor to drink and thought that he and Johnson were drunk and that Piper was going through their pockets. Piper Campbell said while he was feeding the horse he heard loud talking and saw Piper and Johnson struggling. Campbell denied that he took any money from Piper, but did not deny that he saw Piper's face covered with bruises. Campbell said that he was leaving Chelmsford, and that they went to Lowell, then went to Bedford where they put up the horse and subsequently they went to Boston where they stopped over night in a hotel. Witness testified that Campbell said Johnson had settled all the bills.

Mr. Kelly testified to a conversation which he had with Johnson, said that the latter said he was in Providence, but was wanted by the police of that city for a little trouble he got into a short time ago. Johnson said he had a struggle with Piper, but denied robbing him. Witness searched Johnson and he said he found $1.50 in money and three gold rings in his pockets.

The Defence
Archibald J. Campbell, one of the defendants, testified that he was 19 years of age, resides in North Cambridge, but has been working as a farm hand in Carlisle. He met Johnson who invited him to ride. They were riding towards Chelmsford Centre when they met Piper. Piper had some liquor and they drank it, he said. The three then went to Chelmsford Centre from a woman. Afterwards they drove up the road and tied and fed the horse and started to drink the contents of the bottle. Witness said that Piper boasted of having money, but he did not see any of it.

Johnson testified that Piper and Campbell started discussing the recent fight and each one boasted of his ability to take care of himself, with the result that Piper made a pass at Johnson and the latter turned on Piper and punched him. Witness said that he did not see Johnson put his hand in Piper's pocket.

He said after leaving Piper they came to Lowell and then went to Bedford by way of Carlisle, where the horse and carriage were put up at a stable. Campbell and Johnson then went to Boston by train, witness said, and visited a moving picture house and hired a room in a private house. They spent the following day in Boston. Johnson purchased three

THREE PITCHERS
WERE SOLD BY THE BOSTON AMERICANS
BOSTON, April 25.—A further reduction has been made in the squad of the Boston American league club by the sale of three pitchers, Arrelance, Monney and Hunt, to the Sacramento club. The men will play for the Pacific coast at once. Arrelance is a veteran while Hunt and Monney have only a single season in major league baseball.

GEORGE MARLER DEAD
ROSELLE, N. J., April 25.—George Marler, cashier and acting assistant treasurer of the United States sub-treasury in New York, died at his home here today. Mr. Marler was just completing his 46th year of service in the sub-treasury, having been appointed by John A. Stewart, the United States treasurer under President Lincoln.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE
BOSTON, April 25.—Negotiations for the construction of a department store that will include half of the block bounded by Washington, Summer and Hawley streets, stirred real estate circles in this city today, although tentative plans for such a structure had been discussed for some months. The plan is especially interesting to the real estate dealers of Boston, as it tends to keep much of the retail trade centered about Washington, Summer and Winter streets instead of moving off in the direction of Copley square.

EDITOR LANGTRY
Nominated for Secretary of State
by Republicans

The Democrats Name Frank H. Donohue, a Boston Newspaperman, for Position—Election Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon

Rep. Albert Langtry, editor of the Springfield republican, was nominated today by the republicans for secretary of state by a vote of 78 to 69 for Capt. Denny of Worcester. The election will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The democrats in caucus nominated Frank H. Donohue of Practical Politics for the position.

LIVELY CONTEST EXPECTED
BOSTON, April 25.—A lively contest is expected in the joint convention of the legislature, which meets tomorrow afternoon to select a secretary of state, as the republican caucus today bound the party members, who are in the majority, to an open ballot, while the democrats will favor a secret vote.

The democrats spent but a few minutes today in deciding to support Frank

J. Donohue, a Boston newspaperman, and the state house representative of a weekly political paper.

Two ballots were necessary before the republicans agreed upon Rep. A. P. Langtry, publisher of the Springfield Union, as the party candidate.

The republican majority in the legislature on a joint ballot is 26, the smallest in years, and several times during the last few months party measures have been defeated while democratic measures have gone through with republican support in both branches.

Insurgency was prevailing in the election of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge who received only a few votes more than a majority. In order to strengthen the republican cause an open ballot will be asked.

It is expected that the democratic minority led by Rep. Martin Lamoureux of Boston will make a strenuous fight against this method in hope of obtaining the secret support of a few republican insurgents.

The department has instructed the American minister to San Salvador to report developments.

EX-JUDGE GARY
Will Not Retire From Steel Company

NEW YORK, April 25.—Former Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, authorized today a denial of a story that in the near future he would retire from the head of that organization. Judge Gary's statement follows:

"There is no foundation whatever for the publication of suggestion that my retirement from the position of chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation is or has been under contemplation. There is perfect harmony in the working organization, in the finance committee and in the board."

MURDER CASE CONTINUED

KIDNAPPING CHARGED

Chauffeur and Two Lawyers Were Placed Under Arrest

In Connection With the Arrest of Secretary McNamara—The Lawyers Were Held in $5000 Bonds and the Chauffeur $3000

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 25.—Waiting counsel for the Erection Association, W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, and Frank Fox, chauffeur, were arrested last night on affidavits charging them with having kidnapped J. J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The men were arrested on warrants issued upon affidavits of the attorney for McNamara. Ford and Fox were released under bond of $5000 each and Fox under bond of $3000. All the bonds were given by William A. Ketchum, president of an iron foundry company and an officer of the Indianapolis Employers' Association.

It is charged that, though McNamara was not turned over to a detective sergeant from Los Angeles until Governor Marshall had honored requisition papers from the governor of California, he had not been permitted to consult counsel or to make a plea of resistance to extradition before Police Judge Collins when he was identified as the man named in the warrant for his arrest. Fox drove the automobile in which McNamara was taken to Chicago on Saturday night, to be placed aboard a train for Los Angeles.

It was stated that a warrant also had been issued on the charge of kidnapping against Detective William J. Burns, in the employ of the Erection Association.

Detectives Are Barred

By an order of Judge Joseph T. Markey of the Marion county criminal court, issued late yesterday, only the county prosecutor, the members of the grand jury and the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will be permitted to examine books and papers taken by the police and deputy sheriffs from the office of the association, relative to the inquiry into the Los Angeles Times explosion.

FIREMEN BUSY

The Department Responded to Fourteen Alarms

The local fire department was kept on the jump yesterday responding to alarms for grass and brush fires, 14 alarms having been sent in within about ten hours.

Chief Hosmer found that his automobile came in very handy, for his odometer showed that he had covered over 50 miles during the day. In the event of his not having the auto he would have had to use three different horses in order to reach the fires.

The highest fire during the day was that which broke out on land in upper Westford street near Steadman street shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon. The fire started in several places and when the firemen arrived on the scene, several acres of brush and grass were aflame. The flames ate all the brush and grass over the

BIDS FOR COAL

Purchasing Agent Ready to Provide Supply for School Dept.

Purchasing Agent Foye will call for bids for coal for public buildings, summer delivery, just as soon as he hears from the school department. Mr. Foye has been waiting several days to hear from that department on the coal question.

The committee on supplies, Edmund T. Simpson, chairman, met yesterday and the coal supply for the schools was among the subjects presented for discussion.

The school board will meet tonight and it is understood that the chairman of the committee on supplies has been authorized to confer with the purchasing agent relative to the coal supply. Up to a year or two ago, the school board did not have anything to do or say about the coal supply, but the existing law on the basis of chemical analysis has given the board a finger in the pie, and while the board is not in a position to dictate to the purchasing agent, its way is clear for other suggestions.

Fayette St. School
The matter of closing the Fayette street school will come before the school board tonight on notice of reconsideration made at the last meeting. The board voted on the question at its last meeting and the board stood five to four in favor of the closing of the school. One of the four gave notice of reconsideration at the next meeting which will be tonight. The school is to close the Fayette street school and transfer the two teachers and pupils to the Cabot street school. It is argued that this would save the pay of two teachers and one janitor and that the pupils would not suffer in any way because of the transfer. The members opposing the proposition to close the school declare that parents of children attending the Fayette street school do not want their children transferred to the Cabot street school because of the distance and the inconvenience that would result. The question will be settled either one way or the other tonight.

Use of School Plants
When it was first suggested that the office of the sealer of weights and measures be located in the Mass. school it was thought that the school board would object, but when the proposition was advanced the board members did not hesitate to give it their sanction.

Speaking along this line today, Supt. Whitcomb said that he believed in using the school houses for other than school purposes providing that such use did not interfere in any way with the school work. Mr. Whitcomb said that the schools in many places are made social centres and a great deal has been written relative to wider use of school plants. The school house has a lot of spare time on its hands, so to speak. For school purposes it is used but five hours a day, five days a week for forty weeks, and these who advocate a wider use of school plants have good material for argument.

A committee of the Citizens American club is to appear before the members of the school board tonight to oppose the closing of the Cheever street school. This committee was appointed at the last meeting of the club.

FOR MOTH WORK

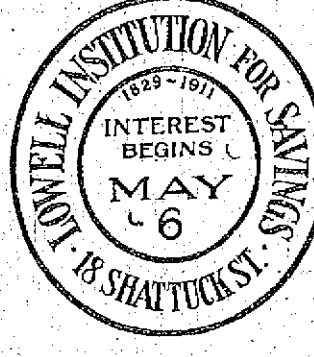

CITY COUNCIL WILL PASS ON MAYOR'S VETO TONIGHT

The mayor's veto of the $6000 loan order for moth work will go to the city council tonight as will also the $75,000 loan order recommended by the committee on streets for street improvements.

The mayor does not mean, he says, to stand in the way of an appropriation for moth extermination but he does not like the form of loan suggested for the work. It is understood that if the order is not passed over the mayor's veto tonight a new order will be introduced.

Messrs. Pierre A. Droussseau and Joseph P. Montminy of this city, were present at the organization of District Council, No. 14, U. S. J. Bldg., at Manchester, N. H., Sunday. Both addressed the gathering and were well received.

The many friends of ex-Mayor Charles E. Howe will be sorry to learn that he has been confined to his home almost constantly since December with a severe attack of rheumatism and is still unable to be out.

Heavy Batting in Today's Game at Spalding Park

INNINGS—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	Runs	Hits	Errors
Lowell	0	3	2	0	1	0	0	1	x			7	14	3
Worcester	1	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	0			4	10	3

More than 1000 fans journeyed to Spalding park this afternoon to see the second game between Lowell and Worcester. In times gone by under the old management of the Lowell team there was quite a feeling between these two teams, but since the new management took control of the Lowell team things have changed as was evidenced by the spirit of fraternity shown since the Worcester team came to Lowell yesterday. After the game yesterday afternoon Messrs. Roach and Kennedy, owners of the Lowell team, presented Secretary John O'Donnell of the Worcester club, who is lame, an elegant rosewood, gold mounted cane. Today, Tommy Kelly, the famous bowler, took out his big touring car and had Secretary O'Donnell, Manager Jesse Burkett, Fletcher Van Dyke of the Worcester team and Andrew Gray as his guests on a tour of the city.

Then to show the popularity of Manager Gray, with people outside of his own town, George Evans, none other than "Honey Boy," the great minstrel, telegraphed an invitation to Manager Gray to have his entire team and officers present at "Honey Boy's" minstrel show at the Opera House next Tuesday evening. Manager Gray, who accepted the invitation and also tendered the use of the Spalding park, to the "Honey Boy" minstrels next Tuesday afternoon for a ball game.

Hale was in the points for Worcester and Wolfgang for Lowell. Jack Stanford called play at 3 o'clock.

Lowell	Worcester
Moulton 2b	2b Noblett
Barrows of	if Russell
Cooney ss	cf Crum
Magee lf	cf Page
Flaherty rf	3b Bunting
Marsh lb	ss Groh
Boultes 3b	1b Haas
Huston c	c O'Neil
Wolfgang p	p Hale
	p McCune
	p Ford

First Inning
For Worcester Noblett struck out. Russell cracked out a home run over the left field fence. Crum doubled to left. Page hit to Wolfgang and went out at first. Bunting struck out.

For Lowell, Moulton struck out. Barrows flied to Page and Cooney hit to Groh and was retired at first.

Second Inning
Groh hit to Wolfgang and was an easy out at first. Haas also sent an easy one to Wolfgang and was thrown out at first. O'Neil struck but Lowell jumped ahead in this inning. Magee sent a fly to right that Page dropped. Flaherty singled and so did Marsh. Magee crossing the plate.

Cooney hit to Groh who threw home, catching Flaherty. Huston struck out. Hale made a wild pitch, advancing the base runners and a two-bagger to left by Wolfgang, scored two more runs. Moulton singled to left and Wolfgang was caught at the plate.

Third Inning
Hale singled to left. Noblett sent a foul fly that Marsh dropped. Then he drove a grounder to Moulton who in his anxiety to make a double play threw badly to first, and the runners were safe. Russell singled, scoring Hale. Crum hit to Moulton and was out at first. Page sent a grounder to Cooney and was retired at first. Bunting went out. Cooney to Marsh.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Barrows opened with a single to right field and Cooney sent him to second on a sacrifice. Magee hit to Groh, who threw bad to first and Barrows scored. Magee then pitched the ball away down to the hill on the centre field fence for a clean three-bagger and Magee scored. Marsh hit a line drive to Groh, who made a beautiful catch and the latter sent the ball to Bunting who made a one-hand stop and put Flaherty out for a double play.

Fourth Inning
Worcester added two more runs to its score in the fourth inning. Groh hit to Boultes and was retired at first. Haas was the next man to bat and he sent the ball over the left field fence, making the second home run that Worcester made off Wolfgang's delivery. O'Neil fanned the freer. O'Donnell went to bat for Hale and drew a base on balls. Noblett singled sending O'Donnell to third. Russell hit to Cooney, who threw bad to first, and O'Donnell scored. Russell stole second but Crum hit to Wolfgang and was out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Ford relieved Hale and McCune took O'Neil's place behind the bat. Boultes reached first on a scratch single and Huston hit to Ford, who threw Boultes out at second. Wolfgang went out at first. Haas and Moulton hit to Groh and was out at first.

Fifth Inning
Page opened the fifth by striking out. Bunting hit to Wolfgang, who threw to first and Umpire Stafford called the runner out on a close decision. Stafford turned his back and Marsh dropped the ball but inasmuch as the umpire did not see the ball drop he could not change his decision. Groh was third out on a fly to Moulton.

In Lowell's half Barrows hit to Ford and was retired at first. Cooney singled to left field and scored on Magee's three-bagger to the centre field fence. Flaherty hit to Haas, who threw Magee out at the plate. Marsh bunted and was out at first.

Sixth Inning
Haas went out on strikes. McCune followed with a single to right field, but a moment later Wolfgang caught him off his base and he was run down between first and second. Ford singled to left field. Wolfgang made a wild pitch and Ford tried to make a third-bagger but Huston recovered the ball and threw the runner out.

Boultes drew a base on balls but was forced out when Huston hit to Bunting. Wolfgang hit to Ford, forcing Huston and Moulton went out on a fly to centre field.

Seventh Inning
Noblett flied to Magee. Russell hit to Moulton and died at first. Crum singled to left field and Page was third out on a fly to Magee.

In the latter half of the inning Lowell had three men on base with one out and failed to score. Barrows struck out and Cooney, Magee and Flaherty followed with singles. Marsh hit to Groh, forcing Cooney at the plate and Boultes hit to the pitcher and was out at first.

Eighth Inning
In the eighth Bunting hit to Boultes and was retired at first. Groh hit to left field for a single and Haas followed with a fly to Barrows. McCune hit down the first base line to Marsh and was third out.

Huston singled to left field and Wolfgang sent him to third with a single to centre field. Moulton flied out to Crum and Huston scored on the play. Barrows went out on a grounder to Haas. Cooney struck out.

Ninth Inning
Ford hit to Wolfgang and died at first. Noblett struck out. Russell flied to Barrows.

PAINTERS STRIKE

They Asked for an Increase in Wages

Over 100 members of the Painters' union, No. 33, went out on strike this morning after being refused an increase in wages by their employers, the Master Painters.

The men out on strike claim that on April 10th, of the present year, they presented a petition to the Master Painters, asking them for a conference to be held on or before April 24th. This conference was for the purpose of asking an increase in wages of 3% cents per hour. The painters claim they were ignored entirely.

Last night a largely attended meeting was held in Labor hall, 23 Middle street, President Lindsay Bennett occupying the chair. At this meeting it was unanimously decided that the members of the union should go out on strike this morning with the exception of a number of them who have already received the increase asked for. The men did not go to work this morning as voted last night, and this afternoon they held another meeting at their meeting place.

The vice president of the Master Painters' union, when interviewed by a reporter of The Sun, this afternoon, stated that the members of his organization knew nothing of the proposed increase, and were not aware of the trouble until this morning when the men did not show up at the working time. They also deny any knowledge of the April 24th conference. A meeting of the Master Painters was called at 3 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the situation.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Haverhill Woman Was Murdered by a Former Soldier

HAVERHILL, April 25.—Simultaneously with the arrival here today of the body of Miss Flora M. Rogers, formerly of this city, it became known that she had been murdered in Shoshone, Idaho, by Merion H. Chandler, formerly a sergeant in the First United States cavalry, who afterward committed suicide. Miss Rogers, while living in Boise City, Idaho, a month or more ago refused to marry Chandler. She went to Shoshone, only to be followed by the man. Chandler loaded Miss Rogers in a hotel and demanded that she marry him immediately. She refused. Thereupon he shot and killed her and then committed suicide by taking poison.

Miss Rogers, who was 31 years old, married Charles Tewksbury of this city in 1900. Four years ago she went to Boise City where she divorced Tewksbury and resumed her maiden name.

While living in Boise City Miss Rogers met Spangler. After the tragedy Miss Rogers' mother, Mrs. Mary Rogers of this city, was notified and wired for the body to be shipped east but also did not learn until today that she married him immediately. She refused.

Thereupon he shot and killed her and then committed suicide by taking poison.

Railroad Commission Wants to be Shown

Today was another busy day for the firemen and during the morning and afternoon they were kept busy responding to alarms for grass and brush fires.

Shortly before ten o'clock this morning word was telephoned to the Central fire station that there was a big brush fire in 111th street but when the department reached the city line it was found that the fire was in the brush and was not a big fire. The fire was extinguished by a strong wind began to spread and more assistance was needed.

At 1:02 this afternoon a fire broke out in brush in Wiggville and at 2:05 o'clock a portion of the department was sent to another fire in the same district.

Word was sent to the central fire station that there was a lively blaze in progress at the end of the Fawcettville car line, but when Chief Hosmer and the other members of the department reached the pumping station it was learned that the fire was in the brush and was not a big fire. TRADING STAMPS

Supreme Court

Unconstitutional

BOSTON, April 17.—The justices of the supreme judicial court sent to the house this afternoon this opinion deciding that the bill to prohibit the giving of trading stamps is unconstitutional.

With respect to the trading stamp bill, the court says: "The bill is drawn in broad terms, and it purports to forbid transactions that are not different in principle from contracts of sale which always have been held to be within the constitutional right of persons in every state to possess and acquire property, to transact legitimate business and to buy and sell and get gain.—(U. S. constitutional amendment, article 1; declaration of rights, article 1.) We cannot doubt that the bill is intended only to include cases such as this court held not to be included in statutes 1884, chapter 77, as amended by statutes 188, chapter 576, now revised laws, chapter 29; See commonwealth vs. Sisson, 178 Massachusetts, 578. The reasons for the decision in the case cited would not apply to a decision as to the meaning of this bill.

"There is nothing in the conduct proposed to be prohibited that necessarily appeals to the gambling instinct or involves any element of chance. Such statutes and ordinances have been held unconstitutional by the highest courts in a large number of states."

DRAMATIC PLAY

TO BE GIVEN BY GRADUATES OF

The Greenhall graduates, '09, held an important meeting at the home of one of their members, Miss Alice Handley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Handley, 52 Lilley avenue. The meeting was presided over by President Herbert Howard and considerable routine business was transacted.

The feature of the evening was an elaborate musical program rendered by the members of the organization. Miss Handley who is a talented singer, entertained her guests delightfully with several beautiful vocal selections, while Miss Beatrice Delaronde presided at the piano. Refreshments were served and a home games were enjoyed till a late hour.

The members of this social organization are now formulating plans to organize a dramatic play to be given in the near future for the benefit of their fund.

MRS. W. LEEDS

IS SAID TO HAVE HER EYES ON A CORONET

NEW YORK, April 25.—From an intimate friend of Mrs. William B. Leeds, her real reason for selling the Leeds mansion on Fifth avenue, and thereby cutting all permanent ties on this side of the water is that she likes the English better than she does her own country people. It is said to be her ambition to marry a duke and bring up her little son as an Englishman.

Lady Sarah Wilson came over a few months ago and was the guest of Mrs. Leeds here, and at Palm Beach. Mrs. Leeds wanted to get thoroughly in touch with the social situation in London. On the advice of Lady Sarah, who will be her social sponsor during the coming season, Mrs. Leeds has leased the beautiful home of Mrs. Kappeler in Portman square and is planning to give some wonderful entertainments during the coronation season.

Mrs. Leeds, the informant said, is as great a financier as was her late husband, and is increasing rather than diminishing her great fortune through clever investments. Her little son is the apple of her eye and is almost a prodigy. He speaks three languages already and has a wit remarkable for his years.

Mrs. Leeds said during her last visit here that she had become disgusted with the "commonness of Americans. They are so rude, and the stores are impossible," said she. "One is treated so badly that I like to get over to England, where one meets with kindness and courtesy from those about one."

A high endorsement is given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by Mrs. Albert Bennett, of No. 124 Palm street, Bangor, Maine. She says:

"For fully eight months I was in a general run-down condition, which I think may have been due to my age. The doctor said my sickness was caused by the condition of my blood. My appetite was poor and I would feel faint at my stomach. I was so short of breath that I couldn't walk much. I lost several pounds in weight and could not do my housework. It was a burden for me to get around and many people would have given up and gone to bed. My blood was in a poor condition and a rash broke out all over my body."

"I was treated by two doctors but their help was so slow that I gave up. I tried their medicine and used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In a few days I felt better and as I continued using the pills I improved until I was cured. I took no other medicine while using the pills and give them the credit for the cure. A great many people, who knew how badly off I was, have asked me what cured me and I am constantly recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"To avoid ill health and suffering at the critical time, a woman should make every effort to keep her general health in the best possible condition. If you are approaching the fortieth year or already passing through the change and your system is not strong enough to bear the strain, you can get no more certain or quick relief than through a thorough trial of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They quickly build up and purify the blood, which, in turn, tones and strengthens the nerves and every other part of the body until robust health is enjoyed."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They do not act on the bowels but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves. If you want good health you must have good blood.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

IN THE CHURCHES

The Christian Endeavor union held a well attended meeting at the Pawtucket church last night. Supper was served in the school hall at 7.15. A speech of welcome was delivered by the pastor, Rev. F. P. Alger, which was responded to by the president of the local union, Frank J. Spooner. An excellent report of the county convention held at Newton on the 19th of April was read by Paul Jones. Following this came the speaker of the evening, Rev. John M. Kyle. He gave a very interesting lecture on Brazil, having spent 26 years in mission work there. He spoke of the large ground for missionaries, not only in Brazil, but in all South America. He proved himself to be a very interesting speaker. Besides the can was an electric stove, and Nicholas worked on the other side of the can.

The committee which has charge of the coming local convention to be held on May 30 is hard at work and expects

FOR ST. MARGARET'S BAZAAR

A very fine program has been prepared for tomorrow evening at the Matthews hall on Dutton street by the M. T. I. table of the St. Margaret's parish bazaar. The committee seeks to have secured some very fine musical and dramatic talent for the musical overture. The talent includes John X. Payne as director, and that is sufficient to guarantee a production of real musical and dramatic merit. The Children of Mary of the Immaculate Conception church, are to give a musical comedy in one act, and among the other vocalists are the Misses Margaret Cayley, Mollie Downey, Sadie Quinlan, Marie Cahill, Mary Curtin, Margaret Knowles, Kittle McCarthy, Anna Murphy and Mr. John M. Callery.

ONE JUROR ILL

Trial of the Camorristi
Postponed

VITERBO, Italy, April 25.—The trial of the camorristi has been adjourned until Monday because of the illness of a juror who failed to appear when the session was to have been resumed today. The man is said to be suffering from influenza.

It is reported that the trial may be transferred to some other city because of dissatisfaction on the part of the jury.

Early in the proceedings the members petitioned the court for an increase in the fees allowed them but no response to their request has been made. Accordingly, it is said, that they are inclined to use obstructive measures. If one after the other is taken sick no further progress can be made under the present circumstances.

LABOR QUESTION

Discussed in Kitson Hall
Last NightAT MEETING OF FEDERATION OF CHURCHES

Statement Made That Foreign Labor is Being Employed on New Y. M. C. A. Building to the Exclusion of Lowell Labor—Matter to be Investigated

At a meeting of the Federation of Churches held last night in Kitson hall, Mr. C. E. Anderson representing the Swedish Congregational church and the Trades and Labor council, called the attention of the Federation to certain alleged conditions having to do with work on the new Y. M. C. A. building.

The statement has been made that men have been brought to Lowell to work on the building while Lowell laborers were looking for work. He asked for a committee from the Federation to cooperate with a similar committee from the Trades and Labor council, to investigate the matter.

Mr. Anderson was asked if any reason had been given for the importing of laborers. The only reason he knew was that the labor imported is cheaper than Lowell labor.

The meeting thought that the matter should be investigated. The building is being erected by money given by the people of Lowell and the work ought to be done by Lowell men who need work.

Mr. F. A. Bowen, who is a member of the Y. M. C. A. building committee, pointed out the fact that the question of employment of labor has passed out of the hands of that committee into the hands of the contractor, to whom the contract was awarded as the lowest bidder.

After several suggestions had been made, and a motion to leave the matter to the five fraternal delegates, with power to act in conjunction with a committee of five from the council, had been discussed, Mr. John J. Rogers offered a substitute motion, which finally prevailed, and the question was left to the fraternal delegates, with full power, to confer with the Trades and Labor council committee, and act or decline to act, according to their discretion in the matter.

The Federation reflected the entire list of officers for the coming year. Mrs. W. E. Jackson was elected a member of the executive committee to fill a vacancy caused by a resignation of a member of that committee.

Coal Mine

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., April 25.—Fifteen bodies had been taken out of the Ott mine number 20 of the Davis Coal company at 10 o'clock today, victims of the disastrous explosion yesterday. Eight other bodies are supposed to be in the mine and the rescuers are trying to recover them. The bodies of 14 were found about one-half mile from the entrance. The bodies are badly mangled and identification will be difficult. This morning John Laing, chief of the West Virginia department of mines, started an investigation into the cause of the accident. A special train arrived this morning, bringing Assistant Engineer T. L. Jones of the government bureau of mines station at Elkhart, accompanied by First Aid Men Ryan and Davis.

Choice of Peace Commissioners Awaited With Interest

EL PASO, Texas, April 25.—Interest in the peace situation at General Madero's camp today is centered in the hope that word may come from the Mexican government of the appointment of its commissioners for the conference at which it seems almost certain terms of peace in Mexico will be agreed upon. The insurrecto commander, it is understood, is ready to announce his appointees as soon as the government representatives are named. The Madero family, it is generally understood, regard El Paso as the convenient meeting place for the peace commissioners. The meeting place, however, will probably be announced simultaneously with the names of the commissioners.

Peace negotiations, it is said, will consume at least a fortnight. Confidence in the successful outcome of these negotiations marks the situation both in the insurrecto camp and in Juarez. Even General Navarro, of martial mien and ferocious whiskers, is gentle as a lamb nowadays, according to tips from the Mexican city. The federal commander, it is said, has a smile and a cheery word for everyone, including the once-hated reporters. His cane swings jauntily as he makes his inspections and there is a coin for each beggar who besets his path. At odd moments he opens the prison gates to free some unfortunate—generally a harmless individual whose "viva" misdirected from the federal viewpoint, aroused official ire only a few days ago.

Apparently the only ones disturbed by the present situation in this part of Mexico—so lately the storm center—are the Mormons at Colonia Dublan. According to advices from Casas Grandes most of the horses of Madero's army were left at that point when the insurrectos advanced on Juarez and in their search for pasture many Mormon farms have suffered. At least a thousand horses are grazing in the vicinity of Casas Grandes, it is declared.

Young Man Was Loading a Gun

RUTLAND, Vt., April 25.—Walter B. Kelley, aged 18, manager of the Rex mercantile agency, with offices in the Quinn building, was accidentally shot through the left arm last night just before 6 o'clock.

Mr. Kelley was in his room at the Elmore hotel, where he has lived since last fall, and according to his story, he was trying to fit into a gun some new cartridges which he purchased a short time ago. One of these he had in the gun and the butt of the rifle was resting on the edge of the bureau when it was suddenly discharged. He fell to the floor and called for help. He was able to stand and walk to the head of the stairs.

Other guests of the hotel rushed to his room and they claimed that Kelley said he had attempted to commit suicide, but this he denied. After the physicians arrived the boy was removed to the hospital.

RAILROADS LOSE DIVISION 8, A. O. H.

Celebrated Its 20th Anniversary

PORTLAND, Ore., April 25.—Federal Judge Charles F. Wolverton decided yesterday that the Southern Pacific and the Oregon & California railroad companies must forfeit to the U. S. government about 200,000 acres of land which is valued at $40,000,000 to $75,000,000. The case will probably be appealed.

Interpreting the act of congress granting the land as an aid to railway construction the court held that congress intended that this land should be sold to bona fide settlers in tracts of not more than 160 acres to one individual and at a price not exceeding $2.50 an acre.

Although he decided in favor of the government, Judge Wolverton decided against the 5000 individual interveners in the case. He held that they had acquired no right whatever, either by settling on the land or by tendering the maximum sums specified by the law.

The effect of this portion of the decision is that the lands cannot be procured by an individual until the president or congress again opens them to entry. The 67 entrymen who had gone upon the land as settlers before the suits of the government began also lose their claims and gained no advantage whatever by their period of settlement.

In brief, the question raised by the Southern Pacific company was whether congress had the power to make a subsequent act precedent to the rights conferred in an original grant. The suit was instituted in 1908, by Atty. Gen. Bonaparte on receipt of a memorial by the Oregon legislature to congress that the Southern Pacific company, successor to the Oregon & California railway company, had forfeited its rights to a grant of land in Oregon and Washington. The company was said to have refused to sell the land as provided in the grant.

Division 8, A. O. H., observed its 20th anniversary in Hibernian hall, last evening with an attendance of over 400 members and guests.

DANIEL F. REILLY, President Division 8, A. O. H.

O'Brien, P. R., chaplain of the five local divisions of the order, Mayor John F. McManus and others.

The exercises were opened by President David F. Reilly of Division 8 who after a speech of welcome introduced John W. McEvoy as toastmaster of the evening. The following interesting program was thus carried out:

Piano selection, Elzear Bissonnette; song, James McEvoy; remarks, Rev. William O'Brien of St. Patrick's church; remarks, County President James J. Harold of Waltham; remarks, Hon. John P. McManus; recitation, Frank J. Higgins; song, James E. Donnelly; remarks, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I.; remarks, Rev. Fr. Hubert, one of the Passionist fathers who are conducting a two weeks' mission at St. Patrick's church; remarks, Superintendent Rodmond Welch; recitation, Dennis Brazil and others. During the evening refreshments were served and cleared around.

The committee in charge of the evening's affair consisted of President Daniel F. Reilly, Michael J. Rogers, Thomas Dorsey, Patrick Maloney, John Barrett, John McGarry and John Murray.

The officers of Division 8 at the present time are: President, Daniel F. Reilly; vice president, Michael Rogers; recording secretary, Charles J. McGowan; financial secretary, Thomas Dorsey; treasurer, Nicholas Songhan.

There are about 400 members in the division at the present time and conditions generally are most encouraging.

He has made a statement to this effect in acknowledging letters received regarding the postal situation.

GREATER CITY

Boston Bill Reported to Legislature

BOSTON, April 25.—The legislative committee on metropolitan affairs, with only one dissenter, Representative Newton of Boston, yesterday reported a bill to create a metropolitan Boston to the senate.

The measure is a compromise between the advocates of federation and its opponents. It seeks to give Boston the commercial advantage of an official statistical rating of the metropolitan district, but leaves out the provision for federation with a metropolitan council.

The bill, which was reported for the committee by Senator Stearns of Middlesex on the petitions of March G. Bennett and George E. Lothrop follows:

"Section 1. The cities and towns which are included within the metropolitan park district, or the metropolitan water district, or in all of them, and such other cities and towns as may hereafter be joined to either or all of said districts, shall constitute Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 2. The bureau of statistics shall compile and publish every fifth year, or oftener if the head of said bureau shall deem it advisable, the combined statistics of population, valuation, commerce, manufactures and all other accessible statistics, whether from the national state census, of said metropolitan Boston, under the title of Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; and in all of the publications of the bureau in which the separate statistics of the cities and towns constituting Metropolitan Boston appear, the totals of all such statistics shall also appear as the Statistics of Metropolitan Boston; provided, however, that the publication of these statistics shall not interfere in any way with the publication of the statistics of any of the individual communities constituting said Metropolitan Boston.

Sec. 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Shoes at Cost Plus 5 Per Cent.

More About the Regal Shoe Co.'s Plan of Scientific and Economical Shoe-Selling

There is a bill before Congress to authorize the coinage of the half-cent

The advocates of this bill say that a half-cent coin would save the public hundreds of dollars a year. Prices like 6½ cents, 12½ cents, 37½ cents, are common in the dry-goods shops. But if you buy only one yard of a 37½ cent muslin, you must pay 38 cents. If you buy a half-a-yard of 35 cent muslin you must pay, not 17½ cents, but 18 cents. So, the use of the half-cent is urged as a measure of economy.

If it is wise to split a cent, how much wiser to split half dollars?

Think a moment and you will see that this is a fact. Have you ever seen a fine shoe of standard make regularly sold at any other price than full dollars or half dollars—$3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, and so on?

Standard shoes have always been made to fit these arbitrary prices, fixed in advance. Why? We don't know—except that it is a trade custom, which is no reason at all.

Anyhow, the Regal Shoe Co. have abolished that custom

They have put the selling of shoes on to the same exact, scientific, economical basis that governs the pricing of most other necessities of life, and which ought to govern all of them.

Regal Shoes will hereafter be priced at cost of making, plus five per cent. commission and the cost of selling.

Regals will be made in several general price-classes, but the actual price of every model will be figured as above by certified public accountants, AND STAMPED ON THE SHOES AT THE FACTORY.

The price will be stamped just as it figures out (except that there will be no splitting nickels). It may be an "odd" price, like $3.85, $4.35, etc.—or it may be an "even" price, like $4.00, $4.50, etc. Whatever it really figures, you will pay. There will be no "juggling" either of the shoes or the prices to make the latter conform to tradition.

This is the Stamp

This stamp is your guarantee or full Regal quality at the lowest price for which such quality can be bought. It takes all the uncertainty, all the unknown profits, all the unnecessary expense out of shoe buying.

It is your guarantee that the LARGEST POSSIBLE PROPORTION of the price you pay is returned in leather and workmanship.

In Regal Shoes MORE OF YOUR MONEY WILL GO FOR SHOE SATISFACTION and LESS FOR SOME ONE'S PROFIT than in any other make you can buy.

In Regal Shoes you get what you want, and pay only for what you get

If a heavier sole, worth 20 cents more, is put into a Regal Shoe that would otherwise sell for $4.00, the price of that shoe will be $4.20. Under the old system further and unnecessary expense had to be added also, to bring the retail price up to $4.50.

If leather goes up, you will pay us only the exact amount of the advance. If leather goes down, you now automatically save 95 per cent. of whatever the Regal Factories save. Heretofore, small economies in factory cost could seldom save you anything.

If a new Regal model is designed that can be sold at, say, $4.35, it will be sold at $4.35. Under the old system, either the shoe had to be trimmed down to make it cost $4.00, or unnecessary expense added to make it cost $4.50.

Regal Prices Are Now $3.35 to $5.85

chairman, sent out the following statement regarding the measure:

"The metropolitan affairs committee yesterday reported to the legislature a new 'real Boston' bill. This is the result of a compromise between the 'real Boston' committee of the Boston chamber of commerce and the special committee representing the cities and towns in opposition.

"The chamber of commerce has abandoned the metropolitan council idea entirely, and the communities in opposition for their part have assented to the application of the title 'metropolitan Boston' to the cities and towns in the district for statistical purposes.

"The new bill provides that the state bureau of statistics shall tabulate the statistics of the district once in five years. It is understood that the federal census bureau at Washington will note this new condition in its census tabulations. There is no provision for any governmental function of any sort,

all of which brings harmony among all parties interested.

BOARD OF CENSORS

A committee of six Lawrence citizens has been constituted a board of censors to watch and commend or criticize the action of the city council. They are to attend every meeting and pass judgment upon the action taken. Why is not that a good method of training for public office? The board of censors or some of them may become candidates later on and if elected they will have an illustration of the difference there is between acting on public matters as responsible public officials and passing judgment as outside and irresponsible parties upon the acts of such officials. The irresponsible censor board can dish out hot air and nobody cares except the officials criticized, whether the opinions expressed are right or wrong.

TO KEEP OUT FOREIGN CRIMINALS

There are several bills before congress, the object of which is to restrict or regulate immigration. There is a pretty general desire to adopt some sifting process by which the criminally inclined will be kept out. We have had far too many Black Hand artists, too many men who use the dirk and the revolver without cause, too many highwaymen who commit desperate deeds, rob banks and hold up railroad trains. How these can be singled out and excluded is a difficult problem to solve. England has adopted the plan of admitting men of suspicious type only under bonds that they will observe the law. Such a law in this country would be almost prohibitive and would moreover be impossible of enforcement. There are other schemes under consideration, and it is likely that some plan will be adopted that will lessen the number of the classes that have proved most troublesome in the past.

MEXICAN PEACE PROBABLE

Let us hope the armistice between the belligerents in Mexico will result in permanent peace. That the insurgents have had some cause for raising the standard of revolt against the Diaz administration is generally admitted. The fighting that has taken place has been sufficient to impress upon President Diaz and his cabinet that he cannot continue to carry things with the high hand that he has done in the past. He has a chance now to make an honorable peace, and if he does not embrace the opportunity, he may have to enter a new conflict in which the chances will be strongly against him. Uncle Sam has satisfied his warlike curiosity in the matter by demonstrating to the world how quickly he can mobilize a considerable army at a given point. He, too, we presume, should be ready to quit although when soldiers are mobilized in great haste at a point where fighting is in progress they do hate to hang around for several weeks and even months without permission to fire a shot. They will return disappointed, but nations are not allowing their armies to fight for fun these days. Thus far there has been no breach of neutrality or of the laws of "civilized warfare" that would justify the United States in intervention. American interests along the border in the region of hostilities have been pretty well safeguarded, and that alone will vindicate the mobilization of our troops. If a satisfactory peace be concluded during the armistice arranged for, there will be good reason for rejoicing on all sides, for while the rebellion did not entirely succeed it has so shaken up things in Mexico that the desired reforms must come, no matter who shall remain in power.

THE OILING OF STREETS

The question of laying the dust on many of our public streets with some process of oiling is one that may well receive careful study from the superintendent of streets. It is remembered what a nuisance the dust on the newly paved streets has been during the past two years. Frequent use of the watering cart does not seem to lay the dust very long at a time. The action of vehicles of all kinds on the surface dressing of the smooth paved streets sets free a considerable quantity of dust. Being over a hard surface, this dust dries readily when wet and is soon lifted into the air by the slightest breeze or even by the wheels of an automobile.

There are various problems to be solved in connection with the oiling of streets. For macadamized streets it is usually the most effective and most permanent method of laying the dust. Whether it can be successfully used on a surface so hard as that of the new smooth paving laid in Lowell, remains to be determined. We have had some trouble over the damage to ladies' dresses caused by the splashing of oil by the wheels of autos skidding on the hard oily surface. That is one of the dangers that must be provided against in the case of oiling streets. The oiling process is successful only where the street surface absorbs the oil. For this reason the hard surface is usually treated with thin or light oils.

Various cities not any bigger than our own have oiling apparatus so that they can choose between oil and water for any particular street. The oil, of course, is more expensive and the cost must be provided for in a proper manner. In some cities it is paid for by the abutters and is far more satisfactory than a poor sprinkler service for which there is an unreasonable charge. There are so many oiling companies and so many different kinds of oiling machines that this street oiling problem is one that will stand considerable investigation; yet a city like Lowell will find all the information it needs within a radius of fifty miles. Boston, Providence, Worcester and other New England cities have done enough in this line to enlighten others in regard to material, methods and expense of oiling streets. It is a real pleasure to ride on some of the metropolitan and state highways when so thoroughly oiled that the surface is saturated, and there is no indication either of dust or of superfluous oil. It is possible that by judicious selection of machines and oil with skill in application, some streets can be oiled almost as cheaply as watered by the present system against which there are many complaints.

It is found that when oiled, macadamized streets last much longer than if watered by sprinklers. The oil causes the surface to remain intact and to cohere rather than disintegrate under the wheels of vehicles. In fine the oil treatment of streets is one of such importance that we cannot longer afford to let it go by default.

SEEN AND HEARD

"If the stream had no quiet eddying place, could we so admire its cascade over the rocks? Were there no clouds, could we so hail the sky, shining through them in its still calm purity?"

When a feller goes a-huntin' for a rose
He shouldn't be a-thinkin' of the thorn.
He must woo it, he must win it—
Where his heart bends he must pin it.
An' breathe the breath that's in it
When a feller goes a-huntin' for a rose
He shouldn't see the thorn beneath its breast.
But for all its thorny foes,
Red and reckless—one's poor rose
Is sweet enough, God knows,
For the best.
Frank L. Stanton.

A New York physician told me this story of a precocious little girl of ten. She is the daughter of an attractive lady of society whom the family doctor, a young man, was attending for influenza. He felt her pulse gravely and tenderly, holding her wrist after the orthodox manner of a ladies' doctor, as he sat beside her in the drawing room. As he did so he became aware that the child had her great grey eyes, full of inquiry, fixed upon him.

"You don't know what I am doing, my little lady?" said the medical man lightly to the interested little miss.

"Yes I do," was the prompt, and positive reply.

"And what may that be, pray?" continued the doctor.

"Well, if you want me to tell you, you are making love to mamma."

NO, HE CAN NOT

A man can grow forests, both deep and wide.
Luxurious birches and pines;
He can grow oak trees with the greatest of ease.
And acres of shrubs and vines.
He can grow choice fruits on the topmost boughs.
On which the nations are fed;
But he can't grow a thistle on the little bald patch

"FOOTSTEPS ON THE STAIRS"
I miss them now—these little feet,
That used to come so oft;
The little voice that used to speak
So sweet, so silvery soft.
And now, when I am all alone,
I miss them in my empty room.
I listen, but 'tis all in vain,
For 'footsteps on the stairs."

For when I read, or sing, or play,
Or join in pleasures sweet,
I seem to see her glad and gay,
And I miss these little feet.
O, it is hard to think she's gone,
With all her winning airs;
To think I never more shall hear
Her "footsteps on the stairs."

The golden curls still cluster round
That brow so white and clear;
And on her new pale and cold,
I've shed full many a tear.
The lids have drooped o'er those blue eyes,
Death's icy seal is there;
Tis he that has forever hushed
Those "footsteps on the stairs."

I know her feet are waiting now
The shining streets of heaven;
I know that to that dear one's brow
A golden crown is given;
I'm thankful that she is at rest,
Safe from earth's sinful snares;
Yet still I weep and pause to hear

FREE LIST BILL

Will Cause Long Debate, According to Leaders in Congress

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The tariff again holds the attention of congress. It made its appearance today in the shape of the free list bill, which was called up just before adjournment yesterday and which threatens to lead to almost endless debate before it finally is passed along to the senate. Leaders on both sides of the house foresee long days of talk ahead. That the measure will pass is generally conceded, but it will not command the heavy toll of republican votes given to the Canadian reciprocity measure. Amendments already are beginning to pour in and efforts are being made by free trade democrats to enlarge the scope of the measure. While the senate was not in session today, interest centered in the executive session of the republican committee on committees which is striving to heal the differences over committee assignments between the regular and progressive members of the party in that body. Chairman Gallagher today hoped he could report the assignments Thursday.

COLLEGE WOMEN

Not Many Plan to Marry

CHICAGO, April 25.—Two per cent. or less of the younger women students in the junior classes of the University of Chicago are planning to marry according to a canvass made by Miss Marian Tallot, dean, in the annual report of President Harry P. Judson, submitted yesterday. The canvass included 96 women in the freshman and sophomore classes chosen from the beginning of the alphabetical list. Fifteen of those interviewed refused to tell what they were going to do when they graduated.

More than half declared that they were going to teach. President Judson, in concluding his own report said that it would not be surprising if some "quite startling changes in the organization of the American college came to pass."
"The history of the American college," he said, "has shown an interesting and peculiar development resulting from social conditions in our country. The great development of the physical sciences and the social sciences, the introduction of the elective system, the growth of large colleges and the organization of technical work all have tended to create totally different conditions from those in the earlier years of the colleges."
"In the meantime the form of the old organization is being continued without being adapted to new requirements. The American college problem as it exists in the opening decades of the 20th century has not yet been solved and needs a careful and intelligent study."

A PUBLIC PARK AT ST. ANTHONY'S

Is Wanted in West 40 Hours' Devotion Brought to Close

Centralville

The following petition was filed in the city clerk's office this morning by ex-Alderman John H. Beaulieu:

"To His Honor, the Mayor, and to the City Council:

We, the undersigned citizens and residents of Centralville, respectfully petition your honorable body that land be purchased to provide a public park and playground for that rapidly growing section of Lowell.

The petition is headed with the signature of Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis' parish, and bears about 500 names including all the business men of that district and a large number of the voters.

The movement for a park in West Centralville was started at the Centralville Social club some time ago and the following committee was appointed to look over the possibilities of a public park in that part of the city: President, John H. Beaulieu; Callisto Lequin and Joseph Ell.

The members of the committee had an interview with the park commissioners and after being advised by the latter, a petition was circulated among the citizens of West Centralville. The spot which seemed to be favored by the petitioners is that tract of land extending from the Aiken street bridge to Beaver brook. The council may be asked to act upon the petition tonight.

The devotion of the 40 hours was brought to a close this morning. Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Mesquita of Fall River, assisted by Rev. J. V. Rosa, deacon; Rev. Fr. Toledo of Fall River, sub-deacon, and Rev. Father Terra of Provincetown, master of ceremonies. St. Cecilia's mass was sung by the choir. At the offertory "Ave Verum" was sung by Mrs. Hugh Walker. After the chanting of the Hymn of the saints, a procession of the blessed sacrament was held, preceded by altar boys, sanctuary choir boys and the members of the Blessed Sacrament sodality. Solemn benediction closed the service. Miss Lulu Glady presided at the organ.

EVERY WOMAN TRY THIS

"Every woman at some time or other needs a reliable, antiseptic, sensitive wash and here is a physician's formula for mixing the very best one at home: Obtain at the drug store 2 ounces anti-septic vilane powder, 1 ounce tannin acid, and 1 ounce sulphate of zinc. Mix together and use a teaspoonful to a quart of warm water, as a douche or injection. This is reliably antiseptic and soon checks unnatural discharges, such as leucorrhoea, or whites; overcomes inflammation, heals, tones and purifies the parts, thus promoting regularity, health and happiness."

BOARD OF ALDERMEN TODAY'S STOCK MARKET LARCENY CHARGED

Called to Meet in Special Session This Evening

The Mayor Has Nominated Three Assistant Fire Department Engineers—Sealer of Weights and Measures Has Moved His Office

The re-appointment of Edward May, Charles Stackpole and George B. Alway as assistant fire department engineers was filed at the city clerk's office by Mayor Meehan this forenoon.

The mayor has called a special meeting of the board of aldermen for tonight and all of the mayor's appointments including the assistant fire engineers, George C. Evans, for registrar of voters, and John Hallowood, smoke inspector, will go to the alderman for confirmation. The law requires that the assistant engineers shall be appointed and confirmed on or before May 1.

Weights and Measures

John W. Stott, sealer of weights and measures, has moved his office from Railroad street to a room in the old Mann school. Mr. Stott went to the school board for permission to use a room in the Mann school and the board, at its last meeting, voted him that permission. Mayor Meehan received official notice of the change this forenoon. Mayor Meehan was anxious that the change should be made as he had received a number of complaints to the effect that the office of the sealer of weights and measures was too far out of the way in Railroad street.

He Enjoyed It

Salem Depot, N. H., April 24, 1911.

Hon. John F. Meehan, Mayor and City Government of Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sirs—The recent celebration in your city in honor of the Old Sixth regiment is to me a day long remembered, and I most cordially thank you and your associates for the great time you gave us dear old boys. Certainly, Lowell in patriotism and men competent to produce and handle such a celebration, was in evidence on that day. My wish is, Mr. Mayor, that the 100th anniversary of the regiment's passing through Baltimore, may be witnessed by you and your colleagues who had a hand in making the one just passed the success it was.

Yours truly,

William P. Gilmore,

U. S. company, Old Sixth Mass. Regt. and I. company, Third Mass. Cavalry.

STOCK MARKET WAS STEADY AT THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY

Little Stock Offered at the Current Prices—Special Stocks Did Up on the Short—Prices Were a Fraction Above Last Night

NEW YORK, April 25.—The decline against the Southern Pacific railroad in the Oregon land case caused some heaviness of the market. Stocks at the opening of the market were a point and a half up, but a point lost at the other active stocks declined fractionally.

There was little feature in the early dealings. Prices moved in an irregular fashion, mostly within a slight fractional range. A brisk rally followed the opening hesitation but the higher prices uncovered new selling orders and the market receded again to its low level.

Stocks manifested a sagging tendency at noon under the leadership of U. S. Steel which touched 73 on Monday. Large offerings. Rumors of internal troubles and important resignations from the corporation were officially denied and were without effect on the list, which was dull and heavier throughout.

Prices took a brisk turn upward after 1 o'clock and the list advanced to yesterday's close or above.

Trading grew quiet but the market displayed a firm tone, several stocks moving sharply despite the meagre demand. Ches. & Ohio and Amalgamated Copper ruled 1 above yesterday's close and Minn., St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie 1 1/2.

The market closed steady. There was little stock offered at current prices and traders, perceiving this scarcity, bid special stocks up sharply on the shorts, who wanted to cover.

Pieces ruled quite generally a good fraction above last night. In the last few minutes there was some quick realizing and prices sold off a fraction.

LARCENY CHARGED

Two Young Men Arraigned in Police Court Today

Frank Johnson and Archibald Campbell, two young men, were arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of $12 in money from George Piper of Carlisle.

The hearing of the case was resumed at two o'clock. Frank Johnson, one of the defendants, called to the stand, testified that he was 21 years of age, his home is in Providence and he had been employed as a farm hand in Carlisle since last fall. Witness said he and Campbell made arrangements Tuesday night to go riding on Wednesday. Witness told how he went to Bedford and hired the horse and carriage, the meeting with Piper and the festivities that followed and were later arrested in Bedford.

George Piper, the complainant, testified that he worked for the town of Carlisle, and on April 18th the town treasurer paid him $24. On the following day, Patriots day, he paid his board bill, which amounted to $10, and a bill of $3.07 at the town store. He then took the electric car and came to Lowell. Upon arriving in this city he visited several places and had a number of drinks and purchased two quarts of liquor in four pint bottles.

"After getting what I wanted to drink and purchasing the liquor to take home," said Piper, "I took the electric car for Chelmsford. After getting off the car I started to walk towards South Chelmsford. I met Johnson and Campbell. They were in a carriage. I didn't know Johnson, but I knew Campbell and always called him 'Jack.' 'Jack' is a nice boy and when he asked me if I had any whiskey I said 'Sure.' He said he was willing to pay for it, but I told him he could have all he wanted and anything I had.

"The three of us then sat down and drank the whiskey. Johnson said he would like to get some more whiskey, and I told him I knew where I could get some. We got into the wagon and drove to the Centre, where I bought a quart of whiskey.

"We then went up the road towards Robbins Hill and had some more drinks. I had about $3.00 at that time. I forgot the most of what happened after that. The last thing that I remember, Johnson had me by the throat and nose. I thought it was pretty tough on his part after the way I had treated him, but 'Jack' is innocent. My throat is so sore yet that I can hardly eat or speak. When I recovered my senses I found that with the exception of two cents, I had been robbed of all my money."

On cross-examination witness got badly mixed up in the number of bottles of whiskey he had in his possession. He admitted that he had displayed his money to the two young men.

Edward W. Park, a Chelmsford officer, said he happened to be passing through the road in the vicinity of Robbins Hill and saw Piper, Johnson and Campbell. Piper was drunk, he said, and from what witness could observe, Johnson was going through "Piper's" pockets. Campbell was sitting in the buggy. Fifteen minutes later Park returned to where he had seen the trio and found Piper lying on the ground. Piper's face was covered with bruises and he complained of having been robbed. Mr. Park communicated with the police authorities of several of the adjoining towns and as a result Johnson and Campbell were arrested in Bedford.

Charles Forbush, highway surveyor of Carlisle, testified that Piper paid him $10 on the morning of the 19th of April. Witness said that Piper was a good man when he did not have any whiskey.

Edward P. Kelly, police officer of Bedford, testified to arresting Campbell and Johnson on the night of the 20th. He found them near the Bedford depot after 6.30 o'clock. Witness said that Campbell said that he and Johnson hired a horse and carriage in Bedford and drove to Chelmsford where they met Piper. He said that they had some liquor to drink and thought that he and Johnson drank more than Piper. Campbell said while he was riding the horse he heard loud talking and saw Piper and Johnson arguing. Campbell denied that he took any money from Piper, but did not know what Johnson had done. After leaving Chelmsford, Campbell said that they went to Lowell, then went to Bedford where they put up the horse where they stopped over night in a hotel. Witness testified that Campbell and Kelly testified to a conversation which he had with Johnson, said that the latter said he belonged in Providence, but was wanted by the police of that city for a little trouble he got into a short time ago. Johnson said he had a struggle with Campbell and denied robbing him. Witness said that Johnson and he said he found $1.50 in money and three gold rings in his pockets.

THE DEFENSE

Archibald J. Campbell, one of the defendants, testified that he was 19 years of age, resides in North Cambridge, but has been working as a farm hand in Carlisle. He met Johnson who invited him to ride. They were riding towards Chelmsford, where they met Piper. Piper had some liquor and they drank it, he said. The three then went to Chelmsford Centre and here Piper purchased some liquor from a woman. Afterwards they drove up the road and tied and fed the horse and started to drink the contents of the bottle. Witness said that Piper boasted of having money, but he did not see any of it.

Campbell testified that Piper and Johnson started discussing the recent fight of Johnson-Jeffries fight and each one told of his ability to take care of himself, with the result that Piper made a pass at Johnson and the latter turned on Piper and punched him. Witness said that he did not see Johnson put his hand in Piper's pocket.

He said after leaving Piper they came to Lowell and then went to Bedford where they put up at a stable. Campbell and Johnson then went to Boston by train, witness said, and visited a moving picture house and later hired a room in a private house. They spent the following day in Boston. Johnson purchased three arrows in a store and in the evening took a train for Bedford, according to witness' story.

A recess of one hour was taken at this time.

The bond for Fox was for the grand jury today was set by the justice at $10,000 each for Drew and Ford and $5,000 for Fox. The attorney, W. K. Ketchum, after trying to obtain bail, failed and the men were taken to the county jail. A crowd had collected about the justice's office and when the men started for the jail there were both cheers and jeers.

County Prosecutor Baker today appointed a special deputy, Henry Soyfer, to prosecute the cases.

The general charge against the men is that they conspired to take McNamara out of the state without due process of law.

It is alleged that McNamara did not have an opportunity to consult counsel and resist extradition after his arrest. After Gov. Marshall had honored requisition papers for McNamara, Police Justice Collins turned him over to the Los Angeles officer. He was put into an auto driven by Fox and taken to Chicago Saturday night, bound for Los Angeles by the indictment charging him with complicity in a dynamite explosion at the Lowell iron works. The affidavits against Drew, Ford and Fox were taken by J. J. Keegan, a labor union leader of Indianapolis and member of the Indiana legislature.

A. F. Badoff of New York, an assistant of Drew, was arrested by three constables at his room in the Claypool hotel today and taken before Justice of the peace Manning. Badoff was taken in a car driven by Fox and taken to the county jail. He was charged with conspiracy to kidnap and conspiracy to kidnap.

A half dozen constables are trying to locate Detective Burns.

HATTIE LEBLANC SIGNED DEPOSITION AND HAS LEFT FOR HOME

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 25.—Accompanied by her father, Hattie Leblanc left here for her home at West Arichat, C. B., today, after having signed her deposition which was taken here in connection with the contest at Cambridge, Mass., of the will of Clarence Glover of Waltham. Melvin M. Johnson of Boston, who defended the Leblanc girl when she was tried and acquitted of Glover's murder, saw her off on the noon train for Truro. Mr. Johnson planned to return to Boston on the train leaving here this evening.

BIG DEPARTMENT STORE

BOSTON, April 25.—Negotiations for the construction of a department store that will include half of the block bounded by Washington, Summer and Hawley streets, straddled real estate circles in this city today, although tentative plans for such a structure had been discussed for some months.

The plan is especially interesting to the estate dealers of Boston, as it tends to keep much of the retail trade centered about Washington, Summer and Winter streets instead of moving off in the direction of Copley square.

HANGED HIMSELF

Man Found Dead in Prison Cell

PROVIDENCE, April 25.—Hanging by his suspenders to his cell door, the body of Julius Lagerquist, 47 years old, was found today when an officer went to take the prisoner before the police court. Lagerquist had not been living with his wife and children for some time and on March 11th, last, attempted suicide by stabbing. Last night he was seen loitering around a house on Chestnut street and Police Captain Merrill asked him to go home which he refused to do and he was locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

On cross-examination witness got badly mixed up in the number of bottles of whiskey he had in his possession. He admitted that he had displayed his money to the two young men.

Edward W. Park, a Chelmsford officer, said he happened to be passing through the road in the vicinity of Robbins Hill and saw Piper, Johnson and Campbell. Piper was drunk, he said, and from what witness could observe, Johnson was going through "Piper's" pockets. Campbell was sitting in the buggy. Fifteen minutes later Park returned to where he had seen the trio and found Piper lying on the ground. Piper's face was covered with bruises and he complained of having been robbed. Mr. Park communicated with the police authorities of several of the adjoining towns and as a result Johnson and Campbell were arrested in Bedford.

Charles Forbush, highway surveyor of Carlisle, testified that Piper paid him $10 on the morning of the 19th of April. Witness said that Piper was a good man when he did not have any whiskey.

Edward P. Kelly, police officer of Bedford, testified to arresting Campbell and Johnson on the night of the 20th. He found them near the Bedford depot after 6.30 o'clock. Witness said that Campbell said that he and Johnson hired a horse and carriage in Bedford and drove to Chelmsford where they met Piper. He said that they had some liquor to drink and thought that he and Johnson drank more than Piper. Campbell said while he was riding the horse he heard loud talking and saw Piper and Johnson arguing. Campbell denied that he took any money from Piper, but did not know what Johnson had done. After leaving Chelmsford, Campbell said that they went to Lowell, then went to Bedford where they put up the horse where they stopped over night in a hotel. Witness testified that Campbell and Kelly testified to a conversation which he had with Johnson, said that the latter said he belonged in Providence, but was wanted by the police of that city for a little trouble he got into a short time ago. Johnson said he had a struggle with Campbell and denied robbing him. Witness said that Johnson and he said he found $1.50 in money and three gold rings in his pockets.

THE DEFENSE

Archibald J. Campbell, one of the defendants, testified that he was 19 years of age, resides in North Cambridge, but has been working as a farm hand in Carlisle. He met Johnson who invited him to ride. They were riding towards Chelmsford, where they met Piper. Piper had some liquor and they drank it, he said. The three then went to Chelmsford Centre and here Piper purchased some liquor from a woman. Afterwards they drove up the road and tied and fed the horse and started to drink the contents of the bottle. Witness said that Piper boasted of having money, but he did not see any of it.

Campbell testified that Piper and Johnson started discussing the recent fight of Johnson-Jeffries fight and each one told of his ability to take care of himself, with the result that Piper made a pass at Johnson and the latter turned on Piper and punched him. Witness said that he did not see Johnson put his hand in Piper's pocket.

He said after leaving Piper they came to Lowell and then went to Bedford where they put up at a stable. Campbell and Johnson then went to Boston by train, witness said, and visited a moving picture house and later hired a room in a private house. They spent the following day in Boston. Johnson purchased three arrows in a store and in the evening took a train for Bedford, according to witness' story.

A recess of one hour was taken at this time.

The hearing of the case was resumed at two o'clock. Frank Johnson, one of the defendants, called to the stand, testified that he was 21 years of age, his home is in Providence and he had been employed as a farm hand in Carlisle since last fall. Witness said he and Campbell made arrangements Tuesday night to go riding on Wednesday. Witness told how he went to Bedford and hired the horse and carriage, the meeting with Piper and the festivities that followed and were later arrested in Bedford.

George Piper, the complainant, testified that he worked for the town of Carlisle, and on April 18th the town treasurer paid him $24. On the following day, Patriots day, he paid his board bill, which amounted to $10, and a bill of $3.07 at the town store. He then took the electric car and came to Lowell. Upon arriving in this city he visited several places and had a number of drinks and purchased two quarts of liquor in four pint bottles.

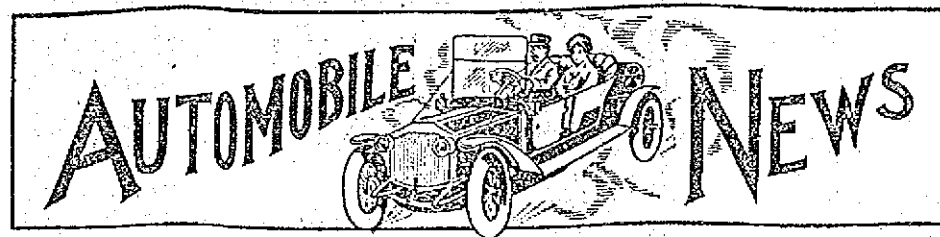

"After getting what I wanted to drink and purchasing the liquor to take home," said Piper, "I took the electric car for Chelmsford. After getting off the car I started to walk towards South Chelmsford. I met Johnson and Campbell. They were in a carriage. I didn't know Johnson, but I knew Campbell and always called him 'Jack.' 'Jack' is a nice boy and when he asked me if I had any whiskey I said 'Sure.' He said he was willing to pay for it, but I told him he could have all he wanted and anything I had.

"The three of us then sat down and drank the whiskey. Johnson said he would like to get some more whiskey, and I told him I knew where I could get some. We got into the wagon and drove to the Centre, where I bought a quart of whiskey.

"We then went up the road towards Robbins Hill and had some more drinks. I had about $3.00 at that time. I forgot the most of what happened after that. The last thing that I remember, Johnson had me by the throat and nose. I thought it was pretty tough on his part after the way I had treated him, but 'Jack' is innocent. My throat is so sore yet that I can hardly eat or speak. When I recovered my senses I found that with the exception of two cents, I had been robbed of all my money."

On cross-examination witness got badly mixed up in the number of bottles of whiskey he had in his possession. He admitted that he had displayed his money to the two young men.

Edward W. Park, a Chelmsford officer, said he happened to be passing through the road in the vicinity of Robbins Hill and saw Piper, Johnson and Campbell. Piper was drunk, he said, and from what witness could observe, Johnson was going through "Piper's" pockets. Campbell was sitting in the buggy. Fifteen minutes later Park returned to where he had seen the trio and found Piper lying on the ground. Piper's face was covered with bruises and he complained of having been robbed. Mr. Park communicated with the police authorities of several of the adjoining towns and as a result Johnson and Campbell were arrested in Bedford.

COLD WEATHER

Puts a Damper on Auto Sales

LOCAL DEALERS WAITING FOR WARM SPELL

Few Sales Made During the Past Week
—Lowell's Largest Private Garage Modern in Every Particular—Poor Prospects For Automobile Race in Lowell This Fall—Other Automobile News

The cold and raw weather of last week put a damper on the sales of automobiles in this city, but nevertheless several cars were sold. The dealers are in hopes that good weather will prevail for a couple of months, for they believe that the sunshine will encourage the automobile enthusiasts to purchase new cars.

There will be no automobile races held in Lowell this fall, or at least the indications at the present time are that there will be none. The people were given an opportunity to express their opinions as to whether they wanted races or not and the lack of enthusiasm has resulted in the members of the Lowell Automobile club practically deciding that the club does not want a race. President John O. Heinze, of the local club, who is now located in Detroit, Mich., was willing to handle the race if the Lowell public wanted one, but when he was in Lowell a few days ago he expressed the opinion that it would be inadvisable to make preparations for a circuit race unless the people showed more enthusiasm than they have during the past couple of months.

Harold L. Chaffoux, vice president of the J. L. Chaffoux Co., Inc., Central street and one of the most enthusiastic automobilists in the city, has purchased a four cylinder, 25 horse power, Buick model 1911, and within a few days will be seen at the wheel of his new machine. It is a four passenger automobile, finished in blue and fully equipped with such accessories as are necessary for convenience, comfort and style, including a chauffeur seat on the running board. This particular car is one of the latest and most up-to-date self-propelled vehicles that has been turned out by the Buick Co.

Referring to Mr. Chaffoux's new car it might be stated that all of the members of Mr. J. L. Chaffoux's family are enthusiastic automobilists and the private garage adjoining the residence at 277 Wilder street, is the largest private garage in this city and one of the best equipped private garages in New England.

Besides the new Buick which is to be delivered this week, the garage contains a six cylinder, 48 horse power, seven passenger, Pierce Great Arrow, belonging to Mrs. J. L. Chaffoux; a four cylinder, 20 horse power, five passenger Stevens-Duryea, the property of Mr. Paul E. Chaffoux; and a four cylinder, 35 horse power Knox runabout with single rumble which is owned by Mr. Harold Chaffoux. It is stated that Mr. Chaffoux will be driving a Knox runabout this summer.

The garage contains an up-to-date machine shop with all the facilities for making repairs, vulcanizing, painting and storage of extra parts. In the winter the cars are completely overhauled, the tires are replaced and the chassis is overhauled. The machines are stripped of their bodies, are tried out on the Princeton boulevard in the same manner as new cars are tried out on the factory testing grounds.

Representative George E. Marchand, who has been in the employ of Mr. Chaffoux's family for the past ten years, has full charge of the automobiles and owing to his ability as a mechanic and expert automobile man, the machines are always in good running order. Mr. Marchand will within a few weeks make his eighth annual application for a chauffeur's license.

One of the latest makes of automobiles to make its appearance in this city is the Moyer manufactured by H. A. Moyer, the celebrated carriage builder of Syracuse, N. Y., for which C. H. Hanson & Co., Inc., are the agents. The Moyer automobile is the result of 35 years of experience in the manufacture of high grade vehicles for pleasure use and combines all of the valuable features of that experience as to fine qualities, thorough proportion, elegant finish and design, together with thorough attention to every detail of construction. The manufacturer claims that inasmuch as the car is equipped with special designed springs, the finest riding qualities are secured, and the life of the vehicle and tires are increased. The motto of the Moyer is "It's all level road to a Moyer." C. H. Hanson & Co., took on the sale of automobiles as a move in the line of progress and feel that the Moyer is all that the manufacturer claims it to be, inasmuch as the local company has purchased many carriages from the Syracuse concern during the past score of years and knowing the high grade of horse drawn vehicles, feel sure that the Moyer automobile compares favorably with the best of the horse drawn carriages. Mr. James S. Hanson's daughter has been driving a four cylinder, 30 horse power, five passenger Moyer and states that there is no better car on the market.

Local automobilists, as well as operators of our out-of-town cars who have occasion to pass through the streets of Lowell, do not speak in very complimentary terms of the condition of some of our streets, and it must be admitted that there are many dangerous places in the city's thoroughfares. One of the most dangerous spots, and one which the drivers of the fire and police patrols have to approach with care, is at the railroad crossing in Bridge street near the canal. While the paving on either side of the crossing is in excellent condition, the crossing itself is in a deplorable state, and if struck by a machine going at any rate of speed in excess of eight miles an hour, would in all probability result in the breaking of a spring, wrenching of a body, breaking of a wheel, snapping of an axle or other damage. The danger at this point might be obliterated by the street being repaved with square granite blocks or put in the same condition as either side of the crossing.

In many of our macadamized streets there are numerous depressions or "cradle holes," caused by excavation for water or gas pipes and the improper refilling of the excavation. During the day automobilists have a chance to see the depressions and avoid them, but at night, no matter how strong the lights carried on the car, it is almost impossible to avoid them.

Mr. Arthur W. Greeley is having an auto shed erected in the rear of his new house in Beacon street, which is now under the course of construction.

The city of Lawrence is thinking seriously of purchasing automobiles for use in the police and fire departments and with that end in view the committees on police and fire departments, together with Chief Dennis E. Carey of the fire department, paid a visit to New Bedford last week and inspected the automobiles used by that city. It is expected that the committee will also pay a visit to Lowell in the near future.

Arthur G. Boharrell, agent for the Veille and Austin, who has been leased out of his quarters in Middle street, has secured the City Hall garage, located May 1st. Mr. Boharrell's quarters in Middle street were inadequate for his growing business, but in his new location he will have plenty of floor space, a large repair room, machine shop, stock room, etc. Agencies for the Empire and Reo cars will also be located at the City Hall garage.

Orchestrations of the waltz "Vellie" have been presented to the leading orchestras of Lowell by Arthur G. Boharrell, agent for the Veille car.

Mackenzie and Bryant will be located in their new quarters at 11 Howard street after May 1st.

Mackenzie and Bryant have delivered a model 1, four cylinder, 25 horse power Maxwell touring car to George L. Larkin of 25 Mr. Vernon street. The residents of the Oakland and that portion of Newbury which was annexed to Lowell several years ago, it is understood, will, in the near future, present a monster petition to the city council asking for a new fire house in that district. The installation of an automobile combination vehicle at the High Street Engine house would be much less expensive than the erection of a new fire house, and at the same time would afford plenty of protection to the residents of that part of the city.

The Lowell Trust company is the first of the local banks to adopt the use of the motor car for the transporting and collecting of money. The machine is a four cylinder, 25 horse power Oakland and is fitted with a wooden covered body, inside of which is a heavy wire cage in which the money is placed. The car is a very neat one and without doubt the most future other local banks will be using automobiles. Mr. Robert Hall is the chauffeur of the new car.

Arthur J. Cummings, salesman for the Moody bridge garage, sold a model 35 Jackson touring car to H. W. Wilson & Co., in Dutton street, last week.

Mr. D. Deschamps of Nashua has purchased a model 33 Oakland touring car through the agency of the Moody Bridge garage.

A handsome Knox touring car was delivered at the Moody Bridge garage last week. This machine which has a torpedo body will be used as a demountable machine.

Thomas Williston of the Stanley garage has sold a model 70 Stanley touring car to Walter Hoyt and a Stanley runabout to Otto M. Dow, engineer at the Lamson Consolidated Store Service Co.

SPEEDWAY RACES

Have Been Insured Against Bad Weather

Will you bet $10,000 to $100,000 that it will rain next Decoration day? This is what the Indianapolis Motor Speedway is willing to post as a wager with one of the world's greatest insurance companies, that the time honored custom of the weather man will be carried out and rain will come on the day of the 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the big brick track within forty of the fastest cars in the world, manned by the greatest drivers, will compete for about $10,000 in gold.

The proposition that the Indianapolis Motor Speedway company has made to representatives of a famous English insurance company which takes these risks is that it is willing to pay $10,000 if rain does not come, providing the insurance company will pay $100,000 if wet weather prevails sufficiently to prevent the great international classic. This is the first time in the history of automobile racing that such a wager has been attempted or insurance against rain has been considered as a factor in a race meet, but the magnitude of the coming Memorial Day event prompted the Speedway to consider the probable loss in event weather was unfavorable. There is only one insurance company known which will attempt such a risk and that is Lloyd's of London.

This company is now figuring on taking a chance with the weather man and it is highly probable that the policy will be issued, covering the twenty-four hour period from six o'clock in the afternoon of May 25 to six o'clock in the afternoon of May 30. On the other hand, the Speedway has taken precautionary measures in event of bad weather and will be able to pull off the big race on Saturday, June 3, if not on Memorial Day. The postponement sanction for that date has been obtained from the American Automobile association and spectators will see the race even if the weather should be unfavorable on Memorial Day. During the past few weeks the cables have been busy between London and Indianapolis arranging the details of this enormous insurance contract and it is possible that before May 1st the deal will be closed.

HERB LYTLE

TO DRIVE AN APPERSON JACK-RABBIT

Herb Lytle recently returned from England. While there he spent a week at the famous Brooklands track where he drove at a speed of more than 100 miles per hour.

While abroad, four different European automobile manufacturers voluntarily offered to send a car to America for Lytle to drive in the great 500 mile Sweepstakes on the Indianapolis speedway.

On his return home, five American makers offered to employ him as their driver in this great contest. One of them, the well known Lytle visited the Apperson factory and arranged to secure an Apperson Jack-Rabbit for his own use which he promptly entered for the Indianapolis event, stating that he has implicit confidence in the Apperson.

HANGED HIMSELF

Farmer Was in Poor Health

DERRY, N. H., April 25.—Charles H. Day of this town, who died yesterday noon by hanging himself in the orchard back of his house in the eastern part of the town.

Mr. Day was a lifelong resident of this place and one of the town's most progressive and enterprising milk farmers. He had one of the best farms and with his son, John Walter Day, had done a very extensive business, not only upon the farm but in carrying produce to market. He was a member of Echo Lodge at Old Fellows and of Nutfield Grange of this town.

For two years Mr. Day had been in poor health and had not been able to leave his home for some months past. He was greatly discouraged over his helplessness and failing condition and his mind had been impaired for weeks. Despondency is supposed to be the cause of his deed.

UNION WORKMEN

SAY THEY ARE DISCRIMINATED AGAINST

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—Representing the shopmen employed by the Pennsylvania railroad company, a committee of six called on C. E. Long, general manager of the company, today and laid before him a list of grievances of the men. One of them, it is said, is that union men in the shops are being discriminated against. It is believed that the result of the meeting will not be made known until the committee makes its report to the shopmen.

FRANCES WHITEHOUSE IN THE WHITE SISTER AT OPERA HOUSE

THE OPERA HOUSE

A large audience was present at the Opera house last evening and enjoyed the first performance of "The White Sister," as presented by the Thompson-Flynn stock company. The piece was presented for several seasons by Viola Allen with great success and is considered one of the best subjects ever dramatized.

"The White Sister" is the work of F. Marion Crawford, and deals with incidents of the late Mr. Crawford's book of the same name.

As a play, "The White Sister" differs from the book in many essential respects. Its central theme, however, is very much the same. It presents a dramatic conflict between love and duty in the case of a young girl, who upon hearing reports of the death of her lover, turns to the church for comfort. Five years later her lover returns, much surprised to find that his sweetheart has taken the vows.

"Gloriana," the lover, tries to induce "Angela" to renounce her vows and become his wife. This she dramatically refused to do. He, in despair, concludes that the best way out of the trouble is to kill himself and leave his sweetheart to remain faithful to her sacred duties.

The play is in four acts and the scene is laid in Rome. The company last evening gave an excellent presentation of the piece. Particularly well portrayed were the roles of "Capt. Giovanni Severi" by Forrest Stanley and "Sister Giovanna" by Miss Whitehouse. Benedict MacQuarrie, in the role of "Monsignor Sammesseca," gave an excellent interpretation of the role. The other members of the company were well adapted to their parts. The scenic work of an elaborate design, the music furnished by the theatre orchestra very enjoyable, and in all the production is one well seeing.

The show will be repeated tonight, Wednesday, and Friday evenings, with matinees this afternoon and Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

The musical program for this week at the Opera House is as follows:

March, "Love Me With Your Blue Eyes".....Kendall & Paley
Overture, "Jolly Robbers".....F. V. Suppe
Egyptian Patrol, "A Stroll Through Lysistrata".....Waltz, From the Opera, "Lysistrata".....Paul Lincke
March, "Fride of the Regiment".....Mitchell W. Meyers

"MADAME SHERRY." New York simply went wild over the "Fertetto Buffo," the brilliant musical travesty on the famous concert numbers of grand opera, which is one of the many bright spots in the score provided for "Madame Sherry" by Karl Hoschna. Accepted seriously this number would not be much unlike the sextette in "Laticia" or the quartet in "Higletto," but following the amusing situations in "Madame Sherry" and rendered by the cleverly drawn comedy characters in the piece, it becomes as hilariously funny as it is fascinating musically. And the beauty of this number, as with all other music in "Madame Sherry," is that it fits perfectly into the plot of the play and is a plausible outcome of the complications in which the characters find themselves at the close of the second act. Theophilus Sherry, the low comedy character in the piece, has been led to believe that his giddy nephew is married and the possessor of a well regulated family, and is naturally bewildered at the unconventional behavior of his ready-made wife and children, borrowed for the occasion. To him their actions spell a terrible domestic tragedy, while to the audience the situation is screamingly funny. This peculiar mix-up, handled in clever style as to lyrics by Otto Hauersbach, and orchestrated with grand opera effect by Karl Hoschna, embodies a combination of the sublime and the ridiculous. The sextette which renders the "Fertetto Buffo" is composed of Marie Flynn, Hallen Mostyn, Mortimer Weldon, Audrey Maple, Virginia Foltz, Anna Boyd, Wilmer Bently and H. J. Hewitt. The date here is Thursday, April 27, and seats are now on sale.—Adv.

THE THREE TWINS

At the Opera House Saturday, April 29th, matinee and night Joseph M. Gaithe's production "Three Twins" will be the attraction, headed by Clifton Crawford with the original New York company.

Seldom, if ever, has a musical comedy production attained the fame that has fallen to the lot of "Three Twins." The conflicting identities called the three twins are as amusing as they are persistent. The lines, the business and the situations are rich in humor and the principals use every opportunity offered them. The songs, have real catchiness and several of the numbers gain added interest through the introduction of refreshingly novel electrical and mechanical effects. Mr. Clifton Crawford, the chief fun-maker is one of the best light comedians on the stage. The cast of principals includes Joseph Allen, Russell Lennon, George Herbert, Hugh Fay, Ralph Locke, Della Niven, Maymo Gebrie, Daisy Leon, Elsie Myrnes and others. There is also a chorus of pretty girls who lend beauty to the stage pictures and charm to the songs. The production is entirely new this season and has been done upon a lavish scale.—Adv.

CAPT. ANDERSON

Has Novel Way of Locating Icebergs

PHILADELPHIA, April 25.—Captain Anderson of the Scandinavian-American liner Kentucky, which arrived in port today from Copenhagen, reported a novel but common sense method of determining the position of icebergs at sea in fog. He used the blasts of a steam whistle, waited for a return echo and obtained the information desired.

When the vessel was to the eastward of the Grand Banks of New Foundland in a dense fog, the temperature began to drop and the chilly condition of the atmosphere indicated the presence of icebergs, but the officers were at a loss to tell their location. The whistle was blown, the sound waves struck the huge masses of floating ice and by means of the rebounding echoes, Capt. Anderson was able to get an approximate position of the drifting iceberg ahead in time to change the Kentucky's course.

CANOEES COMING

All aboard for the river. Look up the cushions and get out the paddles. The fun is almost here, but listen to a word of warning. There's nothing like those first hot days on the river, but the sun is apt to leave its mark behind by burning cheeks and arms. A good way to foil it is to have a bottle of Toiletine in the house. Toiletine soothes and relieves the skin in case of sun-burn. It prevents blisters and saves all the after discomforts of a day's fun. Toiletine also relieves internal irritation. In cases of coughs, colds and throat trouble it is excellent.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The Banda Roma, composed of 18 high class musicians, under the leadership of Sig. Giuseppe Siriguano, is the feature act at the Merrimack Square theatre this week. The Lowell public has seen and heard many excellent bands during the past several years, and while many have had more members than the Banda Roma, the latter compares favorably with any of the high class organizations that have appeared in this city.

Sig. Siriguano's eccentric movements while directing the band remind one of Creator, the great musician, except that he does not exert himself quite as much as does Creator. The members of the band are attired in natty sailor suits and each is an expert with the different instrument he uses. Especially good is the snare drummer, who it might be said makes his drum talk.

The curtain rises on a scene of a deck of a vessel with the billowy waves as a background. The band playing a lively waltz marches on the stage and after going through various evolutions and rendering a medley of tunes, forms in a half-circle and Sig. Siriguano makes his appearance.

One of the hits of the act was the

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Louis Mann's great rural comedy success "All On Account of Eliza" is the attraction this week at the Hathaway theatre and the opening performances yesterday justified all the good things that have been said about this uproariously funny play.

Walter Hochstuhl, his son, law student.....Severin DeDeyn
Joshua Appleton, druggist.....William Marlon
Frank Donovan, proprietor of a mortican home.....Simon Cairns
Jeremiah Hasling, sexton and undertaker.....Dan McCabe
Abraham Fork, a farmer.....Harrington Reynolds
Willie Fork, his boy.....Charles Crymbo
Della, Hochstuhl's housekeeper.....Ada Allen
Mrs. Lavinia Appleton, postmistress.....Doris Dutton
Miss Tabitha Haslings, Lillian Stewart
Miss Gailie Lennon, Lillian Neiderauer
Elizabeth Carter, school teacher.....Mabelle Estelle

The play abounds in clean, bright humor, totally free from coarseness or horse play and deals with the career of a pretentious school teacher who accepts a position in a small town where she soon has all the men at her feet and the women on her trail with vengeance and malice aforethought. The women hear reports of the young teacher's power over their men folks, and their hatred is intensified by the story of a jealous girl to the effect that she had given the teacher a strange man in the cemetery late at night and that she heard that the man had a wife and six children. Then the gossip-mongers hatch a plot to drive the little teacher from the town. To protect her she has Franz Hochstuhl, a crusty old school board and his son Walter who is in love with the school teacher. How they succeed in protecting the teacher, furnishes three acts of great fun. Of course the principal character in the play is the old German Hochstuhl, a part created by Louis Mann himself. Mr. Meek as Hochstuhl, is the hit of the play. Mann himself never did it better. He tangles the Queen's English most ludicrously, while his mannerisms and facial expressions are rich. Every movement has a laugh of its own with Donald Meek in the character of old Hochstuhl. "By golly, she's nice," the old man's confidential expression to his son, relative to the little teacher, bids fair to become a byword. Miss Estelle, as the school teacher, divided the honors with Mr. Meek, for in all the attractive parts in which she has been admired this season, Miss Estelle was never more captivating. In the second act, she gives the audiences a jolly surprise by doing a graceful little song and dance for which Mr. Meek furnishes a grotesque accompaniment. Miss Neiderauer makes the most of a minor role, while Today's feature at the Theatre Vayons is a most thrilling melodramatic picture entitled "The Mother," a story of a mother's intuition and her love for her son. After years of wandering the son is arrested and charged with murder and when his mother reading of it in a paper comes to see him he denies her in order that she may be spared the pain of believing her son a criminal. She, however, resolutely sets to work and in the end wins a pardon for him from the governor, it having been discovered that he was not the real murderer. His life is saved after a most exciting automobile ride to deliver the pardon.—Adv.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A fine vaudeville program was given at this house yesterday to two large audiences. McNamee is a clever play model. The "Stantons" are a clever pair of comedians and deal out a bunch of nonsense in song and story that is extremely funny. A neat and refined offering is given by the Stewart Sisters and their escorts in a snappy singing, dancing and pantomime novelty. The pictures include the latest dramatic biograph picture entitled "A Knight of the Road."—Adv.

once and finally drove to Boxford, and there gave the alarm. All the available residents of the town as well as volunteers from Middleton, Topsfield, West and East Boxford, adjoining, volunteered their services; even Thomas Fuller, a 75-year-old Grand Army veteran, who lives near the Topsfield line, rendered invaluable aid to the fire-fighters by filling and refilling the large milk cans from Fish brook, which runs through the burned area.

For an hour and a half the fire continued to make headway into the young scrub growth on the Gould land, and at one time it threatened Howe's large lumber mill on Mill lane, toward Boxford Center.

Fortunately it was halted before it reached the sawmill, but not before dozens of the volunteer firemen had been greatly affected by the dense smoke and heat.

Caught by the Fire

Just when it was apparent that the progress of the fire would be checked on the Mill lane side the wind shifted and carried it toward a byway known as Wood road. It was in the densest part of this growth that Mr. Simmons and the son Willie were battling side by side.

The father, about 40 years old, had already been badly burned about the face and hands, and yelled to his elder son to run for his life.

Willie, however, scorched and blistered about the head, face, arms and hands, had already broken for safety and hearing his parent's words of warning yelled back that he was already safe in Wood road and continued his shoutings in order to guide his father to safety.

Both at that time knew that the youngest son, Frankie and the uncle and brother-in-law, "Bert" Morgan, were somewhere in the locality, for they had seen them before the fire began licking up the acres and acres of young timber, but they did not know that at that moment, probably, the charred bodies of both were lying in the midst of the burned area, where they were found later by two volunteers.

CAUGHT IN SAW

Young Man May Lose Five Fingers

Ernest St. Pierre, aged 17 years, suffered a painful accident while at work at Narcisse Clermont's wood yard in Market street. The young man was sawing wood on a circular saw, when all the fingers on his left hand came in contact with the tool. The injured young man was hurried to the Lowell hospital, where the attending physicians discovered that the fingers were badly cut. Several stitches were taken to close the wounds, but nevertheless the amputation of the five fingers may be necessary. St. Pierre's home is at 7 Salem street.

SPEAKER CLARK SAYS CONGRESS WILL NOT ADJOURN BY JUNE 1

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Speaker Clark does not agree with Senator Root

that congress is likely to adjourn by June 1. At the White House today, where he said he had talked "neighborhood gossip" with President Taft, Mr. Clark declared that nobody in the world knew how long congress would be in session. "I know as much about it as Senator Root and he knows as much about it as I do," said Mr. Clark. "I have attended two special sessions of congress called to revise the tariff which lasted into August. There you are."

SENOR VASCONELLES IN CHARGE WASHINGTON, April 25.—Senor Jose Vasconcelles of the Mexican revolutionary junta at San Antonio, Texas, arrived here today to assume charge of the Washington confidential agency during the absence of Dr. Vasquez Gomez, who will participate in the peace negotiations in Mexico. KIDNAPPING CHARGED

Chauffeur and Two Lawyers Were Placed Under Arrest

In Connection With the Arrest of Secretary McNamara—The Lawyers Were Held in $5000 Bonds and the Chauffeur $3000

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 25.—(The Associated Press.) W. J. Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles, and Frank Fox, chauffeur, were arrested last night on affidavits charging them with having kidnapped J. J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The men were arrested on warrants issued upon affidavits of the attorney for McNamara. Ford and Fox were released under bond of $5000 each and Fox under bond of $3000. All the bonds were given by William A. Ketchum, president of an iron foundry company and an officer of the Indianapolis Employers' Association.

It is charged that, though McNamara was not turned over to a detective sergeant from Los Angeles until Governor Marshall had honored requisition papers from the governor of California, he had not been permitted to consult counsel or to make a plea of resistance to extradition before Police Judge Collins when he was identified as the man named in the warrant for his arrest. Fox drove the automobile in which McNamara was taken to Chicago on Saturday night, to be placed aboard a train for Los Angeles.

It was stated that a warrant also had been issued on the charge of kidnapping against Detective William J. Burns, in the employ of the Erectors' Association.

Detectives Are Barred

By an order of Judge Joseph T. Markey of the Marion county criminal court, issued late yesterday, only the county prosecutor, the members of the grand jury and the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will be permitted to examine books and papers taken by the police and deputy sheriffs from the offices of the association, relative to the inquiry into the Los Angeles Times explosion.

FIREMEN BUSY

The Department Responded to Fourteen Alarms

The local fire department was kept on the jump yesterday responding to alarms for grass and brush fires, 14 alarms, having been sent in within about ten hours.

Chief Hosmer found that his automobile came in very handy, for his odometer showed that he had covered over 60 miles during the day. In the event of his not having the auto he would have had to use three different horses in order to reach the fires.

The biggest fire during the day was that which broke out on land in upper Westford street near Stedman street shortly after four o'clock in the afternoon. The fire started in several places and when the firemen arrived on the scene, several acres of brush and grass were afire. The flames ate all the brush and grass over the top of a hill and were fast making their way toward the dwellings in Stedman street when the firemen made a stand and by hard work checked the progress of the fire.

At 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon a brush fire broke out on the Livingston land in Princeton street and shortly before four o'clock a portion of the department was called to the Boston road for a brush fire.

At 5:35 o'clock a grass fire on land in Emory street belonging to Frank Lawrence necessitated a portion of the department be sent to that vicinity to protect adjoining property.

At 6:38 o'clock a fire broke out in Sanders avenue which was extinguished but about an hour later another fire broke out in the same street and the department had to make another trip to that place.

At 8:05 o'clock there was a slight grass fire in Hampshire street which was speedily extinguished.

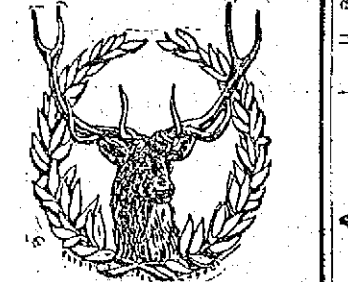

HOME-MADE TONIC FOR SPRING USE

(From Scientific Bulletin)

After all has been said, there is nothing quite so reliable, nothing that cleanses the blood and regulates the system so thoroughly as this good, old-fashioned tonic:

Mix together one-half cup sugar, one ounce karoine and one-half pint alcohol (obtainable at any drug store) then add hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and the health-restoring, strengthening properties of this tonic will soon be apparent. As a general energizer, body builder and system tonic it is unsurpassed. It is fine for correcting drowsiness, lost appetite, spring fever and other marks of ill health.
